A bandit robbed a St. Joseph township restaurant of $800 early today, locked two waitresses in a car trunk, then a call was placed to police about 90 minutes later telling where the waitresses were. St. Joseph township police said the women were found unharmed in the car trunk at the rear of the Pizza Hut restaurant, 2049 Niles road, about 2:30 a.m.

They were identified as Kathi Zerbel, 22, manager of the Pizza Hut, and an employee, Joan Broccolo, 20, both of St. Joseph.

Township police said an anonymous caller told Niles city police there were two women locked in the trunk of a car at the Pizza Hut. Niles police alerted the Berrien sheriff's office and township police were dispatched.

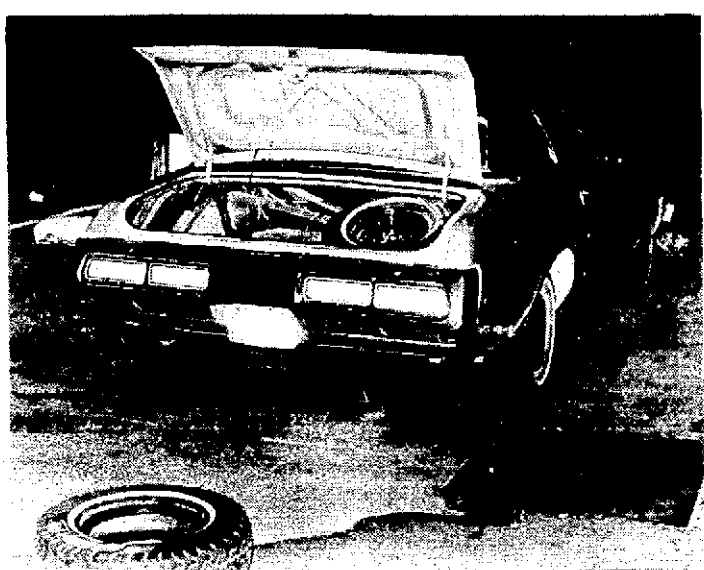

The women reported a man entered the rear door of the restaurant about 12:45 a.m. as they were cleaning. The restaurant closed at midnight and the women were alone. Miss Broccolo said she had unlocked the door to get a mop bucket and had just come inside when the man entered.

They said the man wore a nylon stocking over his face and brandished a small revolver. He told them he did not want to hurt them, the women said.

After taking the cash which had not yet been locked in a safe, the women said he apologized for having to put them in the trunk of Miss Zerbel's Ford Torino saying, "I can't leave you in here to call...we need time to get away." He told them he would call police in half an hour.

The women said a second man remained outside the restaurant in the shadows of the rear parking area. Police said they found the women at 2:30 a.m., but couldn't release them until about 3 a.m. when a friend brought a second set of car keys.

The holdup man was described as white, in his 30s, wearing blue jeans and a blue T-shirt. The women said he was nervous, but polite. They said they did not hear a vehicle leave the parking lot and police believe they left on foot to a vehicle parked nearby.

Belle Lashes Long Island But Dies In New England

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Belle, her fury spent on the Long Island suburbs east of New York City, marched into central New England today, downgraded to a tropical storm, but still sending down torrents of rain.

The danger of flooding persisted, but Belle had become a tame lady.

Only one death directly attributable to the storm, the first in its three-day march up the East Coast, was reported. A 19-year-old Long Island woman, out to see the storm, died when hit by a falling tree.

Trees were down in several states, hundreds of thousands of people were without power in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Rhode Island, and damage ran into the millions.

But it was not what it could have been. Roads were awash in coastal Connecticut, as they had been earlier on Long Island, but the center of the storm passed inland after the high tide and the worst was avoided.

By rush hour this morning, Conrail was running its regular schedule of commuter trains into New York City, although some delays did occur.

Forecasters at the National Weather Service in Boston said flooding was the greatest danger as the storm moved up the Connecticut River Valley into New England. The region had been saturated by four days of steady rain not associated with the hurricane.

"It's lost its punch," said Tony Gregory, a weather service forecaster in Boston. "It will weaken quite rapidly as it moves over the land, but it still has lots of rain left in it."

Flash flood warnings remained in effect in much of Connecticut, where five to eight inches of rain were expected. Heavy rains — up to five inches — also were expected in the Berkshire Mountains of western Massachusetts and the Green Mountains of Vermont.

The center of Belle struck land for the first time when the eye passed over the south coast of Long Island early today only 20 miles east of New York City's Times Square. But her 80-mile-per-hour hurricane winds were soon dissipated.

By the time the storm reached the Connecticut coast before dawn, the winds had dropped beneath hurricane force, 74 miles per hour. The weather service later reported top winds of 55 to 60 miles per hour.

No official damage estimates were available this morning from any of the areas struck by Belle. In one early report, the Long Island Lighting Co. said damage to its equipment and property was between $5 and $6 million.

Falling limbs that knocked down electric lines caused most of the power outages. There

British Welcome Belle

LONDON (AP) — Some Londoners believe Hurricane Belle's rains will arrive in about two weeks to end Britain's worst drought in 250 years. "We invariably get New York's weather about two weeks later," said Cedric Ashe, "and my garden could use some rain." "Everybody knows the prevailing westerlies bring us the American weather a bit later," said Bill Richout, a neighbor in North London. "It is perfectly true that there is some relationship between lows along the Atlantic seaboard and the rain we get here," said a spokesman for the Weather Bureau. "But to think the torrential rain in New York will reach us is just pure codswallop (bunk), if you'll pardon the expression."

Robert Herkner Is Dead At 70

Robert T. (Tom) Herkner, retired founding partner of the Benton Harbor accounting firm that bears his name, died Monday morning in Munson hospital, Traverse City, where he had been a patient one day. He was 70 years old and lived at 2611 Lakeview avenue, St. Joseph.

Mr. Herkner retired in 1972 from the firm of Herkner, Smith, Miskill and Merrifield which he founded in 1945 after taking over the accounting practice of Laurence H. Fish in Benton Harbor.

Mr. Herkner served on the St. Joseph board of education from 1963 to 1965 as trustee, treasurer and vice president. He was a past executive board member of the Boy Scouts council, a board member and treasurer of Twin Cities Symphonic society, officer in Twin City Rotary and Berrien Hills Country clubs and past president of Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

He also was a past director of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, a trustee of Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield and a member of the State Building commission.

He held membership in various certified public accounting professional organizations and in 1972 received the Distinguished Service Award of the Michigan Association of CPAs.

Mr. Herkner was born May 30, 1906, in Traverse City. He graduated from University of Michigan in 1928 and became a certified public accountant in 1938. He served as chief in the contract cost audit section, Detroit Ordnance District, from 1941 to 1945.

Surviving are his widow, the former Vivian McMurtry; two daughters, Dr. Katherine Shaffer, Wauwatosa, Wis., and Miss Susan Herkner, Prescott,

Airliner Grounded By Birds

Birds of a feather flocked together Monday in an engine of a North Central Airlines passenger plane, forcing the plane to return to Ross field shortly after takeoff for Chicago.

Benton Harbor and Benton township firemen were called at 5:29 p.m. to stand by, but the landing was without incident and there was no fire.

The airport control tower said the plane took off again after the many birds of unreported kind were cleaned out of the engine.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William and Emily Harris, avowed revolutionaries who shared Patricia Hearst's underground life, stand convicted of kidnapping and robbery in a trial which is not yet over.

In a verdict with grave implications for Miss Hearst, the Harrises were acquitted Monday of six counts of assault but were convicted of two kidnappings, one robbery and two car thefts — all involving Miss Hearst.

The jury apparently believed the Harrises' contention that Miss Hearst, a defendant, willingly took part in the shooting that led to the assault charges.

The jury delivered its verdict unaware of a controversy about possible bias against the Harrises. Without dismissing the jury and ending the trial, the judge scheduled an unusual hearing today to investigate whether the verdict was tainted by prejudice.

In a surprise move, the jurors asked and were permitted to remain sequestered at a guarded hotel overnight to prevent contact with publicity they were ordered to avoid.

The sources of possible jury bias included reports of the construction of two mock hangman's nooses by potential jurors, the smuggling of an inflammatory newspaper article into a jury room and an allegedly biased remark by a juror who took part in the verdict.

The verdict by the seven-woman, five-man jury was angrily challenged by the defense.

"I don't think this verdict will stand in any court," said chief defense attorney Leonard Weinglass. "... It was the most tainted of verdicts."

Unless the verdict is set aside, Weinglass said he would appeal on numerous grounds.

Chief prosecutor Sam Mayer-son said if prejudice were shown at the jury hearing he would join in a motion to set aside the verdict and seek a new trial.

"There were some unusual events in the trial, but I don't think they indicate the jury was tainted at all," he said.

Immediately after the verdict was announced, Dist. Atty. John Van de Kamp announced he would pursue the prosecution of Miss Hearst.

Taylor Charges Burkholz' Claims False

District Judge Ronald J. Taylor today accused his opponent for the new fourth circuit judgeship in Berrien county, Probate Judge Zoe Burkholz, with skirting the letter of the election laws in claiming to be an "acting circuit judge."

"Such false claims... raise the most serious questions about the integrity and credibility of a candidate for such an office," he stated. Taylor, who faces Judge Burkholz in the November election after trailing her in a three-way primary elimination race, issued the charges in remarks prepared for a talk he was to make before the St. Joseph Kiwanis club this noon. A copy of his prepared remarks was delivered to The Herald-Palladium this morning.

Taylor's prepared remarks follow:

"During the primary election campaign certain claims were made by one of the circuit judge candidates which I believe deserved some comment. I deliberately refrained, however, until the voters had made the choice of those who would contest in the November election. The voters have now decided the two candidates who will continue the campaign, and therefore, I believe it is now appropriate for me to set the record straight.

"My opponent, a probate judge, has campaigned widely under the title 'Acting Circuit Judge.' This slogan also appears, without explanation or qualification, on her billboards and other campaign materials, sometimes without even any mention of the office she actually holds. This slogan is not only inaccurate, but, in fact, there is no such office as 'Acting Circuit Judge.'

"The facts are that my opponent, as well as the other probate judge, was asked to hear some minor matters to help the circuit court due to the pressing need for the new circuit judge. Many lower court judges, including Judges Lange, Hammond, Cook, Black and, indeed, myself, have also frequently sat on assignment to other courts, thereby freeing those judges for more important work. In fact, I will personally be sitting by assignment of the state court administrator's office as a circuit judge later this month. This is purely routine and does not elevate one to a non-existent position such as 'Acting Circuit Judge.'

"During the first half of this year, for example, my opponent has been assigned to circuit court in Niles two mornings per month, hearing only 57 routine uncontested divorce cases and a few minor divorce-related motions. All the many other circuit court 'matters' she claims to have heard are of the same type. She has never heard any criminal, general civil, injunctive or appellate cases of the type that consume about 95 per cent of the time of a circuit judge.

"I would expect that a candidate for the highest trial court in the state would studiously avoid what the Code of Judicial Ethics terms 'The appearance of impropriety.' Nonetheless, to try to fool the public into thinking that one already holds an office when that is not the case is not only improper, but could constitute a violation of the election law. While my opponent may have skirted the letter of the law, such false claims nonetheless raise the most serious questions about the integrity and credibility of a candidate for such an office.

"I, therefore, call upon my opponent to remove these false claims from her advertising material and concentrate on the real issues such as crime, court congestion and actual experience. I would hope that the voters would thereby be allowed to make their choice in November based on real, not imagined, qualifications."

Flu Bill Up Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House and Senate are preparing to take action on a bill that would clear the way for a government-sponsored inoculation program to protect nearly every American against a deadly strain of swine flu. Both the House and Senate planned action today on a federal liability insurance plan that would protect the manufacturers of the swine flu vaccine from legal action by those who are inoculated. If Congress doesn't pass the bill today, it will have to wait until members return after the Republican National Convention. The Ford administration and backers of the inoculation plan say that would mean more delay before the vaccine could be distributed.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Helen Anthony Carver Was Remarkable Lady

No one who knows their history will ever argue that Helen Anthony Carver did not play a major role, along with her first husband, Howard Anthony, in making Heath Company a colossal business success.

The couple bought the firm in the 1930s when it was located in Niles and bankrupt. They moved to Benton Harbor and went through years of financial struggles before the firm blossomed into the nation's largest producer of electronic kits for home assembly.

In the tough years, Mrs. Anthony handled the finances — obtaining credit when it was almost impossible on the sheer force of her integrity and personality. She kept the business afloat while Howard Anthony steered it through various channels and finally into the markets that were to make it great.

Fortunately for both of them, their years of struggle were rewarded with several profitable, "easy" years together before a plane crash claimed the life of Howard Anthony in 1954.

Mrs. Anthony sold Heath Co. in 1955 but retained another family venture, the Anthony Oil Co. Today, Heath Co. is located in St. Joseph and employs 1,100 people.

In 1958, Mrs. Anthony married Joseph E. Carver, a highly popular local sportsman and retired automobile dealer. They shared a variety of charitable and civic interests.

Mrs. Carver was modest to the point of shyness. She gave substantially to churches and local charities but shunned publicity. Among her favorite projects were the Humane Society and the Salvation Army.

In prosperous times, her demeanor was no different from what it had been in lean times. She was always courteous, self-effacing, totally a lady.

Yet underneath lay obvious strength and business ability not usually associated with one so feminine.

Her death at 66 last Saturday following a lingering illness has removed from the local scene one of the most remarkable women ever to grace it.

Something For Almost Everyone In Tax Bill

The tax-revision legislation now heading toward final passage in Congress runs to more than 1,500 pages and contains something for nearly everyone — sound politics in a national election year. Of particular interest are the proposed changes in the structure of estate and gift taxation, which has remained basically intact since 1942.

In his budget message last January, President Ford urged Congress to ease the burden of such taxes on persons who inherit family farms or closely held businesses. He met with a sympathetic response. "The nature of America's wealth has been altered appreciably over recent decades by inflation and the growth of the economy," the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Al Ullman (D-Ore) said on June 2. "What was once a net set for industrial barons with great paper assets now falls around a farmer who drives an old Chevy.... Farmers and small businessmen have become the most dramatic victims of a law written in another era."

As the law now stands, the Internal Revenue Service levies estate taxes on the total value of a deceased person's assets, excluding deductions for funeral and administrative expenses, unpaid debts, and up to $120,000 for the surviving spouse. The remainder is taxed on an ascending scale that reaches the maximum rate of 77 percent on any amount exceeding $10 million.

The Senate on Aug. 5 approved a sweeping revision of the inheritance tax structure, the net effect of which would reduce government revenues by about $2 billion a year. All but the richest two per cent of estates would be exempt from federal taxation altogether. The current law applies to the top 7 per cent.

Similar legislation approved by the House Ways and Means Committee was less generous than the Senate-passed version. The House bill would affect the top 3 per cent of estates. And the committee projected a peak loss in estate tax revenue of $982 million in fiscal year 1982.

As Ford and Ullman indicated, the major impetus for revision of inheritance tax law stems from concern about the plight of small farmers and businessmen. Many family farms situated near large cities are surrounded by suburban housing tracts. Land values have risen accordingly. Thus, when the owner of such a farm dies, the estate tax bill reflects the inflated value of the property. The survivors often are forced to sell all or part of their land to pay the taxes.

Still, some liberal members of Congress oppose revision of the existing law. The extent of forced sales of farms for tax reasons, they say, has been overstated. They also argue that life insurance often covers farmers' estate taxes and that farmers have been able to avoid tax payments by incorporating and giving away large parts of their holdings.

Whatever the outcome of the inheritance tax debate, disgruntled taxpayers can find some perverse pleasure in recent news from Las Vegas. Accountants and lawyers working on the inheritance tax on the Howard R. Hughes estate say that the total bill may well amount to as much as $750 million. Ironically, the late billionaire left his financial affairs in such a tangled web that no authenticated will has yet been found. A small farmer or businessman would have handled matters much more carefully.

Do You REMEMBER?

— 10 Years Ago —

Governor George Romney, kicking off the history-laden Benton Harbor Centennial pageant last night, brought about 4,000 persons back to 1906 briefly with a stinging attack on racial problems and attitudes. Mixing past, present and future, the governor said he hoped the Centennial celebration would be a great stimulant for future development of this fine community, and the same type of spirit of cooperation that had managed to bridge early animosity between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph could be used on even larger problems.

— 25 Years Ago —

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Snyder of 1280 Pontiac road, Benton Harbor, are the parents of the first twins born in St. Joseph's new Memorial hospital, and have been presented with a bathinette by Rimes & Hilderbrand, St. Joseph's largest women's and children's apparel store. The twins, born Thursday, Aug. 9, are a girl, Judy K., and a boy, Jerry J.

Purchase of Benton Harbor's new aerial fire truck is expected to be made this week. The committee yesterday practically decided upon a machine built by the American-LaFrance Co., costing $14,950. City Manager Guy Tyler announced this morning. The total price of the machine, including a number of "extras" desired by the department, was $15,750. The company allowed the city $800 for the old horse drawn aerial, which made the net cost $14,950. The truck is capable of a speed of 35 miles an hour. It's 57 and a half feet long. The city voted $15,000 in bonds at the April election for the purchase of an aerial truck, after fire destroyed the First Congregational church. Petitions requesting a vote on a new truck were circulated after the firemen stated that they were handicapped by lack of ladders in fighting the church blaze.

— 75 Years Ago —

At an expense of $500 John Aylsworth, a veteran Fair Plain peach grower, has built an irrigation system which supplies water to an eight acre peach orchard. Said Mr. Aylsworth today: "There is no excuse for peach growers to suffer from a drought when a system of irrigation can be constructed at so small an expense. Of course this is only an experiment but I believe that it will be so successful that it will go into general use. If trees were not allowed to suffer for water they would not be in condition to invite the yellows or any other disease."

Don't Downgrade Vice Presidency

WASHINGTON — Political scientists make a mistake when they run down the importance of the vice presidency. So do presidents.

Not simply because a respectable number of vice presidents in recent years have become presidents.

But rather, because the Constitution makes the vice president presiding officer of the U.S. Senate. Scoff at that task if you will, as most presidents, most senators, and, indeed, most vice presidents have these many decades.

Consider, however, what this post could mean to a president up against a Congress dominated by the opposition party. Or led by a faction of his own party which does not see eye to eye with his views. One of the other of these probabilities is likely in 1977 whether Jimmy Carter, President Ford or Ronald Reagan sits in the White House after January 20.

As the dominant force in the Senate, Lyndon Johnson, leader of the opposition party in that body, was a life saver for President Eisenhower. He secured workable compromises for a series of Eisenhower measures which, except for the Johnson arm twisting, seemed doomed to extinction in the hostile Senate of that time.

Now the vice president, as presiding officer of the Senate, can clearly do more than sit in a chair at the front of the Senate chamber, routinely gaveling for order, recognizing speakers and voting in the case of infrequent ties.

His post can, if he wills it, put him in a position to associate closely of the chamber with leading senators of both parties. He is in a position to be the president's top lobbyist with the Congress.

In recent years the vice president has been all the more suited to this post because he has, in the main, come from either the Senate or the House, though that seemingly has been more forgotten than remembered by the president in power. Jimmy Carter's Walter Mondale and Ronald Reagan's Richard Schweiker are both senators of course. The chances are at least fifty-fifty Mr. Ford will name a senator or representative as his running mate if he is nominated.

Relations with the legislature may well turn out to be the most important single factor in whether any president elected will be able to put through the reforms he has promised — in government honesty, bureaucratic reforms, energy expansion, national defense, a clamp down on inflation, control of unemployment. Even an effective policy with regard to the Middle East, Africa and the Soviet Union will require good relations with the legislature, what with Congress insisting on a heavier role in both foreign and domestic affairs.

Jimmy Carter, for example, makes much of his promise to streamline the government. But in one recent speech he hedged, reportedly saying that he could accomplish this reorganization only if the voters send the right type of legislators to the Senate and House of Representatives.

As we all know now from the record, Carter, while governor of Georgia, faced a running battle with leaders of the legislature through most of his four years in office.

The great number of Ford vetoes and the failure of many of Ford's most prized bills suggest that he could do with an improvement in communications or another Lyndon Johnson.

A Reagan in the presidency would face the same problems. And so would virtually any other man likely to be elected.

Jeffrey Hart

Ford Has Great Opportunity

Ronald Reagan's selection of Sen. Richard Schweiker now opens up for President Gerald Ford the opportunity for a set of moves that could sew up the nomination and pose a stinging challenge to Jimmy Carter's current lead.

Ford could now change all the factors in the political equation — if he had the imagination and the daring to do so.

The orthodox, predictable move for the Ford camp would now be to select John Connally for the second spot on the ticket.

Connally is obviously qualified in terms of ability and experience, and, as I have argued here, he looms large in the future of the Republican Party and of American politics.

He is a kind of contemporary Teddy Roosevelt. He would bring Sun Belt appeal to a Ford ticket, he has now endorsed Ford, and he clearly wants the vice presidential nomination. He gives every indication of planning to run for president in 1980.

Selecting John Connally would therefore constitute straight-up-the-middle solid politics. It would not, however, be the brilliant and unexpected game-breaker.

Ford could almost certainly clinch the nomination and begin a powerful drive on November victory by picking Ambassador Anne Armstrong as his vice presidential candidate and letting it be clearly understood that John Connally would make an ideal Secretary of State. (Ford would be prevented by law from explicitly designating Connally for that post — but he could let it be known that the choice had actually been made.)

As a vigorous American nationalist, Connally would have enormous appeal to conservatives as the prospective shaper of American foreign policy. Connally is everything conservatives desire in terms of defense, Panama, and military strength. At the same time, conservatives would be delighted at the prospect of Henry Kissinger's departure.

But, and this is crucial, Schweiker's designation by Reagan means that Ford can be adventurous himself in his choice for the second spot.

The designation by Ford of Anne Armstrong would be the consummate stroke. A former national committeewoman and top White House aide, she is attractive, telegenic, and a superb speaker. Her address at the 1972 Miami Beach convention was the high point of that affair. At present, she is a popular Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, and therefore trails some clouds of international glory.

She comes from Texas. She is conservative, and does not for a moment make you think of Ms. magazine. She achieved political eminence long before the affirmative action carpet was rolled out for women in politics.

As the first woman named to a national ticket, she would provide immediate and guaranteed appeal for some 50 per cent of the population. In my judgment, any backlash from super-traditionalists would be minimal. Women have become increasingly visible in leading roles in all areas of national and international life.

Overnight, this move would transform Ford's situation. The figures in the presidential polls would begin to rattle and shift like a barometer in an approaching gale.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Helen Anthony Carver Was Remarkable Lady

No one who knows their history will ever argue that Helen Anthony Carver did not play a major role, along with her first husband, Howard Anthony, in making Heath Company a colossal business success.

The couple bought the firm in the 1930s when it was located in Niles and bankrupt. They moved to Benton Harbor and went through years of financial struggles before the firm blossomed into the nation's largest producer of electronic kits for home assembly.

In the tough years, Mrs. Anthony handled the finances — obtaining credit when it was almost impossible on the sheer force of her integrity and personality. She kept the business afloat while Howard Anthony steered it through various channels and finally into the markets that were to make it great.

Fortunately for both of them, their years of struggle were rewarded with several profitable, "easy" years together before a plane crash claimed the life of Howard Anthony in 1954.

Mrs. Anthony sold Heath Co. in 1955 but retained another family venture, the Anthony Oil Co. Today, Heath Co. is located in St. Joseph and employs 1,100 people.

In 1958, Mrs. Anthony married Joseph E. Carver, a highly popular local sportsman and retired automobile dealer. They shared a variety of charitable and civic interests.

Mrs. Carver was modest to the point of shyness. She gave substantially to churches and local charities but shunned publicity. Among her favorite projects were the Humane Society and the Salvation Army.

In prosperous times, her demeanor was no different from what it had been in lean times. She was always courteous, self-effacing, totally a lady.

Yet underneath lay obvious strength and business ability not usually associated with one so feminine.

Her death at 66 last Saturday following a lingering illness was removed from the local scene one of the most remarkable women ever to grace it.

Something For Almost Everyone In Tax Bill

The tax-revision legislation now heading toward final passage in Congress runs to more than 1,500 pages and contains something for nearly everyone — sound politics in a national election year. Of particular interest are the proposed changes in the structure of estate and gift taxation, which has remained basically intact since 1942.

In his budget message last January, President Ford urged Congress to ease the burden of such taxes on persons who inherit family farms or closely held businesses. He met with a sympathetic response. "The nature of America's wealth has been altered appreciably over recent decades by inflation and the growth of the economy," the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Al Ullman (D-Ore) said on June 2. "What was once a net set for industrial barons with great paper assets now falls around a farmer who drives an old Chevy.... Farmers and small businessmen have become the most dramatic victims of a law written in another era."

As the law now stands, the Internal Revenue Service levies estate taxes on the total value of a deceased person's assets, excluding deductions for funeral and administrative expenses, unpaid debts, and up to $120,000 for the surviving spouse. The remainder is taxed on an ascending scale that reaches the maximum rate of 77 per cent on any amount exceeding $10 million.

The Senate on Aug. 5 approved a sweeping revision of the inheritance tax structure, the net effect of which would reduce government revenues by about $2 billion a year. All but the richest two per cent of estates would be exempt from federal taxation altogether. The current law applies to the top 7 per cent.

Similar legislation approved by the House Ways and Means Committee was less generous than the Senate-passed version. The House bill would affect the top 3 per cent of estates. And the committee projected a peak loss in estate tax revenue of $982 million in fiscal year 1982.

As Ford and Ullman indicated, the major impetus for revision of inheritance tax law stems from concern about the plight of small farmers and businessmen. Many family farms situated near large cities are surrounded by suburban housing tracts. Land values have risen accordingly. "Hiya, Pops!"

BH Mayor's Aide Post Is Abolished

Donna Cooke Is Fired
By Commission Vote

The Benton Harbor city commission last night abolished the post held by Mrs. Donna Cooke, legislative coordinator for the mayor-commission office, and took away $21,375 budgeted for that office. The commission voted unanimously for two resolutions that eliminate the mayor-commission office created during the administration of former Mayor Charles Joseph.

Mrs. Cooke was notified that she was terminated effective immediately in a letter dated Aug. 6 from newly-elected Mayor Joel Patterson.

Patterson wrote Mrs. Cooke: "By way of resolution, the present commission intends to rescind the resolution creating the mayor-commission office and staff positions which means your services will no longer be needed. Therefore, please be advised that your future utilization of compensation time is hereby suspended and your position as well as your employment with the mayor-commission office is terminated effective immediately, i.e. Aug. 6."

Commissioner Arnold Bolin said last night that the commission's resolutions and the mayor's letter immediately stop the $245 per week "compensatory payments" Mrs. Cooke has been receiving since the May 18 recall election.

According to city hall records, the payment for more than 1,250 hours Mrs. Cooke claimed she accumulated in overtime, sick pay and vacation time was authorized by Mayor Joseph in a letter dated May 17. City Manager James Peoples, Jr., said earlier that Mrs. Cooke has continued to receive the $245 per week since May 17 and, to his knowledge, has not worked at city hall since that time.

The commission action last night rescinds resolutions passed by the commission in August, 1973, and October, 1974, which created the mayor-commission office.

One resolution passed last night abolishes the mayor-commission office and the other transfers $21,375 budgeted for the office to the general fund.

Commissioner Bolin cited a "cost saving factor" as the reason for eliminating the mayor-commission office. "The Commission is desirous of taking appropriate measures to solve the financial problems facing the City of Benton Harbor," the resolution said.

Bolin said after the meeting last night that he also considered that fact that there was no provision for the office in the city charter as another reason he voted for the two resolutions.

Last night's meeting was the commission's first regular session since May 17. Other scheduled meetings were stymied by lack of quorums. A special meeting was held last Thursday to swear in newly elected commissioners who replaced recalled officials.

In other action the commission unanimously voted to approve an additional one-mill property tax levy to help pay rubbish and garbage collection costs.

Peoples said the money would replace a "worn out" trash compacting truck used in the weekly collections. One or possibly two trucks would be purchased, he added when questioned by a reporter after the meeting.

Peoples also said the mill levy was actually included in the city's ordinance adopting a $6.2 million budget for the 1976-77 fiscal year. It will bring the total levy for trash and garbage collection to three mills, and is expected to increase revenues for the city's rubbish and garbage collection fund by $61,000, he continued.

The extra mill levy is permitted by state law and was on the property tax bills that went out in July.

Peoples also said he has been informed the cost of the truck or trucks could run between $30,000 and $40,000 depending on the specifications. Dwight

St. Joe Apartment Plan 'Lost Cause,' Gast Says

St. Joseph City Commissioner Warren E. Gast said last night it's a "foregone conclusion" that a proposed $800,000 apartment complex would be turned down by city officials.

Gast made his comments after last night's city commission meeting, during which the commission voted to give the planning commission additional time to study the project. Gast said during the meeting that the matter should never have been referred to the planning commission in the first place.

He later added that he felt the city commission has made it known that commissioners do not feel there is a need for more apartment complexes in the city at a number of previous meetings throughout the past few years.

Gast said his main objection to the project was that the increase in traffic by a multi-family housing complex could not be handled at the proposed location under present conditions. He said he "personally" did not want to see those who are planning the project to spend a lot of time and money on a "lost cause."

The $800,000 project would include 48 apartment units built on 4.65 acres of land that was formerly the location of the Baptist Children's home, 1401 Langley avenue. Plans for the project were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, St. Joseph, to the city commission, then referred to the planning commission last week.

Gast, who reluctantly voted to refer the matter to the planning commission, said he did so because it was part of the "normal course" for such matters.

The Smiths requested a special use permit to proceed with the project. Mayor Franklin Smith said last night that as long as the matter was with the planning commission it might as well be allowed to make a recommendation. Gast, after a brief discussion of the matter, voted along with his fellow commissioners to grant an extension to the planning commission.

City Manager Gerald W. Heppner said the planning commission is to have a recommendation for the city commission by the city commission's Sept. 13 meeting. The city commission is not bound by the recommendation.

In other matters, the commission voted to give Heppner a $2,000 raise boosting his annual salary to $27,000. The hike amounts to eight per cent while most city employees got seven per cent. However, Heppner did not get a raise last year when other city employees received seven per cent.

Mayor Smith told Heppner: "You're doing a good job. You're deserving of it."

Victor Reisig, 2238 Old Lake Shore drive, appeared before the commission to find out what procedure would be used in taking action on two recommendations made by the Area Resources Improvement Council (ARIC) last week.

The recommendations, not acted upon by the commission, were (1) not to allow recreational vehicles to be parked on front or side residential lawns for prolonged periods of time and (2) to allow rummage sales to be held only on church, school or commercial properties.

Reisig said I think, "we should not be cutting into freedoms and privileges without careful consideration first."

The commission told Reisig that the matters would be considered carefully by commissioners before they acted. They also told him he would be notified of the meeting in which they would act.

City Atty. Arthur G. Preston said there is already an ordinance prohibiting the parking of recreational vehicles on side or front yards, but that it was a problem of enforcing the existing laws.

City Building Inspector Carl Conklin said the ordinance governing rummages states that everyone holding such a sale needs a permit, the permit is good for a maximum of three days and only two permits can be issued per year per resident.

In other business the commission:

—Passed the final reading of a set of three resolutions for the paving of three blocks of the alley from Elm and Park streets between State street and Lake boulevard.

—Declined a request from Bosie Bowman, representing the Bethlehem Temple church, 848 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, to use the St. Joseph bandshell for an open air service to be open to the public. Mayor Smith told Bowman that the bandshell could not be used for political or religious purposes. He said that has been city policy for a number of years as determined by a citizens committee.

Hagar, Lakeshore Slate Blood Drives

Berrien Red Cross blood drives will observe two firsts this week.

Tomorrow, a blood drive will be held in Hagar township for the first time. Thursday, the Lakeshore Rotary club will sponsor its first blood drive.

Mrs. Carol Green, Red Cross blood coordinator, said the bloodmobile will be at the Lake Michigan Beach fire department, just off US-33 in Hagar township tomorrow from 2 to 8 p.m.

The Lakeshore Rotary club's drive is noon to 6 p.m. Thursday at Lakeshore high school. Arnold Nitz of Rotary said the club plans to make it an annual project.

Mrs. Green said some specific blood types are being sought in the draw at Lakeshore — four pints of A-positive, three pints of O-positive, 4 pints of O-negative, one pint of A-negative and one pint of B-positive. Mrs. Green said the blood headquarters in Lansing has requested these types for heart surgery scheduled in Berrien county. People with other types also are urged to give.

Second Baptist church, Benton Harbor, will host a blood drive Monday, Aug. 16. Rev. Donald Adkins said it will be the second time the church has hosted the bloodmobile.

Blood collected in the drives goes to meet the needs of Berrien county residents.

Four Delinquent Fathers Placed On Probation

Four fathers owing more than $4,500 in child support for four children were held in contempt of court Monday in Berrien Circuit court and placed on probation. Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, reported in cases before Judge William S. White:

John L. Billups, Jr., of 386 Clardelle, Benton township, got two years probation for $1,857 arrears for one child on ADC, and was ordered to sign a wage assignment for $15 weekly support and $3 each week on the arrearage.

Thomas L. James, of 326 Pier road, Watervliet, got two years probation for $1,288 arrears for one ADC child, and was told to pay $45 support and $5 towards the arrearage each week.

Duane J. Bassett, of 1180 Ravena avenue, Benton township, was placed on one year probation for $1,038 arrears for one child not on ADC, and warned that if he is not employed in 30 days or misses four support payments he will spend 60 days in jail.

Willie L. Mullins, of 268 South McCord street, Benton Harbor, received two years probation for $324 arrears for one child on ADC and was told to sign a wage assignment of $8 weekly support plus $2 weekly on the arrearage. White told Mullins that if two support payments are missed Mullins will spend 30 days in jail.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Laurence A. Keim, a Birmingham, Mich., automotive executive, is among nine persons named by President Ford to the 38-member National Highway Safety Advisory Committee.

SJ BOARD TO SEEK MILTON DEMOLITION BIDS

The St. Joseph board of education last night voted unanimously to obtain demolition bids for the former Milton junior high school and study ways to dispose of the Milton property at 1530 Niles avenue for public use. The board agreed that a final decision on what to do with Milton school will be made at the next regular meeting, Sept. 13. It was generally agreed that the structure should be torn down and the land sold or leased to St. Joseph city for use as a park. This was the recommendation also of a board-appointed task force.

While a final decision won't be made until September, steps approved last night will enable fast action on demolishing the structure, if this is the decision, it was reported. Board President Ray Dunlap said the district has not received any firm offer for the school by private parties. The board earlier this year voted to close Milton school to help balance the budget and because of lower student enrollments.

Also aiding the budget and restoring several dropped programs is a 1-mill extra voted tax levy for building and site use. This was approved by voters last June. It frees general fund money that was used for building repairs, as well as operating purposes. The 1-mill tax increase was included last night in a 1976 tax levy of $5.86 mills, approved by the board. The total levy, due with December's property tax bills, will raise about $4,735,367. Business Manager Dennis Percy said before the board meeting.

The $5.86 mills includes: general operating, $1.466 mills (23.699 extra-voted, and 8.378 county allocated); debt retirement, 3.158 mills; and building and site, 1 mill. Percy said 1 mill currently raises about $122,900.

In another fiscal matter, the board awarded the sale of a $2.1 million tax anticipation note to Detroit Bank and Trust Co., which submitted the lowest of six interest bids, 3.66 per cent. The note against anticipated December tax collections runs from Sept. 1, 1976, to April 1, 1977. Percy said the six bids were the largest number submitted in the eight years he has been with the district. The board formally named Dale Kubicki as athletic director for the 1976-77 school year, and approved four coaching positions, yet to be filled. His appointment had been announced earlier.

Kubicki will receive an annual stipend of $2,500 and release from three of his daily teaching classes in social studies. The district annually participates in a total of 500 athletic contests in all sports, it was reported. The coaching posts and added pay are: 9th grade women's basketball, 35 per cent of base schedule; assistant softball coach, 33 per cent; women's diving coach, 25 per cent; and 9th grade women's track, 30 per cent.

The board named Jeffery Holmes director of the community enrichment program at a salary of $5,000 for the 1976-77 school year. The board approved tightened attendance rules, calling for centralized records and faster notification to parents of student absences. High School Principal Richard Higgs said senior high during the past year had an excellent attendance record, averaging 95 per cent daily.

Daly Macgrath, curriculum coordinator, discussed progress of a committee working to revamp the entire district curriculum toward set goals. The board approved the timetable of the committee, which calls for public hearings on each study area during September and October.

LIONS TEST TONOMETER: Benton Harbor Lions club members Al Lange (left) and Herbert Trapp test tonometer, a new device on Sightmobile used in screening adults over 35 for possible detection of glaucoma. They said instrument costs $5,000. Sightmobile is open to public at Burger Chef lot, adjacent to K-mart, Riverview drive, Benton Harbor. Hours are noon to 6 p.m. today through Friday, and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 14. Lange and Trapp said puff of air on eye registers a number that could indicate if a person has glaucoma. Instrument is for screening and is not an eye test. People who register in the glaucoma number area are advised to consult their own physician. Lions' Sightmobile also provides other types of eye screening. (Staff photo)

BH Mayor's Aide Post Is Abolished

Donna Cooke Is Fired By Commission Vote

The Benton Harbor city commission last night abolished the post held by Mrs. Donna Cooke, legislative coordinator for the mayor-commission office, and took away $21,375 budgeted for that office. The commission voted unanimously for two resolutions that eliminate the mayor-commission office created during the administration of former Mayor Charles Joseph.

Mrs. Cooke was notified that she was terminated effective immediately in a letter dated Aug. 6 from newly-elected Mayor Joel Patterson.

Patterson wrote Mrs. Cooke: "By way of resolution, the present commission intends to rescind the resolution creating the mayor-commission office and staff positions which means your services will no longer be needed. Therefore, please be advised that your future utilization of compensation time is hereby suspended and your position as well as your employment with the mayor-commission office is terminated effective immediately, i.e. Aug. 6."

Commissioner Arnold Bolin said last night that the commission's resolutions and the mayor's letter immediately stop the $245 per week "compensatory payments" Mrs. Cooke has been receiving since the May 18 recall election.

According to city hall records, the payment for more than 1,250 hours Mrs. Cooke claimed she accumulated in overtime, sick pay and vacation time was authorized by Mayor Joseph in a letter dated May 17. City Manager James Peoples, Jr., said earlier that Mrs. Cooke has continued to receive the $245 per week since May 17 and, to his knowledge, has not worked at city hall since that time.

The commission action last night rescinds resolutions passed by the commission in August, 1973, and October, 1974, which created the mayor-commission office.

One resolution passed last night abolishes the mayor-commission office and the other transfers $21,275 budgeted for the office to the general fund.

Commissioner Bolin cited a "cost saving factor" as the reason for eliminating the mayor-commission office. "The Commission is desirous of taking appropriate measures to solve the financial problems facing the City of Benton Harbor," the resolution said.

Bolin said after the meeting last night that he also considered that fact that there was no provision for the office in the city charter as another reason he voted for the two resolutions.

Last night's meeting was the commission's first regular session since May 17. Other scheduled meetings were stymied by lack of quorums. A special meeting was held last Thursday to swear in newly elected commissioners who replaced recalled officials.

In other action the commission unanimously voted to approve an additional one-mill property tax levy to help pay rubbish and garbage collection costs.

Peoples said the money would replace a "worn out" trash compacting truck used in the weekly collections. One or possibly two trucks would be purchased, he added when questioned by a reporter after the meeting.

Peoples also said the mill levy was actually included in the city's ordinance adopting a $6.2 million budget for the 1976-77 fiscal year. It will bring the total levy for trash and garbage collection to three mills, and is expected to increase revenues for the city's rubbish and garbage collection fund by $67,000, he continued.

The extra mill levy is permitted by state law and was on the property tax bills that went out in July.

Peoples also said he has been informed the cost of the truck or trucks could run between $20,000 and $40,000 depending on the specifications. Dwight

Featured in one of the leading roles is Mike Lampl of Benton Harbor.

The Damon Runyon inspired story of "Guys and Dolls" is about Broadway gamblers and their dolls, and such diverse settings as the "Save-A-Soul Mission" and the "Hot Box" night club.

Central to the plot are the oldest established permanent floating crap game in New York, run by gambler Nathan Detroit, and his long-term engagement to "Hot Box" dancer Miss Adelaide. The other main story line follows high-stakes gambler Sky Masterson and his unlikely romance with Salvation Army lass Sarah Brown.

The popular musical was also presented at the Barn Theatre in 1955. Wayne Lamb directed the show then as well as now.

The two young men find themselves in the midst of villagers in 18th century costumes who have gathered in the market square to sell their wares and to discuss the final wedding preparations of Jeanne MacLaren and Charlie Dalrymple.

Tommy, burdened with the knowledge of Brigadoon's secret and enraptured by the beautiful Fiona, is confronted with the choice of remaining forever at the side of the Scottish lass or returning to the unsatisfying world familiar to him.

Performances will continue through Sunday, Aug. 15.

For his theatrical debut, Smothers has chosen to play the daydreaming, bumbling hero made famous by Woody Allen.

Tom Smothers and his brother Dick first came to public attention in 1966 when CBS-TV initiated the "Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour" as a mid-season replacement. The show quickly evolved into the most controversial series on television.

After running for three years and winning several awards, the show was abruptly cancelled when Tom and Dick balked at CBS' insistence on censoring their frank, topical satire.

Tom Smothers comes to Cherry County Playhouse following a tour that has taken him to the Sahara hotel in Las Vegas, Harrah's in Tahoe, the Playboy club in Lake Geneva and the Royal York in Toronto.

Curtain times are Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 6 and 9:45 p.m.; and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. There is a 2 p.m. matinee Thursday.

CAN 33 MILLION GAULS BE WRONG?

French Outdoors Is Cheap Vacation

By Rosette Hargrove

PARIS — (NEA) — The French have itching feet and the holiday period which reaches its peak from mid-July to mid-September (every Frenchman is legally entitled to a four-week paid holiday) is expected this year to beat all records especially in the realm of camping and its more sophisticated expression, caravanning.

Figures show that 33 million citizens will leave their homes and take to the road — 1.5 million more than in 1976. Most of these will spend their holiday in France but 5.7 million are expected to go to a foreign country. Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Great Britain, Greece and Scandinavia are favored in that order, with North Africa reserved for the higher holiday budgets.

Ten years ago, 10 million Frenchmen discovered the great outdoors. This year officials say another million will swell that figure if only because the practical-minded Gaul has realized that a home on wheels is the answer to overcrowded, overpriced hotels and lodgings, indifferent service, plus greater independence.

The cost of a trailer or caravan, as it is known here, is naturally far higher than a family tent. But in recent years it has been possible to hire a vehicle, ranging from the more modest type to a Land Cruiser, Trail Blazer and others, while using one's own car. The minibus, which was first to be put on the market is very popular, too.

Campers represent practically every social strata save the very wealthy vacationer. The typical French camper is around 40 with a wife and two or three children.

From now to autumn, roads leading south, west, east and north, in that order, will see every possible type of home on wheels.

Official Tourist Office statistics for 1975 give France some 5,000 official camping sites classified as one, two, three or four-star establishments. This represents a capacity for 1.4 million people. Of these, 3,884 can absorb 100 to 500 visitors, while 542 can accommodate a greater number.

The French Touring Club publishes its own list of camp sites with recommendations. They are visited by the club's inspectors and rated in the same manner as hotels, and restaurants in the Michelin and other travel guides. Camping fees vary from 35 cents for the less exclusive to 475 cents per night per person, plus 35 cents for the vehicle.

One of the largest sites (over 10 acres) is in the Bois de Boulogne, within the Paris city limits. It is open all year round.

In 1964, 80,000 people set up transient housekeeping in the lively, romantic woodland on the banks of the Seine, a stone's throw from the swank Polo Club. This year, 100,000 are expected to take advantage of the many amenities offered.

The Bois de Boulogne camp is equipped with every convenience ranging from self-service restaurant to post office, grocery store, newsstand, telephones, bath houses and laundry facilities.

There is a special "pad" for trailers which can take up to 75 vehicles. Every shape, size and species of tent is seen, from the compact Finnish "igloo" to spacious two-room jobs with separate living and sleeping quarters. Charges are around a dollar a day per person. Maximum stay is one month and any Frenchman must prove he lives over 60 miles from the city to qualify for admittance. The camp capacity is 1,000 people.

Finally, a boon to young mothers, there is a nursery and babysitters on call.

Jean de B., a junior executive, who has just returned from a 21-day "caravan" holiday on the French Riviera with wife and two children under-12 demonstrated that this had cost them the equivalent of $65 per week per person, all charges included, in a four-star camp. This did not include such extras as a biweekly dinner in a good restaurant, hiring a boat, surfing and did not include the cost of gasoline there and back.

Regulations state that occupation is limited to 300 people per hectare 2.47 (acres), 200 on the more luxurious sites, where each tent or caravan is required a plot of 330 square feet. These minimums are often bypassed in the less-expensive camps, while "savage" camping — on the roadside or on the country sites are usually without the barest amenities — is strictly taboo.

There are some farmers who will accept one or two caravans in a nearby field, but this arrangement is not considered very reliable and offers few amenities.

DRUG TOLERANCE
WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

The word tolerance when applied to drugs is not particularly a good thing. For, it can mean that over a period of time our body has become adjusted to a medicine and the drug will no longer achieve the desired effect it once did.

This tolerance effect can apply to many types of common use drug products — laxatives, cough preparations, skin treatment creams and ointments. With prescription medicines the tolerance effect can be even more serious. We will always caution you when such a possibility exists.

AUGUST PRODUCTIONS Summer Theatres

SISTER LAKES

"Move Over, Mrs. Markham," an adults-only comedy, opens Wednesday, Aug. 11, at the Sister Lakes Playhouse, Sister Lakes, and will run through Sunday, Aug. 15.

The play, written by Ray Cooney and John Chapman, is concerned with the beautiful Joanna Markham and her husband, Philip, a rather stuffy, conservative publisher of children's books.

Joanna, to help the love affair of her friend, Linda, has loaned her apartment to her friend for the evening. Unknowingly, Philip has also loaned the apartment to his friend, Linda's husband Henry, for the same purpose.

Featured in one of the leading roles is Mike Lampl of Benton Harbor.

"Move Over, Mrs. Markham" is under the direction of Ron Jacoby.

Curtain times are 8:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

BARN THEATRE

"Guys and Dolls," one of Broadway's biggest musical hits, opens tonight at the Barn Theatre, Augusta, and will play for two weeks.

Performances will be given tonight through Sunday, Aug. 15, and Tuesday through Sunday, Aug. 17-22. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 7 and 9:45 p.m. Saturday and 5 p.m. Sunday.

The Damon Runyon inspired story of "Guys and Dolls" is about Broadway gamblers and their dolls, and such diverse settings as the "Save-A-Soul Mission" and the "Hot Box" night club.

Central to the plot are the oldest established permanent floating crap game in New York, run by gambler Nathan Detroit, and his long-term engagement to "Hot Box" dancer Miss Adelaide. The other main story line follows high-stakes gambler Sky Masterson and his unlikely romance with Salvation Army lass Sarah Brown.

The popular musical was also presented at the Barn Theatre in 1955. Wayne Lamb directed the show then as well as now.

Following "Guys and Dolls" and opening Tuesday, Aug. 24, will be the world premier of the Michael Reno original musical, "Revelation." It will be presented through Aug. 29.

LAKESHORE COMMUNITY

"West Side Story" will be presented by Lakeshore Community Theatre Friday and Saturday, Aug. 13 and 14, at 8 p.m. at Lakeshore high school auditorium.

The musical, the Theatre's final production of the summer, is under the direction of Ken and Patricia Lendahl.

Tickets will be available at the door.

DUNES THEATRE

"Brigadoon" will begin its second week Wednesday, Aug. 11, at the Dunes Summer Theatre, Michiana Shores. It will run through Saturday, Aug. 14.

Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. (CST).

The curtain rises on two weary New York hunters contemplating on what they have forsaken in the States for their present predicament. A lift in the Highland veil reveals to them the awakening village of Brigadoon, a village which comes into being only one day in each century.

The two young men find themselves in the midst of villagers in 18th century costumes who have gathered in the market square to sell their wares and to discuss the final wedding preparations of Jeanie MacLaren and Charlie Dalrymple.

Tommy, burdened with the knowledge of Brigadoon's secret and enraptured by the beautiful Fiona, is confronted with the choice of remaining forever at the side of the Scottish lass or returning to the unsatisfying world familiar to him.

Songs from the musical include "Almost Like Being in Love," "The Heather on the Hill" and "There But for You Go I."

HOPE THEATRE

Hope Summer Repertory Theatre, Holland, will begin the week with a presentation of the popular "Fiddler on the Roof," tonight at the DeWitt Cultural Center. It will also be presented Saturday, Aug. 14.

MR. AND MRS. ELMER RICE — 1976

Open House Is Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rice, 1701 East Verde Lane, Phoenix, Ariz., formerly of Benton Harbor, will be honored at an open house Sunday, Aug. 15, in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The event will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Eleanor) Flood, 3451 East Napier, Benton Harbor.

Friends and relatives are invited.

Elmer Rice and the former Margaret Stuppy were married Aug. 21, 1926, in Goshen, Ind., and resided in Benton Harbor for 34 years.

The couple has two daughters, Mrs. Fred (Patsy Ann) Brooks of Caldwell, Idaho, and Mrs. Flood, and seven grandchildren.

Prior to his retirement in 1959, Rice had been employed as foreman by Kaywood Corp., Benton Harbor, for 24 years. Mrs. Rice is a homemaker.

Upon his retirement, the couple moved to Phoenix to make their home. The Rices return to Benton Harbor each summer to visit.

PEACH COBBLER

If you are making fresh peach cobbler and the recipe calls for about three cups of the sliced fruit, you'll need to buy about one and one-half pounds.

Notice anything unusual about the oranges this summer?

Because of the unusually dry, warm growing season in California and Arizona this year, the phenomenon of regreening is far more prevalent in oranges than normal. Regreened Valencia's have the look of unripe oranges, but actually, they are extra-ripe and sweet.

Valencia oranges begin to turn golden in the winter months, long before they are ripe. Exterior color has nothing to do with ripeness, so even though they look ripe, it takes months of tree ripening before these oranges develop the proper sugar content to be ready to pick. As the fruit hangs on the tree during warm weather, a botanical dilemma occurs. The orange-colored oranges begin to turn green again. Experts, who call the phenomenon "regreening," blame it on warm ground temperatures returning chlorophyll (the green pigment found in plant cells) to the skins.

Spokesmen for a marketing cooperative of 8,000 citrus growers call the green-tinged oranges "Summer Green." They recommend looking inside a "Summer Green" to discover that an orange cannot be judged by whether or not the outside is orange.

MR. AND MRS. ELMER RICE — 1926

Open House Is Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rice, 1701 East Verde Lane, Phoenix, Ariz., formerly of Benton Harbor, will be honored at an open house Sunday, Aug. 15, in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The event will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Eleanor) Flood, 3454 East Napier, Benton Harbor.

Friends and relatives are invited.

Elmer Rice and the former Margaret Stuppy were married Aug. 21, 1926, in Goshen, Ind., and resided in Benton Harbor for 34 years.

The couple has two daughters, Mrs. Fred (Patsy Ann) Brooks of Caldwell, Idaho, and Mrs. Flood, and seven grandchildren.

Prior to his retirement in 1959, Rice had been employed as foreman by Kaywood Corp., Benton Harbor, for 24 years. Mrs. Rice is a homemaker.

Upon his retirement, the couple moved to Phoenix to make their home. The Rices return to Benton Harbor each summer to visit.

PEACH COBBLER

If you are making fresh peach cobbler and the recipe calls for about three cups of the sliced fruit, you'll need to buy about one and one-half pounds.

Notice anything unusual about the oranges this summer?

Because of the unusually dry, warm growing season in California and Arizona this year, the phenomenon of regreening is far more prevalent in oranges than normal. Regreened Valencias have the look of unripe oranges, but actually, they are extra-ripe and sweet.

Valencia oranges begin to turn golden in the winter months, long before they are ripe. Exterior color has nothing to do with ripeness, so even though they look ripe, it takes months of tree ripening before these oranges develop the proper sugar content to be ready to pick. As the fruit hangs on the tree during warm weather, a botanical dilemma occurs. The orange-colored oranges begin to turn green again. Experts, who call the phenomenon "regreening," blame it on warm ground temperatures returning chlorophyll (the green pigment found in plant cells) to the skins.

Spokesmen for a marketing cooperative of 8,000 citrus grower call the green-tinged oranges "Summer Green." They recommend looking inside a "Summer Green" to discover that an orange cannot be judged by whether or not the outside is orange.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

'Cutie Pie' Is Unwelcome

Dear Ann: Please help me settle an argument with my husband. We have agreed to abide by your decision.

Henry and I are planning a lovely dinner party in our new home. One of his married business associates has a cutie-pie on the side. I say we should invite Mr. Business Associate and his WIFE, not the girlfriend. My husband says Mr. B.A. should be able to bring whoever he chooses — and he has already said he wants to bring the cutie-pie.

According to my husband, what this man does with his personal life is none of our business. I agree with my husband but it would offend me to have a married man bring his mistress into our home. We will be issuing the invitations by phone soon, so hurry your answer. Who is right? — Battle Royal In The Bahamas

Dear Royal Battle: You are — and don't let the so-and-so grind you down.

What Mr. B.A. does is none of your business, but to offer hospitality to a married man and his cutie-pie cuts you in on the monkeyshines and gives your unspoken approval to the affair. Steer clear.

No Problem

Dear Ann Landers: You stay me. Your upper-middle-class upbringing pops up in your column so often it's a hoot. Like again today — when you advised the woman whose husband takes his 28½ inches of their standard 57-inch bed out of the middle. (They used to sleep cuddled up but now he accuses her of "leaning" on him.)

"Get twin beds," you advised. "But after 20 years the transition should be engineered with imagination and tact." Excellent counsel. But then you come up with the suggestion that the wife buy her husband a whistle to place on his bedside table and have it engraved with the message, "If you want me, just whistle."

What percentage of your readers can afford to engrave messages on ANYTHING these days? Do you know how much engraving costs per letter? It's time YOU woke up and smelled the coffee. — Daily Reader In Yuma

Dear Daily: Mea culpa, lovey. Right you are. For those who can't afford engraving, write the message on a piece of paper and tape it to the whistle. It doesn't have to come from Tiffany.

10-Year Gap

Dear Ann: I am a female, 29 years old, but I really look 19. I'm single, never been married, come from a wonderful family, and was brought up in a very loving atmosphere, with kind and understanding parents and five wonderful brothers and sisters. Last October, I met the first person in my life who made me feel really alive. We started with the usual conversation. When he asked my age, I lopped off eight years and said "21," because I figured he was about 24.

We began going out a lot. After three weeks he confessed he was only 19. I couldn't believe it. When he said, "Age means nothing," I confessed I was 28.

We continued dating and I assumed everything was fine because he never mentioned my age again. Eight months have passed and I really love this guy. I'm sure he feels the same about me. Last night I asked him when he wanted to get married. He said he could never marry me because of the age difference. I was stunned. What should I do? — Plus Ten

Dear Plus: Tell him goodbye. If he really loves you he'll be back. If he doesn't, better to find out now.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 140, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

ENGLISH VISITOR: The Rev. Charles A. Roffey of Essex, England, who has brought to the United States an original first edition of the King James Bible published in 1611, will be guest speaker at the Assembly of God church, Benton Harbor, Wednesday, Aug. 11, at 7:30 p.m. According to Rev. Roffey, all of the text pages are original printed in old English on rice paper. Only the scriptural genealogies of the front pages have been replaced with photostatic copies from the British Museum's second 1611 edition.

'Rabbit Hill' Friday

Rabbits will be featured in this week's free film for area youngsters to be shown Friday, Aug. 13, at 4 p.m. in the Benton Harbor public library.

"Rabbit Hill," based on the book by Robert Lawson, portrays how the rabbits living on Rabbit Hill are affected when the old owners move out and the new ones move in.

Saturday, Aug. 21, is the last day for reporting books for the Summer Reading program. A party for those having read five or more books will be held Friday, Aug. 27.

New books added to the junior collection at the library include "Dinner at Albert's," Russell Hoban; "Sandwichery," Patricia and Talivaldia Stubbs, and "Hey, Peanuts!," Charles Schulz.

On the opposite end of the spectrum from the finesse designed to give declarer an extra entry to dummy is the finesse taken for the sheer joy of finessing.

South ducked the first heart and won the continuation. Then he led a trump. East took his ace and shifted to the jack of diamonds. South promptly finessed his queen and the defense had three tricks in. Some five minutes later South had finessed successfully against West's queen of clubs and won the rubber.

"Pretty good guess," chortled South.

"An unnecessary waste of time, energy and guesswork," replied North. "The hand was unbeatable with no problems at all."

South started out well by ducking the first heart, but when East led the jack of diamonds, South should have gone right up with his ace. Next would come a trump to dummy followed by a ruff of the last heart. Then South would lead his queen of diamonds and claim his contract. It wouldn't matter which opponent held the king of diamonds. He would be caught in an end play.

Here is another question on revokes. Declarer leads a spade from dummy. He is informed by an opponent that the lead is in his own hand. He leads a heart. A Delaware reader wants to know if this is a revoke.

The answer is that it definitely is a revoke if he has a spade in his own hand. The revoke becomes established when an opponent plays to the revoking card.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I came across a line in the newspaper that said that glaucoma is the greatest cause of blindness. This terrified me because my mother has it, and so does her sister. Is this condition hereditary? — Mrs. J. J. D., Del.

Dear Mrs. D:

It is true that unrecognized glaucoma is probably the greatest single reason for impaired vision and even blindness.

There was a time when this condition may have been overlooked. Today, however, any complete eye examination by an eye specialist (ophthalmologist) or optometrist must include the test for glaucoma.

Glaucoma is a condition in which there is an increased pressure of the fluid that normally lies within the eyeball. A tiny instrument, a tonometer, quickly, easily and painlessly tests the fluid tension within the eyeball.

If it is increased above normal, then further studies are made to determine the exact type of glaucoma and its cause.

Glaucoma is not a cancer. Glaucoma is not an infection. Glaucoma is not contagious. Glaucoma is not a cataract. Glaucoma is not hereditary. Once the diagnosis of glaucoma is established, it means that treatment with drugs under the observation of the eye specialist is essential. Most cases of glaucoma can be kept under control without surgery. In special situations, a safe and relatively simple operation is performed.

Can anti-allergy pills be taken indefinitely without causing side effects? — Mr. N. E., Va.

Dear Mr. E:

A safe rule for taking any medicine is that they be taken only for the prescribed period of time.

Most anti-histamine, or anti-allergy, drugs are excreted from the body in about 12 hours. Consequently, the action of the drug ceases after this period of time.

If any side effects are caused by these pills they are usually evident shortly after one has begun to use them. It is extremely rare for side effects to occur at a later date.

Should side effects occur, the drugs should be stopped. Then, shifting from one anti-allergy medicine to another is frequently suggested by doctors.

Hartford Sets $1,856,948 School Budget

HARTFORD — A 1976-77 school year budget and a 1976 property tax rate higher than the 1975 rate were approved by the Hartford school board last night. The budget was set at $1,856,948, based on projected income of $1,794,917 and a carry over balance to make up the difference.

Supt. Gary Waterkamp said the carry over would come from a $300,000 fund equity the district has accumulated from previous years.

The tax rate was set at 29.76 mills, up 1.76 mills over the 1975 rate. The increase came in the rate for debt retirement which was boosted to 7.18 mills. The 1975 debt retirement levy was 5.42 mills.

Waterkamp said the increase in the debt retirement millage was necessary to pay higher principal and interest payments this year on a 1973 $3,850,000 school construction bond issue.

In other action, the board adopted a band members handbook and a new policy on student absences.

The band members handbook, approved by a 10-member, faculty-parent committee, sets out rules for student participation in band appearances. A controversy developed last spring when several students said they had not known that missing scheduled band appearances could lead to failing grades.

The student absence policy limits to 10 the number of excused absences students can have in a semester. There was no previous limit. The new policy also makes high school students subject to suspension for repeated, unexcused absences.

The board denied a request from teacher aides that the district make a 100 per cent contribution for health insurance. The board said it will keep at its current 25 per cent level the district's health insurance contribution for employees working less than 40 hours weekly.

A proposal to establish the position of a bilingual resource educator was tabled by the board until a census is taken to determine whether there are enough Spanish-speaking students (20 or more) to establish what would be a state-mandated bilingual program.

The position of assistant athletic director was offered to Miss Joan Hollar. James Walls will continue as athletic director with his pay set at 12 per cent of his base salary.

Supt. Waterkamp said eight of 11 teachers previously put on notice they might not be rehired have been recalled. Two of the pink slipped teachers went elsewhere, Waterkamp added.

A proposal to create a varsity wrestling team was referred by the board to the school's athletic committee.

$200,000 WAITING: Lisa Anne Berry, an Oakland high school girl who disappeared two years ago, stands to collect $200,000 if she returns home. Her case is still under active investigation, according to missing persons investigators. (AP Wirephoto)

Hartford Mulls Charter Change

HARTFORD — A proposed city charter amendment that would make the offices of clerk, treasurer and assessor appointive positions could go before voters here in November for the third time in five years.

At last night's city council meeting a resolution introduced by Mayor Wayne Nelson was adopted directing Douglas MacKinder, city attorney, to prepare city charter amendments to make the changes and submit proposed ballot wording to the council on Aug. 23.

In 1971, a similar proposal was defeated by voters 271 to 114, and again in 1972, the same proposal was beaten 446 to 108.

The officers were made elective positions in a charter change approved by voters in 1960.

The current proposal, if adopted, would not let the clerk, treasurer and assessor to be elected in the city's Nov. 2 election take office. It would also cancel the mayor's current veto power over appointments.

In other areas, George

Malaski, owner of the Hartford Motor Speedway was again present protesting the current $20 weekly fee he must pay the city for holding auto races. He requested that a seasonal fee be established.

The board took no action concerning his request, but did grant a tire manufacturer that has been using the track on Wednesdays to test tires, a temporary permit to continue.

The council accepted the low bid of $3,065 from Yerington Construction Co., Benton Harbor, for repaving a section of Paros Hill drive (700 by 30 feet) that was torn up when storm sewers were put in early last year. One other bid was submitted.

The council adopted a new policy whereby the city clerk is the only person responsible for the city hall's new copy machine. Just city hall personnel and police department employees will be allowed to use the machine.

The council received numerous complaints about weeds on vacant lots and announced that the property owners would be notified to cut the weeds or the city will do it and then bill the property owners.

The council agreed to explore possible sale of the site of the former Hartford city - township hall, which is jointly owned with the township.

An ordinance was introduced which would repeal a chapter in the new municipal code concerning housing regulations and would add a new chapter entitled housing-property maintenance. The new chapter was left out when printed and the old code put in.

The council also approved sending one of its members to a seminar in Chicago, Sept. 2, concerning public works construction and grants for high unemployment areas. No councilman was named at last night's meeting. It was also announced that a block parent coffee would be held at city hall, Monday, Aug. 11, at 7:30 p.m.

Class Schedule Will Be Earlier

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet school board last night announced that the elementary schools will begin classes this fall at 8:50 a.m. each day, 10 minutes earlier than last year.

Supt. Samuel Gravitt said the earlier start will mean that bus students arriving early will not have to wait as long for classes to start. Elementary classes will be dismissed this year at 3:20 p.m., also 10 minutes earlier than last year.

In other areas, the board agreed to purchase milk this year from the McDonald Dairy Co., Benton Harbor, the lowest of two bidders.

The firm had bid 9.18 cents for a half-pint of white milk and 9.59 cents for a half-pint of chocolate. Lockshore Farms Dairy, Kalamazoo, had bid 9.2 cents for white and 9.9 cents for chocolate.

It was voted to purchase bread this year from the Grocers Baking Co., Benton Harbor, the lowest of five bidders.

The firm bid 35.5 cents for a 24 ounce loaf of white bread and 39 cents a dozen for hot dog and hamburger buns.

The other bread bids ranged from 40.5 cents to 45.5 cents a loaf.

The board agreed to purchase liability insurance for student athletes for 1976-77 from the Wolverine Insurance Co., Kalamazoo, for $1,250.

An additional learning disabilities teacher for the middle school was approved.

The board voted to apply for a state grant of $51,772 which if approved would be used to repay bonded indebtedness for the high school. Last year, the district had received a $22,950 state grant for bonded indebtedness.

Cable TV Company Seeking Rate Hike

WATERVLIET — A rate hike request by Paw Paw Lake Area Cable TV Co. was tabled by the Watervliet township board last night.

The board said it wanted to receive financial statements from the firm before acting, perhaps at its Sept. 13 meeting, according to Clerk Barbara Tyler.

The firm wants to hike its monthly, one television set rate from $9.96 to $17.50, and its FM radio monthly rate from 50 cents to $1, Mrs. Tyler said.

Mrs. Tyler said the firm claimed that increased costs in materials and utility rates made the hike necessary.

The firm serves residents who live around the lake in the cities and townships of Coloma and Watervliet. The hike must be approved by all governmental units, Mrs. Tyler said.

The proposal was also presented to the Coloma city commission last night and was tabled there. The commission said it wished to discuss the proposed hike with a representative from the firm and asked that one attend an Aug. 23 commission meeting. A public hearing would also have to be held before city action could be taken.

Mrs. Tyler said the hike is the first requested by the firm since it began service to Paw Paw lake area residents over two years ago. Rates for an 18-channel converter, second sets and installation fees would not be increased, the firm told the board.

BH Firemen Praise 3 For Help

Benton Harbor firemen credited a man and two boys for helping douse two separate blazes with garden hoses last night and early this morning.

Firemen said a fire at 8:50 a.m. today, at the home of Florence Bellenger, 1139 Monroe street, was nearly brought under control by neighbor Sidney Wakefield, 1131 Monroe, by the time trucks arrived.

Firemen said no one was at home when the blaze broke out in the living room. Cause has not been determined, firemen said. Fire damage was reported confined to the living room, but the entire house received smoke damage.

Firemen said brothers Harry Millibarger, 12, and Jimmy Millibarger, 11, of 706 Superior street, based down a burning couch in an alley near 719 Columbus avenue, about 9:25 p.m. Monday. The blaze was reported extinguished when firemen arrived. The cause was not determined.

Paw Paw Says No To Wine Tent

PAW PAW — Paw Paw village council last night rejected a request by the grape and wine festival association to place a wine-tasting tent in the downtown area during its annual festival in September.

Atty. Richard Burnham, festival association president, had requested a portion of Paw Paw street be blocked off for the tent.

The council told him he must re-apply for an alternate site somewhere south of Berrien street.

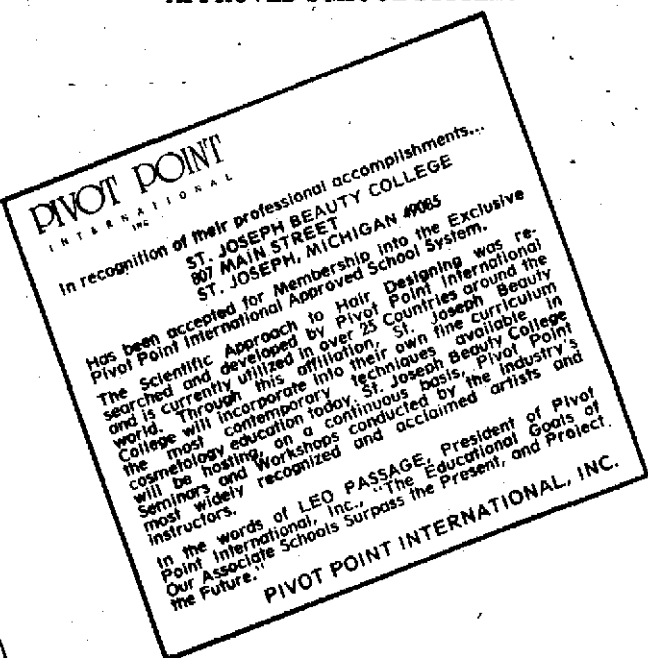

During the last two grape and wine festivals, police have reported some problems with rowdiness and vandalism caused by festival goers.

Coloma Will Lease Park Site To Lions

COLOMA — The Coloma city commission last night voted to lease city-owned property to the Coloma Lions club for a planned park expansion. The 20-year lease calls for the club to pay the city $1 for the duration of the agreement. The city property is immediately south of the existing Coloma Lions park and the club plans to erect a building on the property in the future. Under terms of the lease, the city may reclaim the parcel of land if they pay the Lions club for the actual value of improvements to the park undertaken during the lease. In other areas, the commission requested a check be made to determine if the speed limit on South Church street can be reduced from 35 miles per hour to 25 miles per hour, after residents in the vicinity complained last month about the speed of motorists.

Coloma Seeking Bids For New Floor In Gym

COLOMA — The Coloma school board last night approved seeking bids for replacing the Alwood gymnasium basketball floor extensively damaged during a July 20 rainstorm. Board members were told the floor could cost up to $22,000 to replace.

Ronald Clark, assistant superintendent of schools, said the floor was over 60 per cent buckled because of storm water which had seeped under the doors when outside drains could not handle the excess.

Clark said the storm caused varying degrees of damage at four other buildings. Blacktopping was undercut and caved in at the Junior high and Washington elementary schools. The basement flooded at the Eaman school and water seeped under the doors flooding three classrooms at the seventh grade building, he said.

The board authorized seeking bids for two types of floors, with bids to be opened Aug. 23.

In other areas, the board approved a new master contract for teachers which provided for board payment of a teacher retirement fund contribution, but no base pay boost for teachers.

The contribution will equal five per cent of a teacher's pay. The no change in base pay rates did not cover automatic pay hikes provided for in a step schedule covering years of experience. The step hikes, or annual increments, amount to about $460 for each additional year of experience for teachers with a bachelor's degree. The automatic boost amounts to about $482 for teachers with master degrees.

The contract added another year to the step schedule to cover teachers with 14 years' experience.

Under the pay schedule, teachers with bachelor degrees will receive $9,187 to start. With 14 years experience, a teacher with a bachelor degree will be paid $15,618.

Last year, a teacher with 13 years experience and a bachelor's degree received $15,158.

Teachers with a master's degree will get $9,660 to start. The same teacher with 14 years experience would get $16,422. Last year, with 13 years, the teacher received $15,939.

The board approved a $1,000 expenditure for participating in a Career Awareness program, sponsored by the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

The program, lasting seven weeks, will enable Coloma freshmen and sophomores to visit Twin Cities area industries and businesses, in preparation for seeking jobs and careers in the various fields.

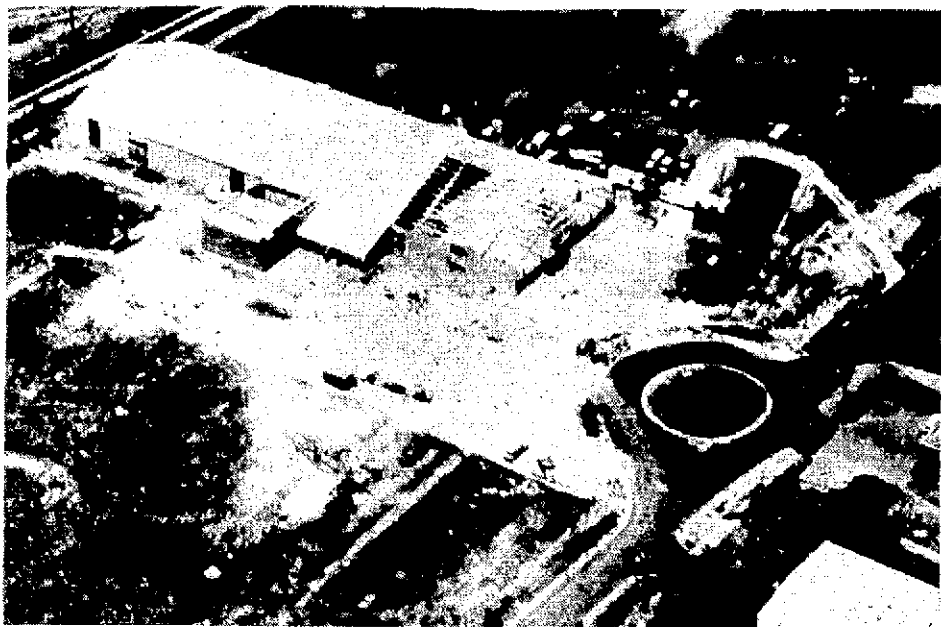

The board approved the creation of a gym attendant position and granted permission to fill the post. The hourly pay was set at $3, for eight hours of work per day, for 42 weeks. The attendant would be responsible for the supervision of the gymnasium area and the athletic field.

The board approved pay hikes for cafeteria employees, from funds raised through the hot lunch program. Hourly pay was set at $2.45 for helpers, $2.57 for bakers, and $3.09 for cook, plus five per cent retirement paid from the funds.

Last year's hourly pay for the same positions were $2.33, $2.45, and $2.94, respectively.

The board will meet Monday, Aug. 16, to hear recommendations from the Language Arts committee including the preparation of spelling lists for all grades in the school system.

The board approved required guidelines for free and reduced hot lunch meals.

TENNIS CENTER NEARS COMPLETION: This $600,000 tennis complex in St. Joseph township is approximately 75 per cent complete and scheduled for opening first week of September, according to Mike Brown, owner of House of Furniture and member of corporation constructing tennis club. South Shore

Raquet club, located on 2.8 acre site off new road, Tennis court, behind Continental Can Co., will include six indoor tennis courts and four outdoor courts, plus pro shop and locker facilities for men and women. Steel building is 350 by 120 feet. (Aerial photo by Adolph Hann)

Uses Of Proposed Bangor School Millage Outlined

By LARRY MacINTYRE

BANGOR — About 40 per cent of the revenue sought by the Bangor school district through a special millage election Sept. 9 is earmarked for pay raises and increased employee benefits.

The details of how the additional revenue would be spent were announced at the Bangor school board meeting last night.

The special election, which asks voters to decide on a 2.42-mill property tax levy for one year, was approved at a special meeting two weeks ago.

According to figures released last night, $46,400 is earmarked for pay raises and $26,400 would be spent on increased hospitalization insurance.

The pay raises cover 90 certified and 57 non-certified employees. The hospitalization covers 110 employees.

The two amounts total $72,800, or 40 per cent of the $181,500 in additional revenue that would be raised if the millage passes.

Another $30,000 would be spent on hiring three more teachers needed because junior high and high school students will resume full-day class schedules next fall.

Two of the three are needed because state law requires study hall teachers to be certified, board members said. Last year, there were no study halls.

Another $78,700 is to be spent as follows: $34,000 for the purchase of two new buses; $20,000 for increased heat, water and electricity costs; $5,000 for boiler repairs in the elementary and high school heating system; $7,000 for unemployment payments; $8,700 for purchasing workbooks and textbooks; and $6,000 to provide equal sports for girls as required by law.

Board members said the additional millage, if passed, would raise about $67,760 locally and would result in additional state aid payments of about $113,740.

Otto Watkins Jr., school board president, said the estimated $20,000 in increased heat and electricity costs is for the new junior high school building which opens this fall.

He said the exact amount of pay increases for teachers and other employees will not be known until after teacher contract negotiations are concluded. The negotiations are not expected to end until after the Sept. 9 millage vote, he said.

In other areas, it was announced that the first day of school this fall will be Tuesday, Sept. 7, except for high school students enrolled at the Van Buren vocational skills center, in Lawrence. Classes begin there Sept. 1.

Acting Supt. Fred Stap told the board that the district had qualified for a $48,000 state grant because of low student scores last year on the state assessment tests. Last year, the district had received $56,000 under the same program, he said.

The money is to be used to rehire three or four teachers laid off last year.

After the meeting, Watkins said the board had instructed Stap to look into whether any further board action will be needed on the results of a recently released state audit of the school district.

The audit was performed by the state treasury department at the request of Dr. John Porter, director of the state department of education. It concluded that Bangor's former superintendent, Howard Beyer, had used his position to show favorable treatment to members of his family employed by the district.

Watkins said the state attorney general is now reviewing the audit report.

Watkins said he believed the school board should not involve itself in seeking any criminal charges as a result of the report. He said the board had decided to wait until the beginning of 1977 before it accepts applications for Beyer's replacement.

In the meantime, Stap will continue as acting superintendent, he said.

Watkins said Beyer had waived his rights to a hearing on a tenure charge brought against him in May. The charge alleged that Beyer had not informed the school board of an impending transfer of a 240-acre farm to the Lawrence school district.

Watkins said the board's charge and Beyer's waiver have been filed as a matter of public record and no further board action is expected.

Beyer was fired as superintendent in June as a result of 13 other tenure charges, but he was allowed to continue as a teacher.

Bangor Accepts Low Bid For Sidewalk Work

BANGOR — The Bangor city council last night accepted the lowest of six bids for curb, gutter and sidewalk construction along a three-block stretch of Monroe street in the city's business district. The low bid accepted was that of Zol Inc., of Byron Center, for $34,000, about $9,000 above previously projected. The costs are to be shared equally by the city and merchants who own property on Monroe street.

Construction will begin as soon as the city sells bonds to finance construction costs. The bonds are to be repaid, by merchants and the city, over a 15-year period at an interest rate not to exceed eight per cent, city officials said.

The city will sell up to $60,000 in bonds, depending on the interest rate.

In matters related to recent water rate hikes, the council changed from quarterly to monthly the sewer use fee billings and increased from $1 for three months to $1 monthly water meter use rates to homes.

Commercial and industrial users got similar meter hikes, depending on the size water line service to their firms.

The council also changed water billing dates.

Beginning in October, water bill payments will be sent out the 10th of each month and be due by the 25th. If not paid, service will be disconnected on the 10th of the following month.

Previously, the council boosted water rates by 50 per cent to home owners and 80 per cent to commercial and industrial users in order to help pay off some $455,000 in 1973 bonds sold to finance water line and water tower construction.

An ordinance that would force landlords to obtain an occupancy permit from the city before they could rent out their properties was introduced to the council.

The ordinance, on which formal action will be taken at the next city council meeting, is aimed at upgrading rental properties in the city.

Under the proposal, rental properties would have to be city-inspected before landlords could rent them out. An occupancy permit, if issued, would be good for a year. Conviction of violating the provisions of the proposed or-inance would carry a $500 fine and or 90 days in county jail.

The council, at the request of Claude Street, president of the Bangor Parent-Teacher organization, set Halloween trick-or-treat night for Oct. 30, with door-to-door appeals ending at 8 p.m.

A public hearing on the proposed vacating of Clark street, from Douglas to Arlington, was set for 8 p.m., Sept. 13. The road is near the site of elementary school construction.

The council hired Robert Insidioso to replace Bookkeeper Mrs. Francis Schenauer who is retiring as of Sept. 2.

Typhoon Kills Four

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) — Typhoon Billie killed four persons on Taiwan and eight were missing today as the storm headed west across the Formosa Strait toward the Chinese mainland, police reported. They said 24 persons were injured and 947 houses were damaged.

Billie dumped about 7.5 inches on Taipei, and 1,563 persons were evacuated from flooded areas. Three fishing boats were sunk at Keelung, in northern Taiwan, and two boats were damaged.

On Sunday, the typhoon generated very heavy seas along Japan's Pacific coast. Forty-one Japanese were drowned, and 16 were missing.

Work Camp Hearing Friday

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A special House committee investigating the state corrections department's conservation camp program will hold a hearing Friday in Traverse City on work camps in northern Michigan.

Rep. George Cushingberry, D-Detroit, chairman of a House Corrections subcommittee, said the probe focuses on assaults on guards, the smuggling of narcotics and liquor, escapes and the assignment of violent and sex offenders to work camps.

The subcommittee will take testimony on conditions at the Hoxey, Lehman, Pelston, Pugsley and Sauble work camps. The hearing will be at the Grand Traverse County sheriff's department.

Eau Claire Has New Councilman

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire village council last night accepted the resignation of council Trustee Rick O. Staley and approved Robert F. Rode as his successor.

Staley, in a letter dated Aug. 7, said his job prevented him from fulfilling his duties as council trustee. He was elected to a four-year term in 1974.

Rode, 29, of 11 Aumack drive, will take Staley's place as chairman of the street committee and a member of the council's police committee.

He was one of three nominees to succeed Staley.

In other action, the council voted to annex to the village land the village sold to Shawnee Specialties, Inc., in July.

The village sold 3.1 acres to the die cast firm with the stipulation that the part of the land outside of the village limits would be annexed to the village. Both the business and the village want to extend sewer lines to the firm which is planning to put up a 50 by 120 foot steel building.

The council accepted the $547 bid from Indiana & Michigan Electric company for burying electric lines in Elizabeth park; discussed and referred to its police committee a personnel and policy proposal for the village police department; and set for 7 p.m., Monday, Aug. 23, a special hearing on the proposed village budget.

UMW Board To Meet Miners

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The United Mine workers Executive Board was scheduled to meet with miners here today in an effort to halt a four-week-old walkout that has shut down Appalachian and Midwestern coal mines.

The 25-member board decided during a three-and-a-half hour meeting Monday in Washington to come here to deal with the walkout strike.

Coloma Seeking Bids For New Floor In Gym

COLOMA — The Coloma school board last night approved seeking bids for replacing the Alwood gymnasium basketball floor extensively damaged during a July 20 rainstorm. Board members were told the floor could cost up to $32,000 to replace.

Ronald Clark, assistant superintendent of schools, said the floor was over 60 per cent buckled because of storm water which had seeped under the doors when outside drains could not handle the excess.

Clark said the storm caused varying degrees of damage at four other buildings. Blacktopping was undercut and caved in at the junior high and Washington elementary schools. The basement flooded at the Eaman school and water seeped under the doors flooding three classrooms at the seventh grade building, he said.

The board authorized seeking bids for two types of floors, with bids to be opened Aug. 23.

In other areas, the board approved a new master contract for teachers which provided for board payment of a teacher retirement fund contribution, but no base pay boost for teachers.

The contribution will equal five per cent of a teacher's pay. The no change in base pay rates did not cover automatic pay hikes provided for in a step schedule covering years of experience. The step hikes, or annual increments, amount to about $460 for each additional year of experience for teachers with a bachelor's degree. The automatic boost amounts to about $482 for teachers with master degrees.

The contract added another year to the step schedule to cover teachers with 14 years' experience.

Under the pay schedule, teachers with bachelor degrees will receive $9,187 to start. With 14 years experience, a teacher with a bachelor degree will be paid $15,618.

Last year, a teacher with 13 years experience and a bachelor's degree received $15,158.

Teachers with a master's degree will get $9,660 to start. The same teacher with 14 years experience would get $16,422. Last year, with 13 years, the teacher received $15,939.

The board approved a $1,000 expenditure for participating in a Career Awareness program, sponsored by the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

The program, lasting seven weeks, will enable Coloma freshmen and sophomores to visit Twin Cities area industries and businesses, in preparation for seeking jobs and careers in the various fields.

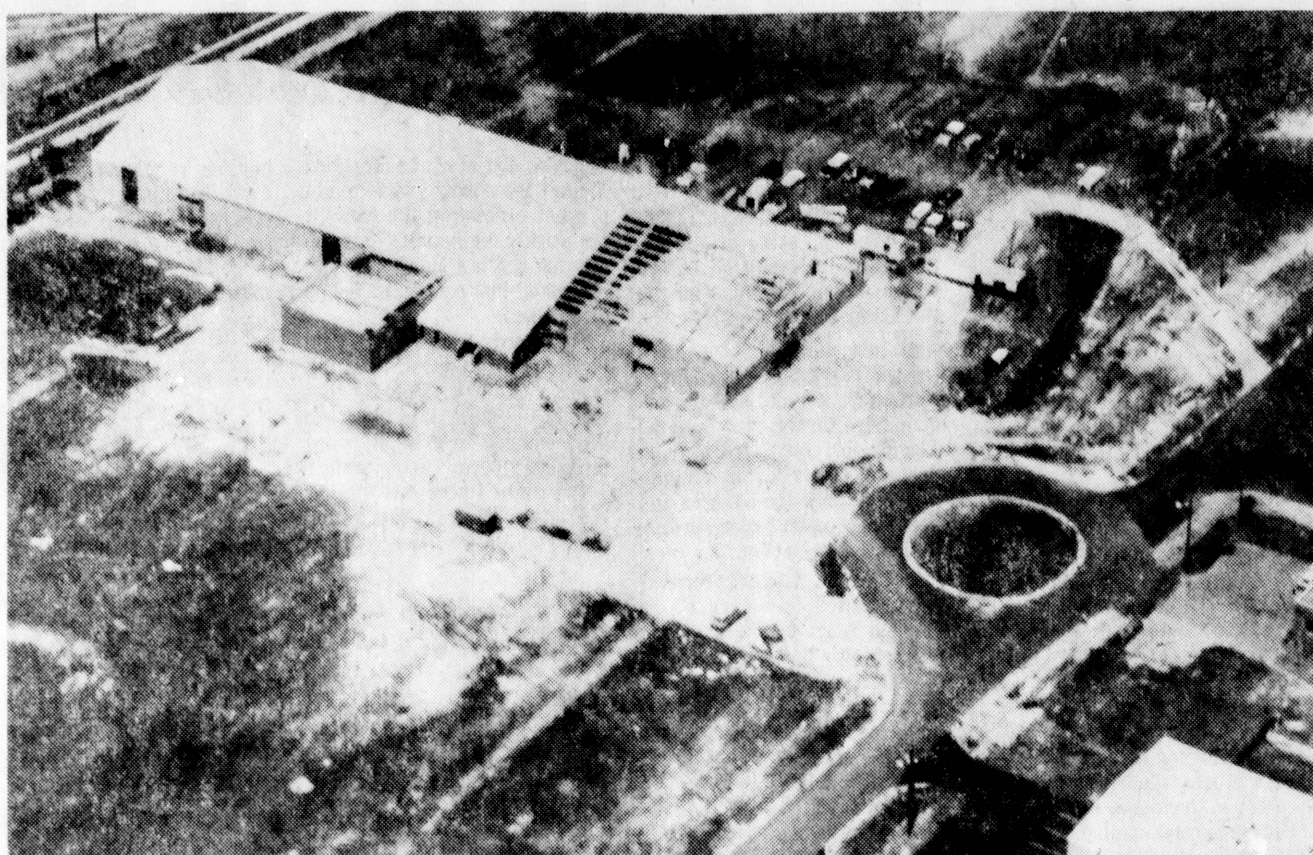

The board approved the creation of a gym attendant position and granted permission to fill the post. The hourly pay was set at $3, for eight hours of work per day, for 42 weeks. The attendant would be responsible for the supervision of the gymnasium area and the athletic field.

The board approved pay hikes for cafeteria employees, from funds raised through the hot lunch program. Hourly pay was set at $2.45 for helpers, $2.57 for bakers, and $3.09 for cook, plus five per cent retirement paid from the funds.

Last year's hourly pay for the same positions were $2.33, $2.45, and $2.94, respectively.

The board will meet Monday, Aug. 16, to hear recommendations from the Language Arts committee including the preparation of spelling lists for all grades in the school system.

The board approved required guidelines for free and reduced hot lunch meals.

TENNIS CENTER NEARS COMPLETION: This $600,000 tennis complex in St. Joseph township is approximately 75 per cent complete and scheduled for opening first week of September, according to Mike Brown, owner of House of Furniture and member of corporation constructing tennis club. South Shore

Raquet club, located on 2.8 acre site off new road, Tennis court, behind Continental Can Co., will include six indoor tennis courts and four outdoor courts, plus pro shop and locker facilities for men and women. Steel building is 350 by 120 feet. (Aerial photo by Adolph Hann)

BANGOR — About 40 per cent of the revenue sought by the Bangor school district through a special millage election Sept. 9 is earmarked for pay raises and increased employee benefits.

The details of how the additional revenue would be spent were announced at the Bangor school board meeting last night.

The special election, which asks voters to decide on a 2.42-mill property tax levy for one year, was approved at a special meeting two weeks ago.

According to figures released last night, $46,400 is earmarked for pay raises and $26,400 would be spent on increased hospitalization insurance.

The pay raises cover 90 certified and 57 non-certified employees. The hospitalization covers 110 employees.

The two amounts total $72,800, or 40 per cent of the $181,500 in additional revenue that would be raised if the millage passes.

Another $30,000 would be spent on hiring three more teachers needed because junior high and high school students will resume full-day class schedules next fall.

Two of the three are needed because state law requires study hall teachers to be certified, board members said. Last year, there were no study halls.

Another $78,700 is to be spent as follows: $34,000 for the purchase of two new buses; $20,000 for increased heat, water and electricity costs; $5,000 for boiler repairs in the elementary and high school heating system; $7,000 for unemployment payments; $6,700 for purchasing workbooks and textbooks; and $6,000 to provide equal sports for girls as required by law.

Board members said the additional millage, if passed, would raise about $67,760 locally and would result in additional state aid payments of about $113,740.

Otto Watkins Jr., school board president, said the estimated $20,000 in increased heat and electricity costs is for the new junior high school building which opens this fall.

He said the exact amount of pay increases for teachers and other employees will not be known until after teacher contract negotiations are concluded. The negotiations are not expected to end until after the Sept. 9 millage vote, he said.

In other areas, it was announced that the first day of school this fall will be Tuesday, Sept. 7, except for high school students enrolled at the Van Buren vocational skills center, in Lawrence. Classes begin there Sept. 1.

Acting Supt. Fred Stap told the board that the district had qualified for a $48,000 state grant because of low student scores last year on the state assessment tests. Last year, the district had received $56,000 under the same program, he said.

The money is to be used to rehire three or four teachers laid off last year.

After the meeting, Watkins said the board had instructed Stap to look into whether any further board action will be needed on the results of a recently released state audit of the school district.

The audit was performed by the state treasury department at the request of Dr. John Porter, director of the state department of education. It concluded that Bangor's former superintendent, Howard Beyer, had used his position to show favorable treatment to members of his family employed by the district.

Watkins said the state attorney general is now reviewing the audit report.

Watkins said he believed the school board should not involve itself in seeking any criminal charges as a result of the report.

He said the board had decided to wait until the beginning of 1977 before it accepts applications for Beyer's replacement.

In the meantime, Stap will continue as acting superintendent, he said.

Watkins said Beyer had waived his rights to a hearing on a tenure charge brought against him in May. The charge alleged that Beyer had not informed the school board of an impending transfer of a 240-acre farm to the Lawrence school district.

Watkins said the board's charge and Beyer's waiver had been filed as a matter of public record and no further board action is expected.

Beyer was fired as superintendent in June as a result of 13 other tenure charges, but he was allowed to continue as a teacher.

Two Ford Choices For Veep Say 'No'

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As Ronald Reagan pressed President Ford to name his running mate, two senators Ford was considering for vice president said they don't want the second spot on the Republican ticket.

The two, Edward Brooke of Massachusetts and William Brock of Tennessee, said they would prefer to remain in the Senate rather than undertake a national campaign.

Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas and Missouri Gov. Christopher Bond also revealed Monday that they have been asked for personal information by the White House as part of Ford's effort to screen possible running mates.

The five joined Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa and Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson on the list of those who have admitted White House inquiries about their health and finances.

In Kansas City, Mo., where the GOP convention opens next Monday, Reagan forces stepped up their efforts to get Ford to name a running mate, as Reagan did in picking Pennsylvania Sen. Richard Schweiker.

John Sears, Reagan's campaign manager, asked the Republican National Committee rules panel to adopt a convention rule to force Ford to name his vice presidential choice before the balloting for the presidential nomination begins Aug. 18.

"The delegates certainly do have the right to know the whole ticket in advance," said Sears. This would force every candidate for the nomination to be judged on the quality of his recommended nominee, and hence be responsible for it."

The panel rejected Sears' proposal, but the question is certain to come up again before the convention's own rules committee, composed completely of delegates.

President Ford has said he will not name his choice until after he is nominated. In Kansas City, Ford strategists say one reason they are resisting any move to force an early disclosure of the President's choice for the No. 2 job is the longshot possibility that Reagan might end up as Ford's running mate.

That couldn't happen if the choice had to be disclosed before the presidential nomination. These Ford supporters say they expect some Reagan delegates to vote against Sears' proposal in order to keep the door open in case Reagan seeks the vice presidential nomination.

Brock said in a letter to Ford that he would prefer to continue his campaign this fall for election to a second term from Tennessee.

"The senator feels obligated to the people of Tennessee to run for the Senate," said Brock spokesman Susan Hammond. "He sent a letter to the President asking that his name be withdrawn."

Brooke, the only black member of the Senate, gave similar reasons:

"I am pleased by the President's inclusion of my name among others as a possible vice presidential running mate, but I am committed to running for re-election for the U.S. Senate in 1978 where I feel I can best serve the country, the people of Massachusetts and my party."

Queries by The Associated Press on Monday turned up four others who have been mentioned as possible GOP vice presidential contenders but who said they have not been contacted by the White House.

Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Carla Hills, Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland, Sen. Lowell Weicker of Connecticut and Sen. James Buckley of New York said through spokesmen that they had not heard from Ford on the vice presidency.

Spokesmen for three other Republican politicians named by some as possible contenders said they knew of no communications from the White House about the vice presidency. Those three are Treasury Secretary William Simon, Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld and Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois.

And two others mentioned as possibilities — Vice President Nelson Rockefeller and Washington Gov. Dan Evans — refused to say whether they had been asked for information.

"I haven't discussed who's on the list and who isn't on the list," the vice president said. "Whatever discussions I have had with (Ford) are on a totally personal, confidential basis, which is as it should be."

Evans said through his press secretary that he would not comment.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said last week in announcing the beginning of the contacts with possible running mates that each one had been asked to keep the contact confidential.

Thermometer Maps Mars Landing Site

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A "thermometer" that takes Mars' temperature from hundreds of miles out in space may be just the thing to save Viking 2 from a fatal tumble among rocks and cliffs, say project officials.

The infrared thermal mapper (IRTM) will be pressed into service during the second Mars probe's long and intense search for a safe place to land, project officials said Monday.

The orbiting Viking ship, with its lander attached, will circle the planet daily and take photographs. There are three general areas where the three-legged landing craft could touch down early in September, but each must be thoroughly studied for safe spots.

The photos, however, are useless in looking for hazards smaller than a few hundred feet. Before Viking 1's landing July 20, radar beams from earth were used to "feel" the surface for large slopes and boulders.

The pictures and the radar data together helped Viking 1 land safely.

But Viking 2's sites are farther north in latitudes of Mars that are unreachable by earthbased radar, B. Gentry Lee, director of science analysis and mission planning, explained Monday.

So the IRTM will measure temperatures of terrain in the site areas, noting how they respond to temperature change. During a Martian day, boulders have a different thermal profile from sand. Sand reaches higher daytime temperatures and lower nighttime temperatures than does a field of boulders.

The IRTM is in fact a kind of telescope that gathers infrared radiation from small sections of the Martian surface the way a telescope gathers visible light rays. Infrared rays are invisible, but the instrument "sees" temperature differences by detecting more infrared radiation from a hot area than a cooler one.

Pro-ERA Lobby Banned

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The International Women's Year Commission was ordered today to stop lobbying on behalf of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert D. Morgan issued a temporary restraining order to prevent the commission, created by Congress more than a year ago, from using federal money to promote the proposed amendment, which would ban discrimination by sex.

"It doesn't seem to me appropriate for this commission to widely publicize its intention to do everything in its power to bring about ratification of this controversial legislation," Morgan said.

Morgan's ruling came on a request by Stop ERA, a national organization headed by Phyllis Schlafly of Alton.

Mrs. Schlafly and Elaine Donnelly of Detroit, Stop ERA chairman in Michigan, argued that anti-ERA groups were consulted in the creation of the commission's policies and that federal advisory commissions were prohibited from using their money for lobbying purposes.

Queries by The Associated Press on Monday turned up four others who have been mentioned as possible GOP vice presidential contenders but who said they have not been contacted by the White House.

Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Carla Hills, Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland, Sen. Lowell Weicker of Connecticut and Sen. James Buckley of New York said through spokesmen that they had not heard from Ford on the vice presidency.

Two Ford Choices For Veep Say 'No'

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As Ronald Reagan pressed President Ford to name his running mate, two senators Ford was considering for vice president said they don't want the second spot on the Republican ticket.

The two, Edward Brooke of Massachusetts and William Brock of Tennessee, said they would prefer to remain in the Senate rather than undertake a national campaign.

Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas and Missouri Gov. Christopher Bond also revealed Monday that they have been asked for personal information by the White House as part of Ford's effort to screen possible running mates.

The five joined Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa and Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson on the list of those who have admitted White House inquiries about their health and finances.

In Kansas City, Mo., where the GOP convention opens next Monday, Reagan forces stepped up their efforts to get Ford to name a running mate, as Reagan did in picking Pennsylvania Sen. Richard Schweiker.

John Sears, Reagan's campaign manager, asked the Republican National Committee rules panel to adopt a convention rule to force Ford to name his vice presidential choice before the balloting for the presidential nomination begins Aug. 18.

"The delegates certainly do have the right to know the whole ticket in advance," said Sears. This would force every candidate for the nomination to be judged on the quality of his recommended nominee, and hence be responsible for it."

The panel rejected Sears' proposal, but the question is certain to come up again before the convention's own rules committee, composed completely of delegates.

President Ford has said he will not name his choice until after he is nominated. In Kansas City, Ford strategists say one reason they are resisting any move to force an early disclosure of the President's choice for the No. 2 job is the longshot possibility that Reagan might end up as Ford's running mate.

That couldn't happen if the choice had to be disclosed before the presidential nomination. These Ford supporters say they expect some Reagan delegates to vote against Sears' proposal in order to keep the door open in case Reagan seeks the vice presidential nomination.

Brock said in a letter to Ford that he would prefer to continue his campaign this fall for election to a second term from Tennessee.

"The senator feels obligated to the people of Tennessee to run for the Senate," said Brock spokesperson Susan Hammond. "He sent a letter to the President asking that his name be withdrawn."

Brooke, the only black member of the Senate, gave similar reasons:

"I am pleased by the President's inclusion of my name among others as a possible vice presidential running mate, but I am committed to running for re-election for the U.S. Senate in 1978 where I feel I can best serve the country, the people of Massachusetts and my party."

Queries by The Associated Press on Monday turned up four others who have been mentioned as possible GOP vice presidential contenders but who said they have not been contacted by the White House.

Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Carla Hills, Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland, Sen. Lowell Weicker of Connecticut and Sen. James Buckley of New York said through spokesmen that they had not heard from Ford on the vice presidency.

Spokesmen for three other Republican politicians named by some as possible contenders said they knew of no communications from the White House about the vice presidency. Those three are Treasury Secretary William Simon, Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld and Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois.

And two others mentioned as possibilities — Vice President Nelson Rockefeller and Washington Gov. Dan Evans — refused to say whether they had been asked for information.

"I haven't discussed who's on the list and who isn't on the list," the vice president said. "Whatever discussions I have had with (Ford) are on a totally personal, confidential basis, which is as it should be."

Evans said through his press secretary that he would not comment.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said last week in announcing the beginning of the contacts with possible running mates that each one had been asked to keep the contact confidential.

Thermometer Maps Mars Landing Site

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A "thermometer" that takes Mars' temperature from hundreds of miles out in space may be just the thing to save Viking 2 from a fatal tumble among rocks and cliffs, say project officials.

The infrared thermal mapper (IRTM) will be pressed into service during the second Mars probe's long and intense search for a safe place to land, project officials said Monday.

The orbiting Viking ship, with its lander attached, will circle the planet daily and take photographs. There are three general areas where the three-legged landing craft could touch down early in September, but each must be thoroughly studied for safe spots.

The photos, however, are useless in looking for hazards smaller than a few hundred feet. Before Viking 1's landing July 20, radar beams from earth were used to "feel" the surface for large slopes and boulders.

The pictures and the radar data together helped Viking 1 land safely.

But Viking 2's sites are farther north in latitudes of Mars that are unreachable by earthbased radar. B. Gentry Lee, director of science analysis and mission planning, explained Monday.

So the IRTM will measure temperatures of terrain in the site areas, noting how they respond to temperature change. During a Martian day, boulders have a different thermal profile from sand. Sand reaches higher daytime temperatures and lower nighttime temperatures than does a field of boulders.

The IRTM is in fact a kind of telescope that gathers infrared radiation from small sections of the Martian surface the way a telescope gathers visible light rays. Infrared rays are invisible, but the instrument "sees" temperature differences by detecting more infrared radiation from a hot area than a cooler one.

Pro-ERA Lobby Banned

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The International Women's Year Commission was ordered today to stop lobbying on behalf of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert D. Morgan issued a temporary restraining order to prevent the commission, created by Congress more than a year ago, from using federal money to promote the proposed amendment, which would ban discrimination by sex.

"It doesn't seem to me appropriate for this commission to widely publicize its intention to do everything in its power to bring about ratification of this controversial legislation," Morgan said.

Morgan's ruling came on a request by Stop ERA, a national organization headed by Phyllis Schlafly of Altam.

Mrs. Schlafly and Elaine Donnelly of Detroit, Stop ERA chairman in Michigan, argued that anti-ERA groups were consulted in the creation of the commission's policies and that federal advisory commissions were prohibited from using their money for lobbying purposes.

Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Carla Hills, Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland, Sen. Lowell Weicker of Connecticut and Sen. James Buckley of New York said through spokesmen that they had not heard from Ford on the vice presidency.

Indiana Warden Resigns

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — Indiana State Prison Warden Leo Jenkins said Monday he is resigning, effective Sept. 15, to take the No. 2 job in the Kansas penal system.

Jenkins, 43, said he will become deputy secretary of the Kansas Correction Department, with direct supervision of five major penal facilities.

Assistant Warden Jack Duckworth will be acting warden at the Indiana prison after Jenkins leaves.

Jenkins has been warden at the Indiana maximum security institution since December 1974. Before that he was parole supervisor at the Colorado State Penitentiary at Canyon City.

His tenure in Indiana has been stormy. He arrived on the job shortly after an inmate walked off a prison honor farm and held three women hostage in a nearby farm house. Two of the women were killed.

The same week, three prisoners scaled the walls of the Michigan City institution and the next year two inmates seized control of the prison hospital and held five persons, including the prison doctor, hostage in a search for drugs. There were no injuries.

Jenkins himself was taken hostage last fall by six inmates who made an unsuccessful bid for freedom, only to be caught within two miles of the prison.

Jenkins has complained of a guard shortage that he says threatens security at the prison.

Training Must Be Tough, Says Rep. McCloskey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine Corps training should be "as tough as combat itself," even if some recruits are accidentally injured or killed, Rep. Paul McCloskey says.

McCloskey, a former Marine combat officer in the Korean War, cautioned against physical abuse of recruits, but he told a House panel on Monday, "The fact that some men will be injured or even killed in training is something we must accept."

Guerrillas Hit Troops, Buses

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Guerrillas attacked British troops and rioters hijacked more than 70 buses, trucks and cars and set fire to most of them in Roman Catholic districts of Belfast. The incidents occurred following the arrest of a woman leader of Provisional Sinn Féin, the legal political front for the outlawed Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing.

A sniper shot a British soldier in the stomach early today. Another soldier was badly injured when the armored personnel car in which he was riding was blown up. Snipers fired more than 100 shots at an army patrol taking down a barricade, but no casualties were reported.

controversial issues before them.

This was the preliminary indication as platform committee panels began digesting testimony taken earlier and talked about wording planks to offer the national convention a week from today.

Meanwhile, the full committee turned to testimony on jobs and the economy, especially to denunciations of Democratic proposals.

Treasury Secretary William Simon and several economists, some of them asked to appear before the platform committees by Ronald Reagan supporters, consider the Democratic proposals ruinously expensive.

James Lynn, director of the Office of Management and Budget, said Monday that major Democratic proposals on full employment and social services could require a 50 per cent increase in income taxes to finance.

Discussions by a subcommittee on defense and foreign affairs appeared to show a majority in favor of taking a position on the future of the Panama Canal, an item that had been omitted from an earlier working paper circulated among some delegates.

Reagan has made strong statements about retaining sovereignty over the canal. President Ford's administration insists there is no intention of sacrificing U.S. interests in the waterway, but officials have been speaking in more moderate terms than Reagan while conducting sensitive negotiations with Panama.

F.W. Streetman of Florida, a subcommittee member, remarked, "I am sure we are going to have a plank on strong defense and the Panama Canal — the problem is words."

In contrast, members of a panel on Human Rights and Responsibilities offered sharply differing proposals for a platform statement on abortion.

Delegate Joseph Usery of Oregon, a Baptist minister, called for support of a constitutional amendment defining human life as present from conception. V. Thomas Rice of Hawaii, however, said the platform, if it spoke on the subject, should support the Supreme Court decision sharply limiting authority of states to legislate against abortion. Richard Israel of Rhode Island suggested emphasizing responsibility for research and encouragement of alternatives to abortion.

REP. JOHN RHODES
House Minority Leader

Disagreement is expected also on the issue of women's rights, particularly over the Equal Rights Amendment.

Autos Entering Computer Age

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The horseless carriage will move into the computer age when an electronic spark timing system is installed in the 1977 Oldsmobile Toronado, General Motors President Elliott M. Estes said Monday.

Estes said the automobiles, scheduled to begin rolling off the assembly line in the fall, will be the first production car to use a microprocessor — an on-board digital computer.

Addressing the annual West Coast meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, Estes said:

"This advanced electronic system will continually adjust ignition timing for the best fuel economy, driveability and emissions performance under the broad range of driving conditions that our customers put their cars through."

He said the system, developed by GM's Oldsmobile and Delco-Remy divisions, will be called Microprocessed Sensing and Automatic Regulation — MISAR. He added it would be standard on the 1977 Toronado.

According to Estes, the MISAR could open the way to more advanced use of computerized systems in autos.

"We do know that once this new electronic technology is aboard our cars, it can then take on many other tasks. For instance, it can provide digital readouts for the driver. It can be adapted to diagnostic applications," he added.

Estes said the MISAR consists of two large-scale integrated circuits containing more than 20,000 transistors and other electronic components. The system also includes sensors on the engine which constantly measure engine vacuum, coolant temperature, engine speed and crankshaft position. 3

GM said the system performs thousands of operations a second to determine the best spark firing position, and then signals the electronic High Energy Ignition System's distributor to fire the spark at exactly the right instant."

State Not Liable For City Pensions

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

An attorney general's opinion Monday that the state is not liable for municipal retirement programs that can't meet their financial responsibilities produced a reaction from a lawyer in Benton Harbor's police-fire pension fund suit. Atty. Thomas Fette, who represents Benton Harbor firemen in a suit against the city, said he wasn't surprised by the opinion. But he added that pension plans are given some protection by the Michigan Constitution which states:

"The accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished, or impaired thereby."

Fette said a city should be considered a subdivision of the state.

Fette said Monday he was awaiting a copy of the opinion for complete details.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Monday the state is not bound to provide benefits promised by local retirement programs when local governments become insolvent and cannot provide benefits.

The opinion was sought by State Budget Director Gerald Miller whose office told The Herald-Palladium the opinion was requested for "purposes of clarifying a long standing question."

The spokesman said there are no municipal pension systems he knows of in the state that currently can't make payments.

Police and firemen are suing the City of Benton Harbor to get repayment with interest of $500,000 the city borrowed from their pension fund a year ago because of a city cash shortage.

Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns has ruled borrowing from the pension fund illegal. He ordered the city to repay it and is expected to rule Friday if the fund can place a lien on city tax collections.

Benton Harbor also has borrowed $500,000 from the general pension fund that provides retirements for other city employees.

Both pension plans are considered vastly underfunded (an actuary's report said police-fire was $4.4 million). However, both funds continue to make monthly payments to employees.

Underfunding means there isn't enough money, according to actuarial estimates, to meet future needs.

City Manager James Peoples Jr. said borrowing from pension funds to meet temporary cash shortages started before he became city manager, and no money has been borrowed from the funds since he took the job.

However, Judge Byrns has reserved a ruling whether Peoples should be cited for contempt for failing to provide a complete accounting of the fund to the court.

Board Ratifies New Bridgman School Contract

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman school board last night ratified a master teachers' contract calling for a six per cent base pay hike this school year and a seven per cent jump the following year. The contract had previously been ratified by members of the Bridgman Education association.

Based on the new contract, a first-year teacher with a bachelor's degree will make $9,835 in 1976-77 and $10,523 in 1977-78. Last year the starting pay was $9,278.

Under a step schedule covering years of experience, the teacher with a bachelor's degree and 12 years experience will make $14,382 in 1976-77 and $15,389 in 1977-78 school year. The top last year was $13,568.

Teachers with master's degrees will receive $10,661 in the new school year and $11,407 in the 1977-78 school year to start. Last year the starting pay was $10,058. With 13 years experience the teacher with a master's will make $15,822 in the 1976-77 year and $16,716 in 1977-78. Last year top pay for a master's degree teacher was $14,738.

Teachers with a master's degree plus 45 hours of additional credit and having completed the 13 steps on the pay scale will receive $16,862 in 1976-77 and $18,042 in 1977-78. Last year their pay was $15,908.

In other areas, the board gave final approval to its general operating fund budget for 1976-77. The budget calls for expenditures of $1,870,146 and revenue of $2,146,270, leaving an anticipated surplus of $476,124. If realized, this surplus, when combined with last year's would leave a total surplus of $861,404.

The district has the lowest millage rate in the state and receives no state aid.

The board accepted the low bid of Lockshore Farms, Kalamazoo, to supply milk for the school lunch program in 1976-77. Their bid was nine cents for a half-pint of white milk and 9.7 cents for a half-pint of chocolate milk. McDonald Dairy of Benton Harbor was the only other bidder.

The board also approved paying for student accident insurance to cover all students. The policy, through Mutual of Omaha's Bridgman office, will cost $1.25 per student, or about $1,020 based on last year's fourth Friday enrollment. In the past the insurance was optional and paid by the student. In other areas, the board approved several changes in the school athletic policy, including a provision allowing high school students to participate in the formation of policies.

The new changes include: — Varsity athletes and coaches will adopt policies for each individual sport, subject to approval by school board.

— Once approved, the regulations will apply to all students in grades 9-12 who participate in the sport.

— The policy must be signed by the athletes and the coach and copies of the policy will be mailed to the parents of the student participant.

— The athletic council will now include a male and female varsity sport athlete.

— The policy for Reed middle school students will be drawn up by the principal, athletic director and coaches, subject to approval by the board.

In the past, the policy was drawn up by school officials, and did not include students.

Dr. David Lechne school superintendent, announced that he would meet with any club, organization or citizen group to discuss a special election to be held Sept. 13 on a proposed $2.6 million building bond issue.

The board said it would investigate the cost of building a sun deck for the community swimming pool requested by Stanley Markavitch, pool director. The deck would be 30-foot by 70-foot, and only accessible through the pool.

The request came after Markavitch told the board that while summer attendance at the pool has dropped this year, overall attendance had increased from last year. He said the deck would help to improve summer attendance.

Legion Probers Eye '74 Deaths Of Odd Fellows

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Health investigators are checking for a possible connection between the recent outbreak of "legionnaires disease" and an illness that killed three to 10 persons shortly after they attended a 1974 Odd Fellows Convention in Philadelphia. Dr. Dennis Lacey, state commissioner for health planning, said the Odd Fellows outbreak involved symptoms of a nonspecific viral pneumonia.

Doctors have used a similar description for the unknown disease that has killed 27 and affected 128 others among the more than 10,000 who were at an American Legion convention July 21-24 in Philadelphia.

Dr. David Fraser, an investigator for the federal Center for Disease Control, said Monday that reports from the Odd Fellows indicated there were 17 cases and three deaths from the illness.

"There were probably 12 to 18 cases," said Samuel Patterson of Philadelphia, who was chairman of the committee that set up the 1974 convention of the men's fraternal organization. "We lost in the neighborhood of 40."

Fraser said the CDC had started phoning persons who took part in the 1974 convention to get further details.

The Odd Fellows convention, in September 1974, attracted between 3,000 and 3,500 to two of the same hotels that the American Legion used last month.

All of the victims of the Odd Fellows illness were in apparent good health and became sick several days after the convention ended, officials of the organization said. The illness that afflicted the legionnaires followed the same pattern.

The possible connection between the two outbreaks was called to the attention of state and federal health investigators by officials of the Odd Fellows. Medical investigators, meanwhile, continued interviewing legionnaires throughout Pennsylvania and examining hotels and other areas in Philadelphia where the legionnaires gathered.

After one week of intensive investigation, the source of the legion outbreak remains a mystery. The medical researchers have all but ruled out viruses, bacteria or a fungus. They are focusing on a toxin, or poison. Among those being considered are heavy metals, insecticides and herbicides.

In any case, Odd Fellows officials never contacted health officials until they heard of the legionnaire's disease.

In the investigation of the legionnaire's disease, thousands of persons who attended the convention but did not become ill answered Health Department questionnaires in legion posts around the state Monday night.

Fraser said investigators now are concentrating on: —The ice and beverages used by legionnaires.

—Rooms where meetings were held, elevators and other areas used by the conventioners, plus common activities at the sites.

—Activities along Philadelphia's Broad Street where the legionnaires paraded.

—The date of July 23, the day when 10 persons who attended the convention only one day and later became ill were in the city.

The data from the nonvictims will be compared with that from 27 selected victims who survived.

Council President Indicted

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — The president of Highland Park's City Council and an unemployed musician have been indicted by a federal grand jury for allegedly taking nearly $3,000 in bribes from a demolition contractor. The indictments Monday charged Council President Damon White, who is also an elementary school principal, with one count of conspiracy and five counts of extortion against William Jordan of Jordan Wrecking Co., Detroit. Indicted with White was Bill Johnson of Highland Park, an unemployed clarinet player also known as Shaun Terrell Jackson, who was accused of taking $400 from Jordan.

Chrysler Reduces Warranty

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corporation, after providing a liberal owners' warranty for the past two years, has cut back coverage on its 1977 models to the traditional 12 months or 12,000 miles. The automaker confirmed Monday that it will return to the 12 and 12 policy with the beginning of shipments of the new models from its assembly plants.

The accounting firm of Herkner, Smiths, Miskill & Merrifield was selected to perform audits on the city's financial records for the 1975-76 fiscal year. Peoples said the city-based firm would receive $26,876 for its services.

Bills totaling $1,465,191 which were supposed to have been considered in commission meetings from May 24 to Aug. 2 were approved for payment, although Peoples admitted they were already paid when questioned by Commissioner Alfred Williams.

Williams voted not to pay the bills. After the meeting Williams told a reporter his opposition was based on a commission policy to review all vouchers for an explanation of what is owed, who must be paid and what services or goods were purchased. Peoples told The Herald-Palladium in June he was acting under precedent and by authorization of the commission prior to the recall election.

A second list of bills totaling $87,983 that was scheduled to be presented at last night's meeting was also approved with Commissioner Charles Yarbrough abstaining.

Wright Brothers Excavating Co., Eau Claire, was awarded a $1,100 contract to tear down a house and garage at 449-451 Maple street.

Woman Is Struck; Ballplayer Charged

Benton Harbor police said a 15-year-old boy was to be petitioned to juvenile court on a charge of assault and battery after a woman said she was struck several times by a youth Monday.

Alice Christianson, 40, of 687 McGuigan street, Benton Harbor, sustained bruises, but did not require hospital treatment. She told police the incident occurred about 4:20 p.m. in the parking lot at St. Paul Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, 380 South McCord street.

She said she asked several boys playing ball in the lot to play across the street because church windows might be broken. She reported she slapped a boy who threw a rock at her when she walked away and the boy struck her with his fists.

The boy was turned over to the custody of his parents pending a juvenile court appearance, police reported.

A Benton Harbor woman told Benton township police that $240 was taken from her purse by a man who forced her into his car and struck her several times.

Lavern Randall, 367 North Winans street, said she had returned home from work about 6:30 p.m. when the man, whom she recognized, forced her into his car and drove to

Legion Probers Eye '74 Deaths Of Odd Fellows

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Health investigators are checking for a possible connection between the recent outbreak of "legionnaires disease" and an illness that killed three to 10 persons shortly after they attended a 1974 Odd Fellows Convention in Philadelphia. Dr. Denn Lucey, state commissioner for health planning, said the Odd Fellows outbreak involved symptoms of a nonspecific viral pneumonia.

Doctors have used a similar description for the unknown disease that has killed 27 and affected 128 others among the more than 10,000 who were at an American Legion convention July 21-24 in Philadelphia.

Dr. David Fraser, an investigator for the federal Center for Disease Control, said Monday that reports from the Odd Fellows indicated there were 17 cases and three deaths from the illness.

"There were probably 12 to 18 cases," said Samuel Patterson of Philadelphia, who was chairman of the committee that set up the 1974 convention of the men's fraternal organization. "We lost in the neighborhood of 10."

Fraser said the CDC had started phoning persons who took part in the 1974 convention to get further details.

The Odd Fellows convention, in September 1974, attracted between 3,000 and 3,500 to two of the same hotels that the American Legion used last month.

All of the victims of the Odd Fellows illness were in apparent good health and became sick several days after the convention ended, officials of the organization said. The illness that afflicted the legionnaires followed the same pattern.

The possible connection between the two outbreaks was called to the attention of state and federal health investigators by officials of the Odd Fellows. Medical investigators, meanwhile, continued interviewing legionnaires throughout Pennsylvania and examining hotels and other areas in Philadelphia where the legionnaires gathered.

After one week of intensive investigation, the source of the legion outbreak remains a mystery. The medical researchers have all but ruled out viruses, bacteria or a fungus. They are focusing on a toxin, or poison. Among those being considered are heavy metals, insecticides and herbicides.

In any case, Odd Fellows officials never contacted health officials until they heard of the legionnaire's disease.

In the investigation of the legionnaire's disease, thousands of persons who attended the convention but did not become ill answered Health Department questionnaires in legion posts around the state Monday night. —The ice and beverages used by legionnaires. —Rooms where meetings were held, elevators and other areas used by the conventioners, plus common activities at the sites.

—Activities along Philadelphia's Broad Street where the legionnaires paraded. —The date of July 23, the day when 10 persons who attended the convention only one day and later became ill were in the city.

The data from the nonvictims will be compared with that from 27 selected victims who survived.

Woman Is Struck; Ballplayer Charged

Benton Harbor police said a 15-year-old boy was to be petitioned to juvenile court on a charge of assault and battery after a woman said she was struck several times by a youth Monday.

Alice Christianson, 40, of 687 McGuigan street, Benton Harbor, sustained bruises, but did not require hospital treatment. She told police the incident occurred about 4:20 p.m. in the parking lot at St. Paul Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, 380 South McCord street.

She said she asked several boys playing ball in the lot to play across the street because church windows might be broken. She reported she slapped a boy who threw a rock at her when she walked away and the boy struck her with his fists.

The boy was turned over to the custody of his parents pending a juvenile court appearance, police reported.

A Benton Harbor woman told Benton township police that $240 was taken from her purse by a man who forced her into his car and struck her several times.

Lavern Randall, 367 North Winans street, said she had returned home from work about 6:30 p.m. when the man, whom she recognized, forced her into his car and drove to the township where he hit her and took the money. She reported she was able to flee from the car when the man stopped for a red light at the intersection of Britain avenue and Pipestone street in the city. She was not injured seriously, police reported.

Benton township police said a man was arrested early today on four charges after police chased a motorcycle at high speeds for several blocks. Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of fleeing and eluding police, reckless driving, driving with a revoked operator's license and probation violation was William Allen Newton, 22, of 1608 Sorter avenue, Benton township.

Patrolman Kim Fowler said he stopped a cycle that had no headlight at the intersection of North Euclid avenue and Lawrence drive, Benton Heights. Fowler said the cycle drove off as he was getting out of his patrol car. He said the cycle turned into a field on South Euclid where it was abandoned after smashing into a culvert. Fowler said Newton was located in a field in the 1300 block of Whitney street after police received a tip.

St. Joseph police said a car reported stolen Monday morning had been impounded Sunday afternoon by Berrien sheriff's officers after it was involved in a hit and run accident.

City police said the car, a 1971 Oldsmobile Cutlass, was reported stolen from Ganz Transfer and Storage, 1232 Broadway. Police said the car was being stored for a serviceman stationed overseas.

Sheriff's officers said the car was involved in a non-injury accident about 3 p.m. Sunday on US-33 at Central avenue, Lake Michigan Beach. Hagar township. Officers reported four men fled from the auto after the accident.

An aircraft communications road, valued at $450, was reported stolen Monday from a truck parked in a garage at Ross field, Benton Harbor police said.

Miss Hearst has admitted her role in the May 16, 1974, crime spree which led to charges against all three, but she said she was an unwilling captive of the Harrises and the Symbionese Liberation Army.

She has said she sprayed a Los Angeles sporting goods store with machine-gun fire to free William Harris after he was stopped for shoplifting. The prosecution said the trio then commandeered a van and car to escape, the basis for the other charges.

The panel reduced the most serious charge — kidnapping for the purpose of robbery — to simple kidnapping, sparing the Harrises a mandatory life sentence.

The jury also reduced two charges of armed robbery to simple car theft but convicted the Harrises on five firearms violation charges.

In addition to the possible maximum life sentence on the robbery conviction, the couple could receive one to 25 years in prison on each of the two kidnapping convictions.

However, they still face an Alameda County criminal complaint of kidnapping Miss Hearst in February 1974, although no date for arraignment has been set. Moments after the verdict, were 228,000 Connecticut residents without power today, officials said. Other reports indicated 25,000 persons in Rhode Island, 60,000 on Long Island, and 10,000 in New Jersey were without power.

Some boats were overturned in the harbor at Sayville, on the south coast of Long Island. Police reported a portion of the Merrit Parkway in Connecticut was closed because of falling trees. And a four-block section of the famed boardwalk in Atlantic City, N.J., was torn up by the surf.

The first fatality was the death of Carol Mayer, struck by a falling tree as she walked with a friend in eastern Long Island community of Wading River. The friend was seriously injured.

Several earlier auto deaths, including five in a crash on the North Carolina-Virginia line and one in New Jersey, were attributed to rain-slicked highways.

Allegan Mother Drowns

ALLEGAN — A 32-year-old woman on a swimming outing with her three children apparently drowned in Dumont lake about six miles north of here yesterday afternoon, according to Allegan sheriff's deputies.

The body of Mrs. Ellis (Nancy) Charles, route 2, Dorris, was pulled from the lake about 2:30 p.m. yesterday, deputies said.

She was pronounced dead at the scene by a deputy medical examiner and an autopsy was scheduled for today, officers said, to determine cause of death.

Officers credited a Grandville man, Jack Sheridan, 35, with rescuing Mrs. Charles' 10-year-old daughter Cheryl who had been in the water with her.

Deputies said Sheridan heard the girl screaming and swam out to rescue her. She and her mother had been about 50 feet from shore in water seven to eight feet deep.

After getting the girl safely to shore, Sheridan then returned and pulled in Mrs. Charles' body which he had seen floating face down, officers said. Efforts to revive her at the scene were unsuccessful.

The woman had gone to the lake on a swimming outing with her daughter and two sons, Ellis Jr., age 9, and Robert, age 8. The two boys had remained near the shore and were not injured, officers said.

Mrs. Charles' husband, Ellis, was at a National Guard summer camp, officers said.

There have been two other drownings in Allegan county this year.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Charles were incomplete this morning at the Gorden funeral home, Hopkins branch.

Pirate Youngster Fires No-Hitter

'Candy Man' Gives Treat

PITTSBURGH (AP) — It was "Candy Night" at Three Rivers Stadium and Pittsburgh Pirate left-hander John Candelaria gave everyone a treat.

The first 10,000 fans entering the stadium Monday night received a free candy bar in honor of the occasion and Candelaria followed that up by pitching a 2-0, no-hitter over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I've been dreaming about this since I was five years old," said the 22-year-old pitcher known as "The Candy Man" to Pirate fans. "I don't know if I'll come down. It's going to take a while to realize what's happened."

Only in his second major league season, Candelaria, 11-4, became the first Pirate pitcher to throw a no-hitter in Pittsburgh since Nick Maddux accomplished the feat at old Exposition Park in 1907.

He extended Los Angeles' losing streak to six games as he walked one batter and struck out seven. With the exception of the third inning, Candelaria retired the Dodgers in order.

A walk to Steve Yeager and two Pirate errors loaded the bases before Candelaria got Bill Russell to ground out to end the inning.

In the first inning, Al Oliver made a running grab of Dave Lopes' fly ball and Dave Parker made a shoestring catch of Ted Sizemore's sinking liner to snuff out possible hits.

Frank Taveras caught a line drive off Sizemore's bat in the sixth and Oliver ranged far to his left to make a running catch of Ron Cey's fly ball an inning later.

The last out in the ninth was also the last threat to the no-hitter. Russell blooped a fly to center that Oliver gloved after nearly colliding with Taveras at shortstop.

"I looked out and thought, 'That's a heck of a way to lose it,'" Candelaria said.

When Oliver made the catch, Candelaria jumped into the air and the celebration began.

His teammates made a path of white towels extending from the clubhouse door to Candalaria's locker and added a few candy bars along the way to keep up the spirit of "Candy Night."

Candelaria sat down, opened a can of beer and promised it wouldn't be his last.

"I'm gonna drink beer all night," he said with a broad grin. "I don't think anyone can blame me."

In other National League games, the Houston Astros routed the St. Louis Cardinals 13-4 and the Montreal Expos ripped the San Francisco Giants 2-1. In the American League, the Kansas City Royals beat the New York Yankees 8-2; the Texas Rangers crushed the Detroit Tigers 8-1 and the Cleveland Indians turned back the Chicago White Sox 4-2.

Cesar Cedeno drilled a home run, triple, double and single and knocked in five runs to help Houston beat St. Louis. Three of Cedeno's RBI came on a double in the seventh inning and snapped a 2-2 tie.

Jose Morales' pinch-hit, ground-rule double with two out in the bottom of the ninth drove in pinch-runner Jerry White from third base to give Montreal its victory over San Francisco. Morales slammed the pitch from losing pitcher Jim Barr, 10-8, on one bounce over the fence in right-center field for his 16th pinch-hit this season, a club record.

Amos Otis cracked a home run and two doubles while Dennis Leonard coasted to his 14th victory as Kansas City clubbed New York. The Royals pounded

New York starter Ken Holtzman, 8-8, for all their runs and nine hits in the first four innings before Grant Jackson, Dick Tidrow and Sparky Lyle came on in relief.

Roberts, a pitcher, and Bob Lemon, a pitcher. Posthumously inducted were Oscar Charleston of the Negro League and Roger Connor, a hitting star. (AP Wirephoto)

Roberts' Ability, Desire Recalled

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Eddie Sawyer, the former college professor who managed the 1950 Philadelphia Phillies to the National League pennant, came here to see one of his Whiz Kids inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame.

"Late in '48 I knew he'd make it big," said Sawyer following the induction of Robin Roberts and five others into the Hall of Fame Monday. "We brought him up from Wilmington (Del.) of the old Interstate League. One of our coaches, Cy Perkins, who knew pitching, watched him pitch two games and said, 'This kid can't miss.'"

Sawyer added, "He had ability and desire. He wanted to pitch every day. If we had 20 players like him there would have been no stopping us. He made my job easy."

The former Ithaca College professor said he was the one who started counting pitches thrown by his pitchers. "Robbie was smooth and fast with great control. He was remarkable. Many times he threw only 70 to 75 pitches a game."

"He was a good athlete," Sawyer said. "That's what it takes to be a good pitcher." Of the present day players, he compared Roberts with Jim Kaat of the old Phillies, a hard worker who doesn't throw many pitches.

Sawyer pointed out that Roberts pitched six games in 16 days in 1950 as the Phillies pulled out the NL pennant on the last day (a loss would have forced a playoff with Brooklyn) and met the New York Yankees in the World Series.

Roberts won 20 and lost 11 in 1950, his second full season in the majors. He went on to post 20 wins or more the next five years despite playing for poor clubs. He won 288 games during 19 seasons and said he wasn't upset that he never reached the magic 300-victory mark. "I stayed in the majors until I was 40 and did the best I could. I'm just thrilled to be inducted here."

The big right-hander also pitched for Baltimore, Houston and the Chicago Cubs before calling it a career. He also lost 245 games and served up 302 home runs balls.

"I wanted to invite every player to who hit a homer off me here today," said Roberts, now 49 and in the brokerage business in the Philadelphia area, "but they said Cooperstown wasn't big enough."

Another top right-hander of the 1950s, Bob Lemon, also was inducted after being elected by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Fred Lindstrom, third baseman for John McGraw's New York Giants, umpire Cal Hubbard and pre-1900 home run king Roger Connor — all voted in by the Veterans Committee — and outfielder Oscar Charleston — elected by the Negro Leagues Committee — were the other members added Monday, bringing the total to 157.

Lemon, who spent his career with the Cleveland Indians after failing to hit well enough to make it as an outfielder-third baseman, won 20 or more games seven times and helped the Indians win American League pennants in 1948 and 1954. He had a lifetime mark of 207-128.

"It's downhill from here on," said Lemon. "I feel so good that I'd like to thank the guys (sports writers) who didn't vote for me."

Steelers Slog Past Eagles, 14-7

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It was the kind of night a guy wouldn't even send his mother-in-law out in: torrential rain and wind gusts up to 41 miles per hour from Hurricane Belle.

But the elements didn't stop 16,823 fans from watching the action at Veterans Stadium Monday night as the Pittsburgh Steelers slogged their way to a 14-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The National Football League preseason game proved nothing, since both coach Dick Vermeil of the Eagles and Chuck Noll of the Steelers were unable to evaluate the young talent striving to make both teams.

The artificial surface was soaked, puddles dotting the field. Winds and sheets of rain swept through the stadium.

"I thought the winner tonight (Monday) was Hurricane Belle," said a disgusted Noll after his team drove 72 yards on nine running plays for the winning touchdown scored early in the fourth quarter.

"It was a very difficult game because the circumstances to look at people were less than favorable," said Noll. "You really didn't even get a chance to work on a rainy day offense, because usually it rains only a little bit. The ball got heavier and heavier as the game went on, and it certainly was difficult to evaluate anybody."

Noll's view must have been a disappointment to rookie running backs Jack Delaplane, a sixth-round draft choice from Salem (W. Va.) College, and Tommy Reamon from Missouri.

Delaplane carried the ball 14 times over the slippery surface for 83 yards, including a 20-yard run for the winning TD. Reamon gained 29 yards on six carries.

As a matter of fact, in the Steelers' 72-yard winning drive, Delaplane carried four times for 44 yards, and Reamon five times for 28.

The Steelers went with starting quarterback Terry Bradshaw in the first half, which ended 7-7. Bradshaw completed six of 13 for 46 yards, and directed a first period nine play, 61-yard TD drive. Bleier scored from the one in the march, which included only one short pass completion.

Terry Hanratty ran the Steelers in the second half, completing none of his three pass attempts, but leading the winning 72-yard offensive that started late in the third quarter and wound up 1:01 into the final period.

Bad Birthday For Houk

Rangers Get All Presents In Tiger Loss

DETROIT (AP) — It was Detroit Tiger Manager Ralph Houk's 57th birthday, but his pitchers gave the presents to the Texas Rangers.

Twelve hits, eight runs, seven walks, two hit batsmen, two wild pitches, a balk — happy birthday, Ralph!

"After this game I'm about 10 years older," Houk said Monday night, after the Tigers were 8-1 victims of Nelson Briles and the Rangers.

It was Texas' sixth triumph in the last nine games, while Detroit was snapping a fourgame winning streak.

"I was feel'n pretty young after the doubleheader yesterday," said Houk, whose team swept two Sunday from Cleveland, 2-1 and 15-5.

"I think they were just tired out after yesterday," one Tiger fan moaned.

Detroit and Texas battle in a two-night doubleheader today, with Dave Roberts, 11-11, and Jim Crawford, 0-3, scheduled to pitch for the Tigers against Bert Blyleven, 9-12, and Steve Largent, 4-3.

Texas scored five runs in the third inning with the aid of four consecutive walks, three by starter Dave Lemanezyk and one by Bill Laxton. It was no contest thereafter.

"Seven walks? I thought it was 20," Houk said. "They'll murder you. I saw it happen yesterday with the Cleveland club. They had a four-run lead and couldn't get the ball over."

Briles scattered eight hits and didn't walk a batter to win for the first time since July 3 to even his record at 8-8.

"It's been a long time between drinks," he said.

The only damage off him was Rusty Staub's homer in the sixth inning.

"I don't walk too many guys," Briles said. "When I do I'm in trouble. I'd rather give up a hit than a walk. When somebody walks the fielders can't help you. Walks break up the momentum of a game."

Lemanezyk, 3-4, gave up a run-scoring single to Jim Sundberg in the second. Toby Harrah's leadoff walk started Lemanezyk's downfall in the third. Then Joe Lohoud, Mike Hargrove and Jeff Burroughs walked to force in a run.

Laxton came in and promptly pushed another run across with a walk to Roy Howell. Juan Beniquez hit a two-run single and Sundberg another RBI single.

Gene Clines singled in two runs off Laxton in the seventh. Lenny Randall had singled and took second on a wild pitch. Beniquez was hit with a pitch. Both runners executed a double steal and Clines brought them home.

Ray Bare pitched the last two innings for Detroit. He walked two batters, threw a wild pitch and gave up a single — but no runs.

"Like old times. Like old times," said Texas Manager Frank Lucchesi, "pitching, clutch hitting and runs for a change."

The Rangers, 14 games behind American League West leader Kansas City, were just a few games out when they folded in July with 20 losses in 23 games.

Passing Up PGA

Wynn Pockets $40,000 In Slim Victory

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Meet Bob Wynn, a golfer who had just won a chance to play in the PGA Championship and decided instead to relax in the sun.

With a $40,000 check in his pocket, the 36-year-old resident of Santa Clara, Calif., said he and his wife Ann had planned to spend the rest of this week with their 3-year-old daughter Jennifer on an Atlantic Coast beach.

"We won't be going there because of the hurricane," he said Monday shortly after winning the $200,000 B.C. Open title with a 13-under-par 271. "I guess we'll fly to California. I know there's a lot of sun there and besides we've had too much rain here."

Wynn and the rest of the field in the B.C. had more than their share of rain between midday Friday and Sunday night.

The rain, caused in part by the approach of Hurricane Belle, became so heavy Saturday that the third round in the 72-hole event at the par-71, 6,888-yard En-Joie Golf Club was postponed until Sunday.

Then, after that round was completed in the morning, a deluge flooded the course late Sunday and forced a halt in final-round play until Monday morning, with 11 players still out on the links.

At the time, Wynn and rookie Bob Gilder were leading the 64 survivors of the cut, tied at 12 under par. They had two holes to play.

With the sky filled with leaden clouds Monday, the pair went to the 17th tee. Gilder's six-iron shot on the par-three, 175-yard hole put him two feet from the pin. Wynn, also using a six iron, dropped his ball 20 feet out.

"I thought I got him there," said Gilder, winner of the Phoenix Open this year in his second pro start. He made his birdie.

So did Wynn, who putted it "straight in."

Both found the rough at the 18th, Gilder to the right behind trees and Wynn to the left.

Gilder's second shot landed in tall grass to the left of the green; Wynn hit the green 30 feet from the pin.

From there, Wynn putted within a foot and tapped in for a par. Gilder, ever cautiously, took his turn. The ball broke from left to right as planned, but lipped the cup and Wynn had won his first major PGA event since he joined the tour in 1971.

He had a 69, as did Gilder.

The victory qualified Wynn for the PGA, which opens Thursday at the Congressional Country Club in Bethesda, Md. But he already had decided to pass it up.

"I hadn't planned on the PGA," Wynn said, "and that's why I wanted a week off. So I guess we'll fly to California and then fly back for the Greater Hartford Open."

Gilder's 272 earned him $22,800 and raised his season earnings to $81,780, against $74,419 for Wynn.

Terry Diehl, George Knudson, Jerry McGee and Ed Sneed pocketed $9,750 each for their third-place tie at 274.

Larry Nelson was next at 275, and Wally Armstrong and Dave Hill were tied at 276.

BH, Decatur Winners

Benton Harbor No. 1 and Decatur both eeked out victories Monday night in the loser's bracket of the North Lincoln Babe Ruth Tournament being played at Eaton Park.

Maurice Bowman got the win for Benton Harbor and Eric Wolf was tagged with the loss. John Bailey went two-for-four for the winners.

Dennis Warkentien keyed a seven-run sixth inning for Decatur with a bases loaded triple. John Leach picked up the win. Mark Crist, Bob Bucholtz and Rick Sadler each had a pair of hits for St. Joseph.

Tonight's games will see Benton Harbor No. 1 play Decatur at 6 p.m. and Lakeshore East take on Fairplain at 8:30.

Tarkanian Moving Up?

LOS ANGELES — Jerry Tarkanian, controversial basketball coach at Nevada-Las Vegas, is reportedly in line to take the coaching job with the NBA's Los Angeles Lakers.

Both the Big Ten Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association will investigate allegations of illegal football recruiting by Ohio State, athletic officials said today.

Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke said the conference "has an obligation to conduct an inquiry into any allegation of violations."

"It's just in the normal course of events that we do so," he said.

"I have advised Ohio State of my intention to do so, and likewise I know that Ohio State plans to do so as well. It already has set into motion the machinery to look into the matter," Duke said.

NCAA executive director Warren S. Brown said that organization would also look into the charges that were made last week by the Michigan State News, the student newspaper at Michigan State University.

MSU has been placed on three years probation by the NCAA for recruiting violations. The probe of MSU began when Ohio State football Coach Woody Hayes complained, Hayes recently admitted.

"I have not had the chance to read the stories," Brown said. "We've received all our information firsthand. But, we always look into allegations which appear in print."

In three copyrighted stories last week the State News reported that the OSU coaching staff promised cash and trips to the Rose Bowl as recruiting inducements. Both are violations of Big Ten and NCAA rules.

The paper also reported that police officers and an Ohio high school coach received money for transporting prospective players to the Columbus campus for visits.

Duke said today he expected allegations from Michigan State, since "in almost every infraction I've been involved in, it's quite common to see additional allegations stem from them."

He said though he has "no idea as to the validity of the (newspaper) reports," Ohio State could be punished for its actions and the penalties could be as severe as those MSU received.

The NCAA found MSU guilty of 34 recruiting violations; the Big Ten has yet to issue its penalties.

Bad Birthday For Houk

Rangers Get All Presents In Tiger Loss

DETROIT (AP) — It was Detroit Tiger Manager Ralph Houk's 57th birthday, but his pitchers gave the presents to the Texas Rangers.

Twelve hits, eight runs, seven walks, two hit batsmen, two wild pitches, a balk — happy birthday, Ralph!

"After this game I'm about 10 years older," Houk said Monday night, after the Tigers were 8-1 victims of Nelson Briles and the Rangers.

Indians' Bibby, LaRoche

Stymie White Sox, 4-2

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Bibby and Dave LaRoche combined to pitch a seven-hitter and George Hendrick drove in two runs to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 4-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox Monday night.

LaRoche, who got Jim Spencer to pop out in the eighth inning with the tying run at the plate, registered his 12th save.

Bibby, 8-4, retired 10 straight men in the middle in innings after having control problems early.

The White Sox got a run off

Bibby in the first on a walk to Jerry Hairston and singles by Jorge Orta and Jim Spencer.

The Indians responded with two runs of their own off starter and loser Ken Brett, 6-7, whose wildness hurt him throughout the game.

After Frank Duffy walked to lead off, the Indians got on the board on singles by Ray Fosse, Larvell Blanks and Hendrick.

The Indians added a run in the third when Blanks walked and was singled home by Hendrick.

The Indians got one in surance in the seventh inning when Ray Fosse led off with a double, and Brett compounded his problems with two walks, one of them intentional.

Bell then hit a sacrifice fly to right to score Fosse.

The White Sox chased Bibby in the eighth on doubles by Hairston and designated hitter Pat Kelly, but LaRoche retired Jim Spencer to end out the threat.

Both found the rough at the 18th, Gilder to the right behind trees and Wynn to the left.

Gilder's second shot landed in tall grass to the left of the green; Wynn hit the green 30 feet from the pin.

From there, Wynn putted within a foot and tapped in for a par. Gilder, ever cautiously, took his turn. The ball broke from left to right as planned, but lipped the cup and Wynn had won his first major PGA event since he joined the tour in 1971.

He had a 69, as did Gilder.

The victory qualified Wynn for the PGA, which opens Thursday at the Congressional Country Club in Bethesda, Md. But he already had decided to pass it up.

"I hadn't planned on the PGA," Wynn said, "and that's why I wanted a week off. So I guess we'll fly to California and then fly back for the Greater Hartford Open."

Gilder's 272 earned him $22,800 and raised his season earnings to $91,769, against $74,419 for Wynn.

Terry Diehl, George Knudson, Jerry McGee and Ed Sneed pocketed $9,750 each for their third-place tie at 274.

Larry Nelson was next at 275, and Wally Armstrong and Dave Hill tied at 276.

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Both the Big Ten Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association will investigate allegations of illegal football recruiting by Ohio State, athletic officials said today.

Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke said the conference "has an obligation to conduct an inquiry into any allegation of violations."

"It's just in the normal course of events that we do so," he said.

"I have advised Ohio State of my intention to do so, and likewise I know that Ohio State plans to do so as well. It already has set into motion the machinery to look into the matter," Duke said.

NCAA executive director Warren S. Brown said that organization would also look into the charges that were made last week by the Michigan State News, the student newspaper at Michigan State University.

MSU has been placed on three years probation by the NCAA for recruiting violations. The probe of MSU began when Ohio State football Coach Woody Hayes complained, Hayes recently admitted.

"I have not had the chance to read the stories," Brown said. "We've received all our information firsthand. But, we always look into allegations which appear in print."

In three copyrighted stories last week the State News reported that the OSU coaching staff promised cash and trips to the Rose Bowl as recruiting inducements. Both are violations of Big Ten and NCAA rules.

The paper also reported that police officers and an Ohio high school coach received money for transporting prospective players to the Columbus campus for visits.

Duke said today he expected allegations from Michigan State, since "in almost every infraction I've been involved in, it's quite common to see additional allegations stem from them."

He said though he has "no idea as to the validity of the (newspaper) reports," Ohio State could be punished for its actions and the penalties could be as severe as those MSU received.

The NCAA found MSU guilty of 34 recruiting violations; the Big Ten has yet to issue its penalties.

Tomahawk Looks Real

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Michael F. Slasinski is finding that tomahawks are nearly as popular with collectors today as they were with Indians centuries ago.

An enthusiastic historian of Saginaw's lumber era and collector of lumbering tools, Slasinski has combined his interest in history and in collecting relics with his skill as a tool designer.

The result is an authentic looking tomahawk — authentic because the very mold was made from a real tomahawk discovered in Saginaw County by Ralph Stroebel, an authority on area history.

As a collector, however, Slasinski has made minor alterations in his version of the tomahawk that is a classic example of the tool and weapon popular with Indians in the 1750s so that the reproduction cannot be passed off as authentic.

Slasinski has produced several versions of the popular pipe tomahawk. Though he has been making them only a few months, they have proved so popular that he already has sold more than 100 of them and nearly sold his display models the first time they were exhibited at the Midland antique gun show recently.

A tool designer and a member of the Midwest Tool Collectors Association, Slasinski also is a model railroad buff. Familiar with making rubber molds for small parts and figures for his model railroad layout, he cast a pliable rubber mold of the original tomahawk.

That mold actually forms wax tomahawks. A Bay City foundry forms a ceramic and plaster shell around the wax, then melts the wax and fills the cavity with metal.

The tomahawk was popular with Indians and was made in tens of thousands for use as common trade items by white men.

However, Slasinski points out, the tomahawks were so prized by Indians that they used them until nothing was left and seldom discarded tomahawks, even after they had been abused beyond practical use.

Consequently, authentic tomahawks are highly valued and prize items in collections.

The word tomahawk is derived from the Algonquin Indians of Virginia whose original words of tomahawk or tomahakan indicated a utensil for cutting.

The first time Indians saw an iron or steel ax, historians report, undoubtedly was with the arrival of the Vikings. After that, Indians were cut off from the source of metal axes for some 500 years.

It is easy to appreciate why the metal tomahawk was an instant success with the Indians.

The "pecking" process used to make stone axes used by Indians required about 140 skillful blows per minute. On the hardest stone suitable for axes, this could require 55 hours of work and polishing the edge with sandstone for a cutting edge involved several more hours of work.

Even after all that, Indians didn't expect to create a sharp cutting edge on a pecked ax. The stone ax was an implement that functioned more as a wedge which bruised its way into wood rather than as a cutting tool which slices out chips.

Anglers Taking Record Catches

Michigan fishermen may be enjoying their best summer of catching record-size fish since, well, last year, says the Department of Natural Resources.

State records have fallen six times on five species of sport-fish already this year, compared to a similar number at this time in 1975, notes DNR fisheries biologist Lud Frankenberg.

For the hottest fish story of the 1976 angling season, Frankenberg offers your choice of these catches, all new state records taken since June 1:

— A two-year-old top mark for splake, a brown lake-trout hybrid, broken twice within a four-week period. In early June, Raymond Schneider of Toledo, Ohio, landed an 11-pound, eight-ounce splake, only to see his No. 1 position taken away on the Fourth of July by Charles Gehrecke of Higgins Lake, who landed an 11-pound, 10-ounce splake. Both splake were taken from Higgins Lake.

— A 40-pound, 15-ounce northern muskellunge taken by Kemp Gorenflo of Sault Ste. Marie, who literally had to beach his canoe on the shore of Marquette county's Lake Michigan before he could physically land his big fish. Gorenflo's muskie topped the previous state record, taken in 1973 in Barry county's Thorngate Lake, by nearly four and one-half pounds.

— A 31-pound, 8-ounce brown trout taken by John A. Duffy of Midland, who raised the North American record by a mere four ounces. Duffy's catch was made in Platte Bay in Lake Michigan. The old record was 31 pounds, four ounces.

— A 22-pound, one-ounce Atlantic salmon caught by William A. Pearson of Birmingham on Lake Charlevoix, which bested the old record by a full two pounds.

Michigan's other 1976 record fish is a 32-pound tiger muskellunge, taken last January.

Frankenberg, in charge of the DNR's Master Angler program, says 118 fishermen have been awarded arm patches and certificates through mid-July for landing contest-size fish that meet minimum heights. Master Angler awards went to 270 fishermen in all of 1975.

Outdoor Trail

The St. Joseph and Grand Rivers could get top priority in overall Department of Natural Resources planning to open hundreds of miles of Michigan rivers to salmon and steelhead.

On the St. Joe, the most immediate task will be to develop access for fishermen below the Buchanan dam. There are also plans for a fish ladder at Buchanan.

A Buchanan ladder would put fish at Niles, a move which offers other interesting possibilities... utilizing the Dowagiac River system and working out a deal with Indiana to get fish into Housier waters.

Giving salmon and steelhead access to spawning water in upper portions of watersheds would, biologist say, considerably reduce hatchery costs, because more fish would be provided through natural reproduction.

DNR biologist plan to apply for federal funds for the projects once overall plans are worked out. There is no timetable for the work, because even if federal money is available, it must be matched by state or local funds in most cases, and it is not known when and how much will be available.

Lud Frankenberg of the DNR's Great Lakes section, who is setting up the overall plan, says the St. Joseph and Grand River are getting top consideration because of their "proximity to population centers and the amount of water involved."

It's now officially illegal to net chubs in Lake Michigan.

The new law protecting the fish, which are considered endangered by many fisheries biologists, became effective last Saturday.

DNR biologists have been trying to get the chub fishery outlawed for several years, but they kept running into stumbling blocks.

Now, only three netters remain in operation, and they are operating under research permits which include controls. They are held by Bill Carlson, Leland; James and Lloyd McCash, South Haven, and Robert Bjorkquist, Ludington.

Commercial fishermen put out of chub business are receiving compensation from the state. About 18 — more than half of the total — have taken compensation to date.

Biologists say the future for chubs is bleak — their numbers continued to decline this year — but they do have hope. They say the hatch of chub eggs was better this year and last year than in several previous years.

New Heddon's Gear Introduced

James Heddon's Sons of Dowagiac introduced new rods, reels and lures at the 19th annual American Fishing Tackle Manufacturers Trade Show in the Dallas (Tex.) Convention Center July 30-Aug. 1.

In the exposition's first appearance outside Chicago, the number of exhibitors this year totaled 332, up 10 per cent over 1975, when the show was held in Chicago's giant McCormick Place.

Heddon's new 1977 Mark Graphite rod is described as "light, strong, sensitive, consistent, married to a sleek, light modern handle." Guides are aluminum oxide. Features of the Slickstick include extra sensitive action and a flexible feel. Five models of the Mark Telescoping series are designed to conserve space. Match Me rods handles they are-reels are designed "to look like made for each other."

Heddon also introduced its Legacy fly rod. After rod blanks are carefully formed, they are precisely cured at 290 degrees to give uniform action, superior strength and fine sensitivity. It has a low profile handle with Gatorhide grip and aluminum oxide guides. There is also an Ultracast combination which has a 4 1/2-foot rod of one-piece construction, plus a color-matched reel.

Three new models of Heddon's spinning reels feature corrosion-resistant construction, wide range leather drag system, a ball bearing in the critical wear spot, a heavy duty pickup ball and an anti-reverse. Three new spin-cast reels feature all-metal precision gears, a styled star drag and single pin line pickup. They are color-coordinated to Heddon's Galaxy and special purpose rods.

New lures are jigs featuring durable head paint in four different colors. There's also the Climax — "the perfect spinner bait." Its features include a ball bearing, interchangeable blades, a long upper arm to make it weedless and a line that won't pinch and break the line.

Heddon's also put hydronic holes in the Snake Eyes and Heddon Hunter baits. These holes attract fish by creating bubbles and sound waves.

Heddon's also re-introduced the Deep Diving River Runt in nine colors.

Audubon Denies Coyote Poisoning Claim

The 1972 federal restrictions on poisoning coyotes have had little or no effect on losses by the sheep industry, according to data supplied to the Secretary of the Interior by the National Audubon Society.

Sheep ranchers claim their business has been crippled by the regulations which now for the most part prevent them from using poisons against the coyotes and other predatory animals that may prey on their flocks. But at a meeting between conservationists and Secretary Thomas S. Kleppe,

National Audubon's Washington representative, Cynthia E. Wilson, refuted that claim and presented an analysis of data based on the sheepmen's own official loss reports to the government.

"A study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service of sheep losses in the western states in 1974 shows that average losses to predators have stayed at about the same level — between five and six per cent — as they were during the 1960's, when poisons were being employed at high levels and with minimal, if any, restrictions," Wilson said.

What's more, she added, up until the '72 ban sheep ranchers and the federal government had been poisoning coyotes ever since January, 1914 — which was declared "National Poison Month" by the National Wool Growers Association, spokesmen for the industry — and after almost 60 years of it the ranchers say the coyote problem is as bad or worse than ever.

She quoted a 1965 issue of the Wool Growers publication which says: "The coyote has spread during the past century to practically all of North America, and has become the most destructive predator on the continent. . . . It is the greatest menace known to the sheep industry of North America."

National Audubon does not oppose the killing of coyotes when it is the only way to protect a rancher's flock from attack, but believes such killing should be done by shooting or trapping rather than poison.

Pheasant Permits Ready

Special permits will be required for the put-take pheasant season which opens Aug. 16 in designated areas across Michigan.

The $10 permits are available at Gardner's Favorite Sports in Benton Harbor, Lakeshore True Value in Stevensville, Dale's Western Auto in Niles, Western Auto in Dowagiac, the Trading Post in Edwardsburg, Stone's Sport Shop in Allegan and the Fin N Feather in Douglas.

The closest put-take areas for southwestern Michigan hunters are Gourdneck, located south of Kalamazoo; the Three Rivers State Game Area, near

Prize Catch

Mike Kolosowsky, a 14-year-old Berrien Springs fisherman, recently caught a 17-inch silver bass which weighed two pounds, five ounces at Lake Maxinkuckee in Culver, Ind. Kolosowsky's catch is in the running for top honors in a fish of the month contest at Culver.

New Hope for Wetlands?

Thousands of acres of Michigan's precious and irreplaceable wetlands will gradually be saved from destruction by land development through money raised from the sale of the state's first waterfowl stamp, shown above. The state's 100,000 waterfowl hunters (except for residents age 65 or older) must purchase the stamp in addition to their annual small game license and federal migratory game bird stamp to hunt waterfowl in Michigan. Of the $2.10 cost of the Michigan stamp, $1.90 will be set aside to acquire wetlands in the state, with the remaining money earmarked for program evaluation and administration. The 1976 stamp features a profile of a male wood duck, printed in dark green on white.

Three new spin-cast reels feature all-metal precision gears, a styled star drag and single pin line pickup. They are color-coordinated to Heddon's Galaxy and special purpose rods.

New lures are jigs featuring durable head paint in four different colors. There's also the Climax — "the perfect spinner bait." Its features include a ball bearing, interchangeable blades, a long upper arm to make it weedless and a line that won't pinch and break the line.

Heddon's also put hydronic holes in the Snake Eyes and Heddon Hunter baits. These holes attract fish by creating bubbles and sound waves.

Audubon Denies Coyote Poisoning Claim

The 1972 federal restrictions on poisoning coyotes have had little or no effect on losses by the sheep industry, according to data supplied to the Secretary of the Interior by the National Audubon Society.

Sheep ranchers claim their business has been crippled by the regulations which now for the most part prevent them from using poisons against the coyotes and other predatory animals that may prey on their flocks. But at a meeting between conservationists and Secretary Thomas S. Kleppe,

National Audubon's Washington representative, Cynthia E. Wilson, refuted that claim and presented an analysis of data based on the sheepmen's own official loss reports to the government.

"A study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service of sheep losses in the western states in 1974 shows that average losses to predators have stayed at about the same level — between five and six per cent — as they were during the 1960's, when poisons were being employed at high levels and with minimal, if any, restrictions," Wilson said.

What's more, she added, up until the '72 ban sheep ranchers and the federal government had been poisoning coyotes ever since January, 1914 — which was declared "National Poison Month" by the National Wool Growers Association, spokesmen for the industry — and after almost 60 years of it the ranchers say the coyote problem is as bad or worse than ever.

She quoted a 1965 issue of the Wool Growers publication which says: "The coyote has spread during the past century to practically all of North America, and has become the most destructive predator on the continent . . . It is the greatest menace known to the sheep industry of North America."

National Audubon does not oppose the killing of coyotes when it is the only way to protect a rancher's flock from attack, but believes such killing should be done by shooting or trapping rather than poison.

Pheasant Permits Ready

Special permits will be required for the put-n-take pheasant season which opens Aug. 16 in designated areas across Michigan.

The $10 permits are available at Gardner's Favorite Sports in Benton Harbor, Lakeshore True Value in Stevensville, Dale's Western Auto in Niles, Western Auto in Dowagiac, the Trading Post in Edwardsburg, Stone's Sport Shop in Allegan and the Fin N Feather in Douglas.

The closest put-n-take areas for southwestern Michigan hunters are Gourdneck, located south of Kalamazoo; the Three Rivers State Game Area, near

Prize Catch

Mike Kolosowsky, a 14-year-old Berrien Springs fisherman, recently caught a 17-inch silver bass which weighed two pounds, five ounces at Lake Maxinkuckee in Culver, Ind. Kolosowsky's catch is in the running for top honors in a fish of the month contest at Culver.

Fishing Report

Meanwhile, fishermen are taking salmon and lake trout over 90 to 140 feet of water. Flies and spoons behind dodgers are among top lures.

Closer to shore, anglers continue to catch perch. The best success, according to the Department of Natural Resources, has been over rock areas. And the fish continue to run larger than last year.

On inland lakes, Whit and Mill Ponds and Stone Lake in Cass county have been good bluegill producers. Stone Lake also has been giving up some bass.

Catfish are being taken in the lower St. Joseph River in Berrien county.

The St. Joseph and Grand Rivers could get top priority in overall Department of Natural Resources planning to open hundreds of miles of Michigan rivers to salmon and steelhead.

On the St. Joe, the most immediate task will be to develop access for fishermen below the Buchanan dam. There are also plans for a fish ladder at Buchanan.

A Buchanan ladder would put fish at Niles, a move which offers other interesting possibilities.... utilizing the Dowagiac River system and working out a deal with Indiana to get fish into Hoosier waters.

Giving salmon and steelhead access to spawning water in upper portions of watersheds would, biologist say, considerably reduce hatchery costs, because more fish would be provided through natural reproduction.

DNR biologist plan to apply for federal funds for the projects once overall plans are worked out. There is no timetable for the work, because even if federal money is available, it must be matched by state or local funds in most cases, and it is not known when and how much will be available.

Lud Frankenberger of the DNR's Great Lakes section, who is setting up the overall plan, says the St. Joseph and Grand River are getting top consideration because of their "proximity to population centers and the amount of water involved."

It's now officially illegal to net chubs in Lake Michigan.

The new law protecting the fish, which are considered endangered by many fisheries biologists, became effective last Saturday.

DNR biologists have been trying to get the chub fishery outlawed for several years, but they kept running into stumbling blocks.

Now, only three netters remain in operation, and they are operating under research permits which include controls. They are held by Bill Carlson, Leland; James and Lloyd McCash, South Haven, and Robert Bjorkquist, Ludington.

Commercial fishermen put out of chub business are receiving compensation from the state. About 18 — more than half of the total — have taken compensation to date.

Biologists say the future for chubs is bleak — their numbers continued to decline this year — but they do have hope. They say the hatch of chub eggs was better this year and last year than in several previous years.

New Hope for Wetlands?

Thousands of acres of Michigan's precious and irreplaceable wetlands will gradually be saved from destruction by land development through money raised from the sale of the state's first waterfowl stamp, shown above. The state's 100,000 waterfowl hunters (except for residents age 65 or older) must purchase the stamp in addition to their annual small game license and federal migratory game bird stamp to hunt waterfowl in Michigan. Of the $2.10 cost of the Michigan stamp, $1.90 will be set aside to acquire wetlands in the state, with the remaining money earmarked for program evaluation and administration. The 1976 stamp features a profile of a male wood duck, printed in dark green on white.

Three Offenders Are Handed Prison Terms

Three of four men sentenced Monday in Berrien Circuit court received prison terms for unrelated offenses while the fourth was placed on two years probation.

Judge Julian E. Hughes sentenced Dewey Wayne McClemore, 28, of 394th street, Decatur, to 3 to 5 years in prison for attempted armed robbery. McClemore was charged with attempting to rob Lester Jones of cash, a rifle, adding machine, clothing, and radio at knife-point Nov. 8 on Meadowbrook road in Benton township.

Hughes noted McClemore has received two previous prison terms, one for grand theft in Arizona and another for resisting arrest in Van Buren county.

In other sentences by Hughes: Clinton Roscoe Gray, 53, of 804 West John Beers road, Stevensville, was sentenced to 3 to 5 years in prison for carrying a concealed weapon — a .22 rifle — Sept. 21, 1974, at Lincolnwood estates in Lincoln township.

Robert Dean Sherbino, 22, of 709 1/2 Hickory street, Niles, was placed on two years probation and ordered to make full restitution for cashing a no account check for $242 May 1 at Cushman Tire Co. in Niles.

Judge Chester J. Byrns sentenced Ricky Edward Britton, 21, of 999 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, to 18 to 24 months in prison for possession of marijuana second offense. He was accused of possessing the substance Feb. 11 in St. Joseph. Britton was previously convicted of possession of marijuana in May, 1974.

In arraignments before Hughes:

Marvin H. Guess, 30, of 5023 Lincoln avenue, Stevensville, pleaded no contest to a charge of negligent homicide. He was accused as the driver of a car which caused the death of John Greathouse May 2 on Cleveland avenue in Baroda township.

Ismael Villegas, 27, of Carson, Calif., pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering the Surplus Trading post in Benton township on July 11.

Thomas Milton, 17, of 269 Church street, Coloma, pleaded guilty to attempted larceny in a building — the attempted theft of a stereo — May 10 from the old middle school in Coloma.

Paul E. Ponder, Jr., 22, of Dowagiac, pleaded innocent to a charge of attempting to possess a controlled substance by fraud by presenting a prescription

Three Losers Win Pensions

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Three legislators who lost their Michigan House seats in primary election defeats are eligible for sizeable pensions for their years in office.

State Rep. Josephine Hunsinger and Michael Novak, both Detroit Democrats, will receive the maximum pension — 60 per cent of their legislative pay or $11,400 a year.

Rep. Wayne Sackett, R-Portage, is eligible for the minimum 30 per cent of legislative pay of $5,700 a year.

The defeat of Mrs. Hunsinger, 61, will end 22 years in the House where she is chairman of the State Affairs Committee.

Novak, 38, has served a longer term than any other current legislator, starting in 1943 and continuing sporadically for a total 30 years.

Sackett, 69, has been in the House since 1969.

Four other lawmakers who did not seek re-election are also eligible for pensions.

Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, and William Hayward, R-Royal Oak, have completed the 16 years in the legislature necessary to qualify for the maximum pension. Spencer, 57, is retiring after 18 years and Hayward, 70, will finish 18 years.

Reps. DeForrest Strang, R-Sturgis, and James F. Smith, R-Grand Blanc, each have been in the House for 10 years and will be eligible for pensions equal to 37 per cent of their retiring legislative pay, or $7,030. Strang is 67 and Smith is 53.

Legislators must serve eight years to qualify for the minimum pension of 30 per cent of their pay, now $19,000 a year.

The pension increases 3.75 per cent per year of service up to a maximum 60 per cent. They may begin collecting the pensions at age 55.

South Haven Fund Drive Will Drop Home Canvass

SOUTH HAVEN — The United Fund drive in South Haven this year will not include a door-to-door canvass for donations, according to an announcement from Charles Henry, president of the fund drive board. Members of the board feel the $32,000 goal can be reached through pledges made at factories and businesses, according to Henry.

"It wouldn't be fair to ask individuals to give at their door when their husbands or wives have pledged at their place of business," Henry said. The fund drive will officially begin this year on Oct. 11. Fund drive co-chairmen this year are Alice Flood and Larry Schuyler. Key chairmen are Steve Ives, Bruce Sholes, Bruce McGinnis, Jim Hall and Mary Lou Behrman.

Allegan Is Seeking Space For School Job Training

ALLEGAN — The Allegan Intermediate school district is looking for companies willing to make a portion of their facilities available for job training for high school students.

Larry Beaudoin, vocational/technical specialist with the intermediate district, said the facilities are being sought for the 1977-78 school year.

The job training programs would enroll 11th and 12th grade students from Allegan, Fenn-

ville, Hopkins, Martin, Otsego, Plainwell and Wayland.

These programs usually operate 36 weeks during the regular school year at whatever hours the employer has available, Beaudoin said. Some operate three or four evenings a week for 10 to 15 hours.

Teachers of such programs are usually an employee of the firm. Interested firms should contact the intermediate district in Allegan.

Both Frazier and Beam have worked 29 years for the City of Watervliet. Anderson was first employed by the City of Bridgman in 1963, but accumulated his 25 years of public water service in other cities as well.

In cooperation with the Michigan section, American Water Works association, the awards will be made at a noon luncheon during a four-day state annual convention, Sept. 21-24, at Traverse City.

South Haven Fund Drive Will Drop Home Canvass

SOUTH HAVEN — The United Fund drive in South Haven this year will not include a door-to-door canvass for donations, according to an announcement from Charles Henry, president of the fund drive board. Members of the board feel the $32,000 goal can be reached through pledges made at factories and businesses, according to Henry.

"It wouldn't be fair to ask individuals to give at their door when their husbands or wives have pledged at their place of business," Henry said. The fund drive will officially begin this year on Oct. 11. Fund drive co-chairmen this year are Alice Flood and Larry Schuyler. Key chairmen are Steve Ives, Bruce Sholes, Bruce McGinnis, Jim Hall and Mary Lou Behrman.

Allegan Is Seeking Space For School Job Training

ALLEGAN — The Allegan intermediate school district is looking for companies willing to make a portion of their facilities available for job training for high school students.

Larry Beaudoin, vocational/technical specialist with the intermediate district, said the facilities are being sought for the 1977-78 school year.

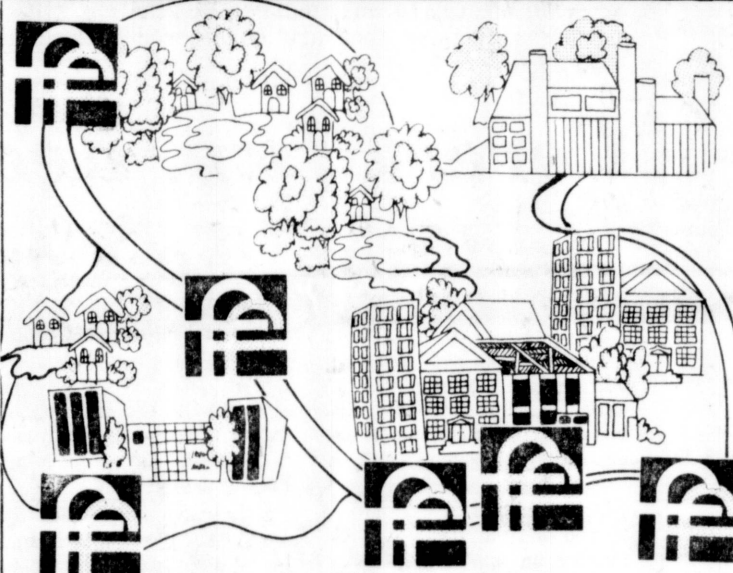

The job training programs would enroll 11th and 12th grade students from Allegan, Fenn-

ville, Hopkins, Martin, Otsego, Plainwell and Wayland.

These programs usually operate 36 weeks during the regular school year at whatever hours the employer has available, Beaudoin said. Some operate three or four evenings a week for 10 to 15 hours.

Teachers of such programs are usually an employee of the firm. Interested firms should contact the intermediate district in Allegan.

River Valley Puts 3.88-Mill Tag On Issue

THREE OAKS — An additional 3.88 mills in the property tax rate will be required in the River Valley school district if a proposed $3,500,000 bond issue for a school building program is approved by voters. Dr. Charles Williams, superintendent, told the River Valley school board last night. The bond issue, which would finance construction of a new middle school plus additions and improvements to the district's elementary schools, will be put before voters in a special school election, Tuesday, Sept. 7.

Dr. Williams said that based on a property valuation of $30,000 ($15,000 SEV) the 3.88 mills would cost the property owner an additional $58.20 per year. He said the district's total debt millage, including the 1956 and 1964 debts would be 5.8 mills. The district also levies 23.9 mills for operations, so the district's total millage rate would be 29.7 mills for 1976-77. Williams added that the debt retirement would be lowered each year as the bonds are paid off. He said the maximum interest rate anticipated on selling the bonds would be 6.5 per cent, down one per cent from last year.

The board approved setting up three public meetings to explain the proposal to school district residents. The meetings were set for Aug. 24, at New Troy elementary; Aug. 25, at Chikaming elementary; and Aug. 26, at Three Oaks elementary. No time was set. In September, 1975, voters rejected a $3,375,000 bond issue for a new middle school and improvements to the elementary schools by a 1,047 to 622 margin.

If the proposal is approved, the new middle school would replace present middle schools at New Troy (built in 1926) and Three Oaks (built in 1921). Under the proposal, monies from the sale of the bonds would build a 70,000 square foot, $2,710,000 middle school for grades six through eight. It would be built on a 18-acre site south of the present high school located north of Three Oaks.

Funds would also be used for classrooms, library expansions and other renovations at the elementary schools.

In other areas, three present members of the high school staff were approved for coaching positions for the 1976-77 school year. Tom Palen will serve as varsity wrestling coach, Fred Knutel as varsity girls' basketball coach, and Ed Rogers as varsity golf coach. Paul Goodman was hired as assistant band director. He will also teach high school choir and direct the jazz band. He is a University of Michigan graduate.

The board accepted the low bid of Buttermaid Bakers, Michigan City, to supply bread products for the coming school year. It was the lowest of three bids. Three other bids to supply milk were also submitted, but the board is asking they be resubmitted with more specifics included. The board approved allowing school buses to be used by the River Valley Senior Citizens center as secondary transportation for senior citizens when needed.

It was announced that a breakfast for all staff members will be at 8:30 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 31 at the high school, the first day for all teachers to report.

Gobles School Tax Vote Set Sept. 21

GOBLES — Tuesday, Sept. 21, was set by the Gobles school board last night as the day for a special election on a two-mill property tax issue sought for three years for school operations.

At its July meeting, the board decided to seek the two-mill levy. School officials have said the two mills would raise about $34,000 locally the first year and a similar amount in state aid.

The school district currently has a property tax levy of 21.58 mills. That amount is estimated to raise $366,000 toward a tentative 1976-77 budget of $1,182,653.

In another tax matter, the board said that the debt re-irement levy on a 1967 bond issue will drop from one mill to .33 of a mill this year. Supt. Guy Levesee said $715,000 is still owed on the bond issue.

In other areas, the board approved the hiring of Mitchell Zaleski as assistant high school principal.

Changes in the work-study program for high school seniors were approved by the board. Students can now work either in the morning or afternoon, and take classes the other part of the school day. In the past, students were required to attend school in the morning and work, for credit, in the afternoon. Credit for working was increased from one hour to one and one-half hours.

The board announced that parents can enter explanations for lengthy illnesses in their child's student record at the school. The action came after a parent had complained that her daughter's record indicated 24 absent days, but did not record the fact that she was suffering from pneumonia.

In a report on summer programs, the board was told the six-week band program involved 42 students and cost $1,219. Of that amount, $650 was returned to the school district through special instruction fees paid by parents. The elementary special math and reading program involved 37 students and cost the district $1,678.

Landfill Agreement Extended

Royalton township board last night voted to extend for a year the township's contract with Northwestern Berrien county Sanitation authority.

The agreement, costing the township $120 monthly, gives township residents, for a per-lot fee, the right to dump refuse in the solid waste dump operated by the authority, according to township Clerk Otto Jasper.

In another area, the board accepted the resignation from the park board of Mrs. Nancy Plunkett, 4739 Naomi lane, St. Joseph. She told the board she wanted to devote more of her time to other activities.

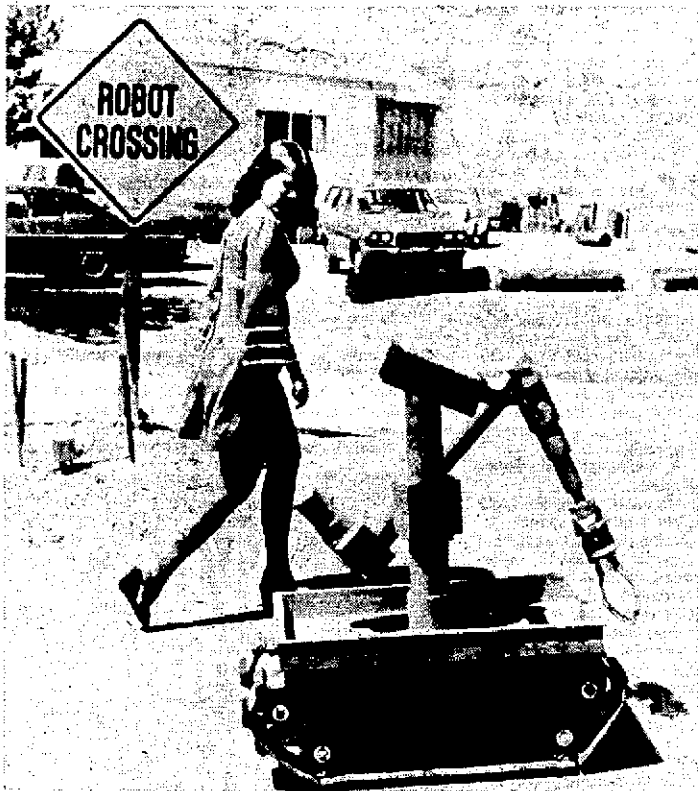

The township just recently dedicated its new park located across from the township hall at Scolldale and John Beers roads.

Two Electrocuted

SANDUSKY, Mich. (AP) — Sanilac County authorities say two farm workers were electrocuted Monday when the hay elevator they were moving touched a high voltage power line.

Sheriff's deputies have identified the pair as Richard Gerlach, 17, of Sandusky and Raymond Badgero, 24, whose family owns the Sandusky-area farm.

Both were pronounced dead at the scene.

Covert Twp. Readies Addition To Cemetery

COVERT — During a short meeting of the Covert township board, it was announced that the township's new cemetery addition is completed and will be put into use within 30 days.

Jerry Sarno, township supervisor, said cemetery lots may be viewed and purchased now by making an appointment with Percy Blanks, township cemetery sexton.

Only flat identity markers (no headstones) will be allowed in the new addition, Sarno said. Flowers for decoration will be allowed at certain times. Cement vaults are mandatory.

In other areas, Sarno said the township Bicentennial park, located across from the township hall, should be completed before winter and will have benches and picnic tables for public use. Sanitary facilities will not be installed this year, he said.

Charles Proctor, president of the Van Buren United Civic organization, informed the board that five young people doing summer work are available to do yard work for handicapped and elderly people. Appointments must be made by contacting the center secretary, Proctor said.

Sarno announced that free seedlings will be available again next spring for township residents to plant. He said that due to bad weather, only enough seedlings for about one-third of those people who requested them this past spring were available.

The township board passed a resolution upon the recommen-

Maintenance Chief Hired By Covert Board

COVERT — The Covert school board last night approved hiring Terry L. Enders of Coloma as maintenance, building and grounds supervisor for the district. Enders, 30, will be paid $14,000 annually. He comes to the post from the Du-Wel company, where he worked for four years in maintenance supervision at the Bangor and Hartford plants.

In other areas, the board agreed to purchase student medical insurance from the Wolverine agency of Kalamazoo at a rate of $1.90 per student. The policy provides coverage of up to $28,000 per student, but applies only when any other existing coverage has been used up, according to board President Donald Quinn.

The board also approved renewing its membership in the Berrien county regional enrichment center. The service provides the district with audio-visual supplies and equipment at a rate of $1.55 per student.

A request by Mrs. Thelma Edmondson, a school cook, to continue work for one year beyond the normal mandatory retirement age of 65 was approved.

Much of last night's meeting dealt with approving purchases of equipment for the system's new high school and elementary addition. Formal dedication and an open house at the high school were scheduled from 3-6 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 18. Purchases included miscellaneous industrial art supplies from from Desco, Inc. for $414; and similar articles from Midwest Shop Supplies for $3,724; home economics equipment from Nasco, Inc. for $3; and elementary school furniture and shelving from Dew-El Corp., for $3,386.

The board also approved a low bid of $1,069 by Sluiter Plastering to renovate a corridor in the elementary building to bring it up to fire safety standards, and an expenditure of $2,113 for additional gravel at the new outdoor track. The latter request was made by architects Davenport and Associates, Grand Rapids, who said that a thicker gravel base was needed at the track because of poor soil conditions.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators on both sides in the 113-day rubber strike are scheduled to tell Labor Secretary W.J. Usery what they think of a government proposal to end the work stoppage.

Usery and James Scarce, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, are expecting replies today from the United Rubber Workers and industry representatives.

Tax Hike Fails

HARBOR BEACH, Mich. (AP) — The defeat of a 1.5 proposed millage increase by Harbor Beach school district voters will result in teacher layoffs.

The vote against the proposal was 534-428.

School officials said Monday the rejection means seven teachers will not be re-hired this school year and all extracurricular activities except varsity football and girls' basketball will be eliminated.

Buchanan Council Cancels Meetings

BUCHANAN — Because of a lack of a quorum, the Buchanan city commission last night had to cancel its regularly scheduled meeting and postpone two public hearings concerning establishing special assessment districts. Mayor Joseph Garbert II told some 20 people in attendance that the public hearings will be held prior to the commission's next regularly scheduled meeting, Monday, Aug. 24. The public hearings concern proposed curb and gutter work and storm drainage on Ryneerson street and Liberty avenue. A public hearing on vacating an alley in the Colonial Gardens addition will be held Sept. 11.

Galien Will Name Volunteer Deputies

GALIEN — In an effort to halt vandalism, the Galien village council last night approved appointing six volunteer, unarmed special deputies.

Frank James, village president, is to name the special deputies in the near future, the council said.

The council said the six men, who will be under the direction of James and Dale Longacre, village police chief, will patrol village streets and report vandalism to Longacre.

The action followed the leak of some 2,000 gallons of anhydrous ammonia gas from a wagon storage tank on July 31. Berrien county sheriff's deputies said they felt a valve to the tank, parked near Southeastern avenue, had been opened on purpose.

In addition to the leak, the council said it had received numerous complaints to damage to mail boxes, gardens and to the Galien supermarket.

In other areas, the council said it would investigate complaints that work being done to houses under a federal housing rehabilitation program was not being done satisfactorily.

Boater Charged

SARNIA, Ont. (AP) — Robert Snowden, 58, Algonac, Mich., has been charged with failing to stop at the scene of an accident.

Sarnia police said the charges were leveled in connection with a fatal boat collision near Sarnia, in which a Naples, Fla., man was killed last July 31.

The victim's boat collided with another craft in the St. Clair River. Two other persons were injured.

River Valley Puts 3.88-Mill Tag On Issue

THREE OAKS — An additional 3.88 mills in the property tax rate will be required in the River Valley school district if a proposed $3,550,000 bond issue for a school building program is approved by voters, Dr. Charles Williams, superintendent, told the River Valley school board last night. Today In History

In 1967, the people of Gibraltar voted to retain their link with Britain rather than return

Ga., held a day long celebration in honor of the Declaration of Independence.

Soon Congress will vote on a bill that would force the dismemberment of each of America's largest oil companies — breaking them up into several smaller companies.

Each of these smaller units would be responsible for only one phase of the business. Drilling for oil, for example. Or the refining or transporting of it.

The Senators behind the bill argue that the vertically integrated major oil companies are "monopolistic"—that they control too much of the industry and make it harder for smaller companies to compete. Divestiture, say these Senators, will make the industry more competitive.

Standard believes there are some things you should know before you allow them to pass this bill.

First, divestiture of major oil companies has been a subject for debate for years, and the courts have never ruled vertical integration unlawful. In fact, the issue is always open to review in the courts. What no one needs now is for Congress to rule vertical integration unlawful in the oil industry by making a legislative end-run around the normal judicial process.

Second, the idea that the oil industry is monopolistic is simply not true. Why? Because only 35% of our domestic crude oil is produced by the top five oil companies. And over the past ten years, the share of gasoline sales of unbranded marketers has grown from 18% to 30%.

"The sheer statistics," concedes a top Justice Department official, "suggest that this isn't one of our more concentrated industries."

Still another reason for concern over this bill: It will cause oil and gasoline prices to rise higher and faster. Because it will put more middlemen between the oil wells and the refined products.

Dismemberment will also impede the vast flow of money that the oil companies have been putting into the domestic search for new oil. In 1975, this exceeded 13 billion dollars.

Eventually this will make America even more dependent on foreign oil — already a serious problem.

Break up America's major oil companies? First consider the facts, then the cost. Then write your Senators and Representative.

MOST CONTENTED PEOPLE

Retired BH Pastor Tells Of Stay In New Zealand

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

"The most contented people anywhere," beautiful scenery and $6,000 American cars selling for $25,000.

Those were all parts of New Zealand as described by Dr. Stanley M. Buck, former long-time pastor at the Methodist Peace Temple, Benton Harbor, during a speech before the Twin City Rotary club at the St. Joseph Elks lodge yesterday. Dr. Buck and his wife spent a year in New Zealand in 1973. He was a pastor of the United Methodist church at Waimate on the south island of New Zealand.

Dr. Buck said New Zealand is twice the size of Michigan, but only has one third as many people. He said in the socialist country there is "cradle to grave care."

However, Dr. Buck found said the socialist system in New Zealand had its share of drawbacks including high taxes.

Dr. Buck said he made $2,740 a year as a minister and received three raises during the year he was there. One of the raises was a 7 1/2 per cent increase which was granted to everyone in the country because of inflation.

He described unions as very strong in New Zealand, noting that one group of workers went on strike once because the cost of vending machine sandwiches went up two cents.

Dr. Buck said New Zealand has an agricultural based economy. There are an estimated 67 million sheep in New Zealand compared to an estimated 20 million in the entire U.S. Sheep dogs in New Zealand cost about $700-$800.

Only 2,000 people were unemployed while he was in New Zealand, which amounted to about two-tenths of one per cent of the labor force, Dr. Buck said.

While in New Zealand, Dr. Buck said a 1973 Chevrolet Caprice auto sold for about $17,000 in New Zealand money and about $25,000 in U.S. currency — attributable in part to a "terrific" import tax on U.S. goods in New Zealand.

Dr. Buck said he settled for a 9-year-old foreign model car. Gasoline sold for 49 cents a gallon and auto insurance was $32 a year.

Dr. Buck, now retired, and his wife, Bunny, reside at 248 Windsor road, Fairplain.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 10th, the 223rd day of 1976. There are 143 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the Japanese offered to surrender in World War II if the Emperor would be permitted to keep his throne.

On this date:

In 1821, Missouri became the 24th state.

In 1845, the U.S. Naval Academy was established at Annapolis, Md.

In 1846, Congress created the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

In 1914, France declared war on Austria-Hungary at the start of World War I.

In 1921, Franklin Roosevelt was stricken with polio at his summer home at Campobello Island in Canada.

In 1967, the people of Gibraltar voted to retain their link with Britain rather than return to Spanish sovereignty.

Ten years ago: U.S. Marines and South Koreans smashed Communist forces in separate battles in South Vietnam, killing 310 of the enemy.

Five years ago: Two buildings were destroyed by fire and two prisoners were critically stabbed during four hours of rioting at an Idaho penitentiary.

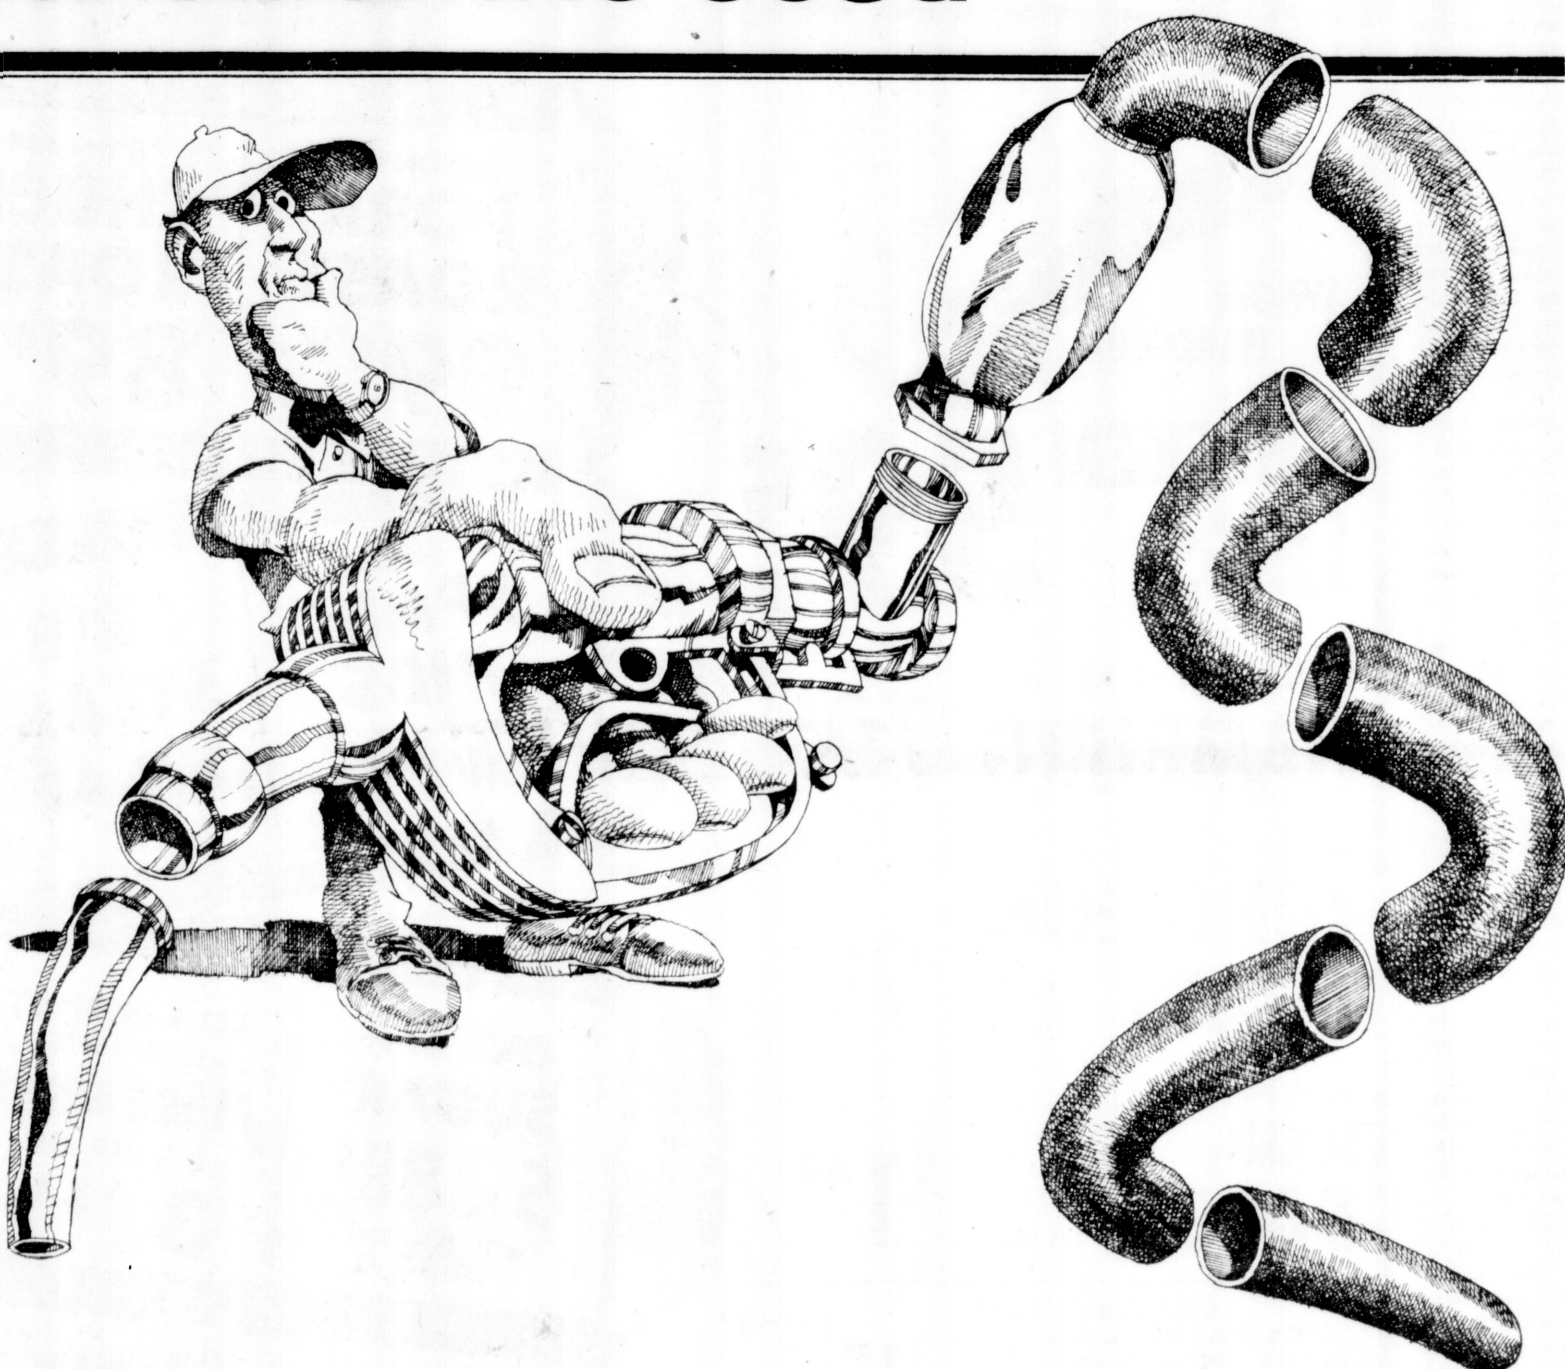

One year ago, Dmitri Shostakovich, the most famous of contemporary Soviet composers, died after a serious illness, at the age of 68.

Today's birthdays: Former movie star Norma Shearer is 72 years old. Singer Eddie Fisher is 48.

Thought for today: We have but one police force, the American woman — the late President Herbert Hoover.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago, Savannah, Ga., held a day long celebration in honor of the Declaration of Independence.

Most Private Workers Missing Pension Gravy Train

By LEE HITTGANG
Associated Press Writer

An employee of the nation's largest city, New York, can retire at age 62 after 33 years' service and collect retirement pay equal to what he was making in his final year of employment.

A worker at the nation's largest corporation, American Telephone & Telegraph, retiring with similar seniority will get only half the benefits the New York City worker will receive.

The example illustrates a general picture in which the average city or state worker gets double the retirement benefits of the average private employee, according to "Public Employee Pension Funds," a recent study by pension expert Robert Tilove.

Is this a ripoff by city and state workers at the expense of taxpayers or a gravy train that the private worker missed? Just what is a "fair pension?"

Tilove says that, in general, a pension equal to 80 per cent of final take-home pay would be fair. Another expert, Professor Bernard Jump of Syracuse University, says 90 per cent. Both agree that the ultimate aim of retirement income should be maintenance of the worker's standard of living after he retires.

By that measure, private pension plans which together with Social Security provide the average retiree with about two-thirds of his final year's pay are inadequate. Public plans in several large cities that grant pensions of over 100 per cent of final take-home pay might be considered overgenerous.

New York City union leader Victor Githaus said in a recent interview that the facts only show that workers in private industry are getting a raw deal, not that city workers are ripping anyone off.

Others say that the sharp increases in city and state benefits, added to a 93.6 per cent rise in Social Security benefits in the last six years, created a post-retirement bonanza for public workers that government at all levels will be hard pressed to pay for in future years.

Jump says that if a city or state provides Social Security coverage in addition to the basic pension and "if a person works for 30 years and retires at age 62, he's almost certain to get higher postretirement income than his after-tax final pay."

"Personally I think that's too high," he says.

Only about half of privately employed workers have pension coverage at all. Nearly all public workers have some form of coverage.

About a third of public employees, however, are not covered by Social Security. Practically all privately-employed workers get Social Security benefits. Such benefits normally boost retirement income by 30 to 33 per cent.

"Prior to 1951, public employees were not covered by Social Security. Thus, public pension plans were generally designed to provide adequate retirement income by themselves," wrote Raymond Schmitt in a recent Congressional Research Service paper on public pensions.

Workers chose public employment over private because of generous retirement benefits that made up for generally lower salaries, the paper says.

This "may explain, in part, the generally higher benefit formulas offered under some public employee retirement plans," Schmitt says.

The bottom line shows city or state employees often making more after they stop work than before, a rarity in the private field.

A study conducted in New York City this year by Mayor Abraham D. Beame's Management Advisory Board found that a city worker making $11,300 after 38 years' service and retiring at age 63 could count on retirement pay, including Social Security, equal to 106 per cent of his final take-home salary.

By contrast, the study found, workers at seven top corporations with similar salary and seniority get retirement benefits from 13 to 43 per cent below the New York City worker.

At Exxon, retirement pay, including Social Security, totals 82.9 per cent of final take-home salary; at General Motors, 93 per cent; at Union Carbide, 70.2 per cent; at AT&T, 67.1 per cent; at Con Edison, 73 per cent; at Citibank, 84.8 per cent; and at Metropolitan Life, 84.8 per cent.

Another comparison drawn by Jump showed nonuniformed city workers who had been making $15,000 with 30 years' service at age 65 were getting 127 per cent of final after-tax pay in New York City, 116 per cent in Detroit and 129 per cent in Philadelphia, including Social Security benefits.

This beats even the best retirement deals offered in private industry, Jump says. At Eastman Kodak, a worker with similar salary and seniority would get 100 per cent of final after-tax pay in retirement benefits, Social Security included. Workers at New York Telephone likewise get 100 per cent.

At International Business Machines Corp., retirement benefits total 94 per cent of final pay, and at Bankers Trust of New York, the total is 99 per cent. Some city plans fall well below those levels. In Atlanta, a $15,000 nonuniformed worker with similar age and seniority gets 54 per cent of final take-home pay in retirement benefits, in Chicago 62 per cent, in Dallas 64 per cent, in Los Angeles 68 per cent and in Washington 64 per cent.

Two trends in recent years, however, have pushed benefit levels for some city and state workers far ahead of what most private workers could hope to get.

One is the trend toward early retirement, particularly for big city police and firemen, but also for other workers.

A New York City transit worker making $17,079, for example, can retire at age 50 after 24 years' service and promptly collect a full pension of $9,910 a year.

If a worker at a similar age, seniority and salary level decided to retire from AT&T, Con Edison, General Motors or most other large corporations, he'd have to wait 15 years before drawing his pension.

New York City is thus paying the 50-year-old transit worker 86.4 per cent more in total retirement benefits than a comparable private employee.

Another factor increasing city and state benefits in the past decade has been the introduction of cost-of-living adjustments into pension benefits. Over-all, inflation adjustments by city and state plans appear more generous than private plans, but less generous than most federal pension plans.

Ex-Brewery Official Guilty

DETROIT (AP) — A former Stroh Brewery Co. executive has pleaded guilty in federal court to one count of income tax evasion in what investigators called a $1.2 million construction kickback operation. Edward T. King, former Stroh chief of construction, admitted nonpayment of 1973 federal income taxes before U.S. District Court Judge John Feikens. Assistant U.S. attorney Loren G. Keenan said Monday the guilty plea covered some $200,000 in unreported income, allegedly received by King in kickbacks from construction companies.

PRECIOUS METAL

Iron was coming into use for the first time in the Near East in 1500 B.C. and was considered the most precious of all metals.

Carter: I'll Outshine
Nader

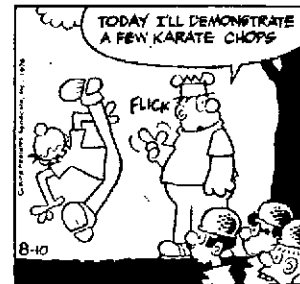

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter says that if he is elected president he will do his best to outshine Ralph Nader as "the top consumer advocate in the nation."

Carter allied himself formally on Monday with many of Nader's consumer causes.

He endorsed a law making it a crime for an industry to hire a federal official charged with regulating it. He said that if elected president he would give atomic power the lowest priority among energy sources. And he called the Ford administration's approach to corporate bribery overseas "permissive criminality."

MORE GAS MILEAGE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb says fuel economy of 1977-model cars would show a 6 to 13 per cent improvement on the average over current models.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Little Change In Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were little changed again today in light trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction at the outset. Gainers and losers ran about even in the overall count of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said the market was simply marking time, waiting for some news development to give it a push.

The most likely candidate in the immediate future was the government's report on wholesale price trends for July, due to be issued on Thursday.

Today's early volume leaders included Sony, unchanged at 9 1/2 in a 15,000-share block trade, and Standard Oil of California, up 1/4 at 38.

On Monday the Dow Jones Industrial average dropped 2.46 to 863.54 in trading shortened by an hour at several major exchanges because of the stormy weather in the Northeast.

Most of the Dow's loss stemmed from ex-dividends, or dividend-payment adjustments, in the prices of six stocks in the average.

Losers held a 4-3 edge on gainers among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index lost .15 to 55.31.

Big Board volume for the five-hour session came to 11.70 million shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .18 at 104.23.

Asks Aid In Rate Hearing

EDWARDSBURG — Dixie Almasi, the Democratic nominee for state representative from the 42nd district, has said she will ask Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley to intervene in the Michigan Power Co. rate increase request.

Michigan Power has filed an application with the Public Service Commission to increase its electric bills by 55.14 per cent.

"We're facing a tremendous surge on our electric bills and we need the attorney general's help to fight it," the Edwardsburg housewife said. She charged that the Michigan Public Service Commission would not adequately represent consumers during rate increase hearings.

She claimed the commission had failed to effectively argue against a 115.00 per cent wholesale rate increase earlier this summer sought by the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.

Part of that wholesale increase, passed on to Michigan Power, resulted in Michigan Power's request for its rate increase.

"We desperately need someone to advocate the public's point of view in this case," Mrs. Almasi said. "That's why I am urging Attorney General Kelley to intervene."

Eau Claire Board OKs Employee Pacts

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire school board last night ratified 1976-77 school year contracts with two school employee groups, the custodians and bus drivers, and clerical personnel.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Little Change In Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were little changed again today in light trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction at the outset. Gainers and losers ran about even in the overall count of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said the market was simply marking time, waiting for some news development to give it a push.

The most likely candidate in the immediate future was the government's report on wholesale price trends for July, due to be issued on Thursday.

Today's early volume leaders included Sony, unchanged at 9 1/2 in a 15,000-share block trade, and Standard Oil of California, up 1/8 at 38.

On Monday the Dow Jones Industrial average dropped 2.46 to 983.54 in trading shortened by an hour at several major exchanges because of the stormy weather in the Northeast.

Most of the Dow's loss stemmed from ex-dividends, or dividend-payment adjustments, in the prices of six stocks in the average.

Losers held a 4-3 edge on gainers among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index lost .15 to 55.31.

Big Board volume for the five-hour session came to 11.70 million shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .18 at 103.23.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

EDUCATION COSTS

As college costs continue to soar not only at private institutions but also at state and city-funded institutions too, record millions of students will be compelled to seek other sources than their parents' pocketbooks for adequate tuition money.

But how will the outside help your child gets affect your tax bill if you are the student's parents? As a starter, let's assume that your daughter, Loretta, has won a SCHOLARSHIP. This offers the best break both for the student and the parents, for in addition to giving Loretta the money she needs for college, a scholarship gives you these two special tax breaks:

(1) The money is tax-free to your daughter;

(2) You still can get the $750 dependency deduction, a tax credit, and medical deductions for her, no matter how big the scholarship award is.

You get the deductions and the credit, of course, only if you provide more than half of Loretta's support. But that can be less of an obstacle than you think, as Prentice-Hall points out, because the tax law says that a scholarship does not count toward your daughter's support.

For instance, say it will cost $6,600 to keep Loretta in college this year. You pay $3,200 of that amount and a $3,400 scholarship takes care of the rest. Result: Loretta is still your dependent for tax purposes. Since the $3,400 of scholarship money does not enter into the picture here, you, in effect, are providing all of her support: $3,200 out of a total of $3,200.

But since there aren't enough scholarships for all who need them, say Loretta takes an alternate way:

STUDENT LOAN. These loans also offer advantages for you. You aren't personally obligated under the loan, and your child gets a good training in financial responsibility.

From a tax viewpoint, however, there is one disadvantage to a student loan. When your child gets the loan, the money it provides is counted as support for dependency purposes. Take the same facts as in the earlier example, with one exception: instead of receiving a scholarship, Loretta borrows $3,400.

Result: you lose the deductions and credit for her. By borrowing the money, Loretta is providing $3,400 toward her own support, and that's more than the $3,200 you contribute.

You're still ahead; that $3,400 of tuition money is not coming out of your pocket. But you can handle this much more wisely if you can put in enough extra cash so that your contribution provides more than half of Loretta's support.

In this example, Prentice-Hall stresses, it means that — merely by putting up an extra $201 — you would nail down a dependency deduction of $750 plus the tax credit plus a possible medical deduction as well.

You do not necessarily lose your child as a dependent if he or she takes out a student loan. You well may pay more of her actual expenses than she does. But even if you don't and it appears you haven't met the more-than-half support test, you still may be entitled to that extra $750 deduction.

The explanation lies in the "fair rental value" of her lodging whenever she's home during the year, for that counts toward her support. Her college year may be only seven months long. The cost of boarding her at home for the other five months, plus what you spend on her, may put you over the half-of-support mark.

QUESTION: How do you measure the "fair rental value" of the room and board you provide for your child?

ANSWER: The Internal Revenue Service says that's the "amount you could reasonably expect to receive from a stranger for the same type of lodging."

You still have 143 days left in 1976 in which to study every tax-saving angle involved in education expenses for your child during this era of increasingly intolerable school costs. Don't penalize yourself by your own laziness or ignorance. And the tax-savings angles in today's column are just a few of many.

Asks Aid In Rate Hearing

EDWARDSBURG — Dixie Almasi, the Democratic nominee for state representative from the 42nd district, has said she will ask Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley to intervene in the Michigan Power Co. rate increase request.

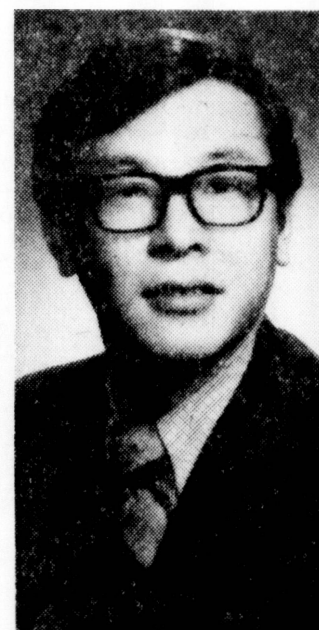

Michigan Power has filed an application with the Public Service commission to increase its electric bills by 55.14 per cent.

"We're facing a tremendous surcharge on our electric bills and we need the attorney general's help to fight it," the Edwardsburg housewife said. She charged that the Michigan Public Service commission would not adequately represent consumers during rate increase hearings.

She claimed the commission had failed to effectively argue against a 115.08 per cent wholesale rate increase earlier this summer sought by the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.

Part of that wholesale increase, passed on to Michigan Power, resulted in Michigan Power's request for its rate increase.

"We desperately need someone to advocate the public's point of view in this case," Mrs. Almasi said. "That's why I am urging Attorney General Kelley to intervene."

JOINS WELDUN: Keiichi J. K. Nagano, 35, has been hired by Weldun, Inc., Bridgman, as a liaison engineer. His new assignment will include set-up and service of Weldun-built machines in U.S. and Japan. BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — A 54-year-old woman has filed a $7.25 million lawsuit against a drug manufacturing company, charging that she developed uterine cancer after taking a hormone the company produced.

The suit filed Monday against Ayerst Laboratories of New York City by Thelma Abel, of Birmingham, is one of the first to follow scientific studies that found a substantial cancer risk increase among women who took the hormone, estrogen, to relieve symptoms of menopause.

Eau Claire Board OKs Employee Pacts

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire school board last night ratified 1976-77 school year contracts with two school employee groups, the custodians and bus drivers, and clerical personnel.

According to Dr. William Horie, superintendent, clerical office workers have already ratified the agreement, and custodians and bus drivers, AFL-CIO, Local 574, Operating Engineers, will vote on their contract next week.

Dr. Horie said this is the first time the clerical employees, Michigan Association of Educational Office Personnel have had a contract. Migrants Demand Hearings

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Two migrant workers were arraigned in Van Buren Seventh district court yesterday on charges stemming from the alleged rape of two Benton Heights women.

Demanding preliminary examination on one count each of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and aiding and abetting criminal sexual conduct were Gabriel E. Gonzalez, 20, Donna, Tex., and Bardoimiano C. Busas, 23, Houston, Tex.

Gonzalez was ordered held on $50,000 bond and Busas on $25,000 bond pending hearings on Aug. 17.

State police at Paw Paw said the two women, ages 16 and 28, were forced into a car in Benton Heights early Saturday morning and driven to a spot on Red Arrow highway near CR-481 in Lawrence township. After they had been assaulted, the women told police they jumped out of the car and flagged down a passing motorist.

The motorist took the women to the Hartford police station, where a description of the car was broadcast. Troopers said Lawrence Police Chief Dale Grubler and Patrolman John Beam located a car matching the vehicle parked at a restaurant just off I-94 near Lawrence and took the two occupants into custody.

Both women were treated for bruises and released at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw.

In other cases, Richard Garcia, 21, route 2, Third street, Lawton, and Juan S. Torres, 22, route 1, M-40, Lawton, were released on their own recognizance after demanding preliminary examination on charges of carrying a concealed weapon. Hearings were scheduled for Aug. 17.

Troopers said the pair were arrested after the officers had stopped to investigate a car parked along Red Arrow highway near Butcher road in Lawrence township Saturday night.

A .38-caliber revolver, .30-caliber carbine, and six-inch hunting knife were found during a search of the vehicle, police said.

Migrants Demand Hearings

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Two migrant workers were arraigned in Van Buren Seventh district court yesterday on charges stemming from the alleged rape of two Benton Heights women.

Demanding preliminary examination on one count each of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and aiding and abetting criminal sexual conduct were Candido E. Gonzalez, 20, Donna, Tex., and Bardoniano C. Bustos, 23, Houston, Tex.

Gonzalez was ordered held on $35,000 bond and Bustos on $25,000 bond pending hearings on Aug. 17.

State police at Paw Paw said the two women, ages 16 and 29, were forced into a car in Benton Heights early Saturday morning and driven to a spot on Red Arrow highway near CR-681 in Lawrence township. After they had been assaulted, the women told police they jumped out of the car and flagged down a passing motorist.

The motorist took the women to the Hartford police station, where a description of the car was broadcast. Troopers said Lawrence Police Chief Dale Gribler and Patrolman John Beam located a car matching the vehicle parked at a restaurant just off I-94 near Lawrence and took the two occupants into custody.

Both women were treated for bruises and released at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw.

In other cases, Richard Garcia, 21, route 2, Third street, Lawton, and Juan S. Torres, 22, route 1, M-40, Lawton, were released on their own recognizance after demanding preliminary examination on charges of carrying a concealed weapon. Hearings were scheduled for Aug. 17.

Troopers said the pair were arrested after the officers had stopped to investigate a car parked along Red Arrow highway near Butcher road in Lawrence township Saturday night.

A .38-caliber revolver, .30-caliber carbine, and six-inch hunting knife were found during a search of the vehicle, police said.

WINERY OFFERS TOURS: Fenn Valley vineyards, southwest Michigan's newest winery, is offering tours and wine samples daily. It is located west of Fennville, on M-89, near 62nd street intersection.

Winery Near Fennville Offering Guided Tours

FENNVILLE — Fern Valley Vineyards, the newest winery in Southwestern Michigan, is offering guided tours for visitors. Tours are available from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The winery is located off the Fenn-ville exit of US-31, one mile from the intersection of M-89 and 62nd street.

Free samples of the wine are also provided on the tour.

The winery site is on 230 acres four miles east of Lake Michigan. It began in 1973 according to William Welsh, the owner.

Welsh said the winery currently produces 25,000 gallons a year and expects an eventual full scale production of 100,000 gallons by 1979.

The winery also offers a complete line of home wine maker's supplies including fresh cherry, blueberry, pear, grape and plum juice in season, Welsh added.

House Panel Hits Inaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a House foreign relations panel are critical of the Justice Department's failure to prosecute anyone for recruiting U.S. mercenaries to fight in Africa.

Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., chairman of the House International Relations subcommittee on investigations, told a Justice Department official on Monday that despite a year's investigation of allegations about recruitment of mercenaries "you haven't done anything."

Tax Kills Small Airports

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Don Shoebright has had it with the airport business.

Even though he built his small Salem Airport business single-handed and even though he thought it would give him a satisfying life until retirement, he wants out.

Shoebright, 43, is threatened by the same things that are hurting two other airports near his northeastern Washtenaw County facility: rising property taxes and urban sprawl.

The 83-acre Salem Airport operated in the red from 1968 until a couple of years ago, Shoebright said, when he began making a profit.

Then the financial blows began to hit — an increase in the airport's property tax assessment from $22,000 in 1975 to a whopping $82,800 this year and Michigan's new single business tax, which levies 2.7 per cent on his gross profits.

Small airport owners like Shoebright complain bitterly that they get no help from the government and are forced to pay higher and higher taxes, while municipally owned airports receive state and federal subsidies and are tax-exempt.

Ward Mayrand, deputy director of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, said his office "is very concerned that they (private owners) won't be able to continue." But Mayrand added he doesn't see any quick way out of the financial squeeze.

Meanwhile, despite a state airport master plan calling for "satellite" fields to act as auxiliaries for major metropolitan fields like Detroit Metro, no one is building new fields to replace the private ones which are vanishing.

Mayrand lays part of the blame for the problem to local communities which he says don't realize the economic value of small, nearby airfields.

Charles Spicer, manager of Westland's National Airport, says state bureaucrats' interpretation of airport laws is unfair and amounts to persecution of private airports.

Spicer points to Public Act 183, passed in 1966, which he said was enacted "to save the little airports," by exempting the "landing area" from property taxes. He says landing areas were originally defined to include a 11 land in airport boundaries except for buildings, parking areas and service ramps.

But, Spicer said, tax assessors now interpret the law as exempting only the actual runways and taxiways.

Spicer's airport is for sale. "There's no way we can stay here, maintain an airport and pay the taxes we have to pay on the money we bring in," he said.

House Panel Hits Inaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a House foreign relations panel are critical of the Justice Department's failure to prosecute anyone for recruiting U.S. mercenaries to fight in Africa.

Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., chairman of the House International Relations subcommittee on investigations, told a Justice Department official on Monday that despite a year's investigation of allegations about recruitment of mercenaries "you haven't done anything."

Tax Kills Small Airports

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Shoebridge has had it with the airport business.

Even though he built his small Salem Airport business single-handed and even though he thought it would give him a satisfying life until retirement, he wants out.

Shoebridge, 43, is threatened by the same things that are hurting two other airports near his northeastern Washtenaw County facility: rising property taxes and urban sprawl.

The 93-acre Salem Airport operated in the red from 1968 until a couple of years ago, Shoebridge said, when he began making a profit.

Then the financial blows began to hit — an increase in the airport's property-tax assessment from $22,900 in 1975 to a whopping $82,800 this year and Michigan's new single business tax, which levies 2.7 per cent on his gross profits.

Small airport owners like Shoebridge complain bitterly that they get no help from the government and are forced to pay higher and higher taxes, while municipally owned airports receive state and federal subsidies and are tax-exempt.

Ward Mayrand, deputy director of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, said his office "is very concerned that they (private owners) won't be able to continue." But Mayrand ad-
